Newton Hospital Holds Annual Meeting—E. J. Frost and Other Officers Re-elected

Mayor Weeks Talks on New Problems of Municipal Government—Refers to Dependence Trend

The annual dinner meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Hospital was held at the hospital, Tuesday evening, January 30. Among those present were members of the medical and surgical staffs, trustees, heads of departments and invited guests. Mayor Weeks was the guest of honor.

The Mayor's address was heard with keenest interest. He set forth some of the problems of municipal government placing special emphasis on the deplorable but growing dependence which cities, towns and state governments, and even individuals themselves, were placing upon the Federal Government.

The following trustees were elected for a term of five years expiring January, 1939:

S. M. Bolster, Mrs. Allston Burr, Grosvenor Calkins, W. F. Chase, A. L. Harwood, Jr., W. H. Hill, Miss C. A. Lovett, A. W. Raynor, J. L. Richards, F. L. Richardson, Mrs. E. P. Saltonstall, F. H. Stuart.

Officers elected were: President, Edward J. Frost; Vice-Presidents, W. F. Chase, A. R. Weed; Treasurer, W. J. Spaulding; Clerk, W. H. Rice.

Standing committees elected were: For members of the Executive Committee: W. F. Chase, H. M. Cole, Miss Marguerite Flanders, J. A. Paine, J. H. Sellman, W. E. Stanwood, Mrs. V. B. Swett, R. A. Whidden.

For members of the Finance Committee: A. C. Burnett, G. Calkins, Louis Harvey, W. H. Hill, Maynard Hutchinson, H. E. Locke, D. D. McKay, A. W. Raynor, W. H. Rice, F. A. Schirmer.

For members of the Investment Committee: H. M. Biscoe, W. E. Jones, F. L. Richardson.

For members of the Auditing Committee: C. P. Hutchins, J. H. Sellman.

The hospital staff has nominated for trustee doctors H. F. Keever, E. D. Leonard.

Mr. Herbert M. Cole reported for the executive committee in part as follows:

The past year marks the completion of the fourth full year in our new building. The well-known depression has not passed us by, the result being that 1933 showed the smallest gross income of the four years, by far the lowest operating cost and the smallest operating deficit. After endowment income, this loss was but a trifle over $40,000, a figure which reflects efficient management and a watchful eye over every item of expense.

I will give you just a few operating figures. Our daily average was 152.4 patients against 152.8 in the previous year, a decrease of 4/10 of a patient.

Our gross income was $259,000, a drop of $32,000. Our per capita cost was $5.71 per day, and the per capita loss was $1.09. In other words, every patient who enters the portals of this institution puts us in the hole by something over $1.00 for every day he, she or it stays with us. Do not consider this a sombre exhibit. Compare our results with those of any other hospital of equal size and equipment and we shall not have to apologize for a single item.

A very disturbing development, however, is the reduction in our private patients which has shown a persistent decrease ever since 1930. This of course is practically our only profitable department. Ward business involving a heavy loss, at our low rate of $2.50 a day, has shown a corresponding increase, and in the year just closed was the largest in the history of the hospital. Laboratory tests numbered 39,282, a new high record; x-ray tests 3,585; visits to the out-patient department with its 13 clinics numbered 14,595, another new high mark.

The stress of hard times is reflected in the heavy amount of free work amounting to $33,319, much the largest figure in our history.

The baby business was not quite so good, 710 against 715 last year and 744 in 1931; our average, however, was almost 2 a day.

So well have we collected our bills that our accounts receivable at the year-end amounted to only $14,137, again a decrease of over $11,000 from the previous year-end.

A man who has played a conspicuous part in our lower operating costs is our chief engineer, Mr. Howard, who has just completed 30 years service for this institution. We are indeed fortunate to have such a loyal and efficient superintendent of our buildings and mechanical equipment, a man whose common sense and at the same time skillful solution of our electrical and heating problems has saved us thousands of dollars. I cite but one instance. Early in 1932 we installed at his suggestion a new generator in our boiler house at a cost of $2500. Since that time our own plant has produced all the electric current needed, including elevator service, at a saving in less than two years, compared with the former cost of electric current, of over $10,000.

During the past year, we have received from the Community Chest $28,865 towards meeting our operating deficit. We are happy to state that by reason of the utmost economy, including a 14 per cent in wages, the necessity of which we keenly regret, we did not call upon the Chest for aid that was allocated to us. Our relations with the Chest have been most cordial, and its budget committee has a clear understanding of our problems and have evidenced a desire to co-operate in every way.

No review of the past year would be complete without reference to the loss which we have suffered in the death in November last of our devoted friend, George L. West, who had been identified with the hospital for 37 years. Appropriate resolutions, expressing but feebly, however, our affection for him have been adopted by the Trustees and will be placed in the permanent archives of this institution.

This hospital has had no more enthusiastic or devoted worker than Mrs. Saltonstall who, because of the arbitrary time limit for service on the Executive Committee, is compelled to relinquish her most valuable services as its secretary. Only once during the 4 years she has served us in this capacity has she failed to be present to record the deliberation of that committee and to lend to its discussions suggestions of sound and practical value. As trustee Mrs. Saltonstall has served us for 30 years.

I would be neglecting an opportunity if I were to close this report without a well-deserved tribute to our superintendent. Several years ago, my theory rather than fact dominated my opinion, I had the notion that such were the problems of hospital administration that only a man with the superior wisdom of the male could be entrusted with their solution. I have apologized to myself and now to you for such heresy. Miss Allen has given abundant proof of her capacity to run this institution. Many perplexing situations demand her attention, involving frequent contact with those prone to criticize or find fault, sometimes with, and many times without, adequate justification. She is equal to every occasion, and I am happy to pay tribute to her tact, her ability, and her dignified but kindly personality.

By reason of the time limit of service, we are to lose from the Executive Committee, in addition to Mrs. Saltonstall and Mr. James L. Richards, Mr. Charles Gordon who has resigned. The Trustees have today elected to succeed them Miss Marguerite Flanders and Messrs. W. F. Chase and John A. Paine. We are most fortunate in securing their ascent to share with us the executive management.

Appeals To State Liquor Commission

Fails To Get License For Store At Newton Corner

Algonquin rd., Chestnut Hill, has been officially mentioned in connection with three phases of the granting of liquor licenses in Newton during the past several months. When the liquor commission was established in Newton last year, Bernard L. Gorkin, of 57 Algonquin rd., was appointed a member of this commission and made its secretary. When Newton voted to grant liquor licenses in December, one of the first package store licenses was granted to a corporation composed of members of the family of Fred S. Moore, 72 Algonquin rd. A few days ago Irving H. Burrows of 80 Algonquin rd., appealed to the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission because he has not been granted a license to conduct a package store to sell alcoholic liquors at 306 Centre st., Newton Corner. Burrows, who has been in the real estate business, filed an application with the Newton License Commission on December 19 and the commission has taken no action on this application. Under the State liquor control law, if a local license board takes no action within 30 days of the time of filing an application, the applicant has a right to appeal to the State Commission.

According to the State liquor control law, a license can be granted in a city to sell high content liquor in packages for each 5000 of population. As Newton has nearly 70,000 population, this city is entitled to 14 package store licenses for the sale of distilled liquors. To date only six package store licenses have been granted. They have been granted to the following—Newton Corner Wine Store, 315 Centre st., Newton Corner; Village Beverage Shop, 310 Walnut st., Newtonville; Peter J. Guzzi, 1295 Washington st., West Newton; Angelo Annicelli, 350 Watertown st., Nonantum; Highland Beverage Store, Woodward st., Newton Highlands; Beacon Wine Company, 757A Beacon st., Newton Centre.

The Newton Corner Wine Shop is incorporated, and the names of the incorporators are listed as Fred S. Moore, Fred S. Moore, Jr., and Mary F. Moore of 72 Algonquin rd., Chestnut Hill. The Village Beverage Shop is incorporated and the member of the corporation whose name is filed on the license application is William J. Duffy of Waltham st., West Newton. The Highland Wine Store is owned by Dennis F. Flanagan of Newton Highlands. The Beacon Wine Shop is also incorporated, and Edwin H. Cooper of Glastonbury Oval, Waban, is the president of the corporation.

While about thirty applications for package good stores for the sale of all alcoholic beverages have been filed to date with the Newton License Commission, only the six specified have been granted so far. The Commission has not stated whether or not it intends to limit this type of license to one in each village of Newton, irrespective of the size of the village.

The Commission held a meeting on Wednesday night and in addition to granting the license to the Beacon Wine Shop, also granted licenses to the following—Newton Lunch, 267 Washington st., Newton; and Samuel Pass, 349 Watertown st., Nonantum; licenses to dispense wine and beer at common victuallers—J. Mignano, 1405 Washington st., West Newton; license to sell beer and wine in packages—A. Heene was granted last Saturday to Alice Oshersaw to dispense all alcoholic beverages as a common victualler at the corner of Washington and Peabody sts., Newton. A permit to have music at the locus, 321 Washington st., was recently granted by the Board of Aldermen, as well as a change of location from 307 Washington st., where Miss Oshersaw formerly conducted a lunch room.

Newton Fireman Asks for Pension

Lieut. A. Lawrence Russell of Engine 3, Newton Fire Department, has applied for retirement on a pension; the retirement to take effect on March 1. He resides at 22 Pelham street. He is 57 years of age, and has been a member of the department for 34 years. He asks for retirement because he is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and an Act of the Massachusetts Legislature, passed in 1931, authorizes such veterans to request pensions after they have been in the employ of a town or city for over 30 years. Russell's application has been approved by Chief Randlett and Mayor Weeks and will be presented to the Aldermen for approval at the meeting on Monday night.

To Honor Memory Of Fr. Farrell

Newton Post, American Legion, and Eugene Daley Post, V. F. W., will participate in a solemn high mass to be celebrated at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, on February 22nd. This mass will be dedicated to the late Rev. William J. Farrell, former chaplain of Newton Post, A. L., who died a year ago. Following the mass the organizations will parade to Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, and place a wreath on the grave of Fr. Farrell.

GAS LEAK MENACES TWO FAMILIES AT NEWTONVILLE

Members of two families residing in the house at 725 Watertown st., Newtonville, were overcome by gas fumes early Tuesday morning when fumes from a broken gas main on Watertown st. seeped into the building. Joseph Arata, whose family resides on the first floor of the house, awakened to find his apartment filled with gas fumes and his wife and three children unconscious. He rushed to a neighbor's house and telephoned for Dr. D. G. Nutter. The gas company was also notified. Mrs. Arata and her children were carried out of the house and revived by Dr. Nutter. They were then taken to a relative's home at Newton Upper Falls. Mrs. Timothy Quinn, who resides on the second floor of the house, was also overcome by the gas fumes.

The leak in the gas main was located by employees of the gas company and the defect repaired.

Newton Post, A.L., Forming Jr. Organization in Newton

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion is organizing a squadron of its sons. This organization, which has been sponsored by the National organization of the Legion, has grown rapidly the past few months. December 1st of last year 132 squadrons throughout the country had received charters.

Any boy who is the son, adopted son or stepson of a member of the American Legion is eligible for membership. Also any of the above descendants of any male or female veteran who died in service during the World War or subsequent to honorable discharge from such service. There is no age limit.

Commander Russell Viles of Newton Post has appointed Past Commander R. John Henderson, Chairman of the organization committee for the squadron, assisted by J. Sherman Irving.

It is planned that the first meeting of the squadron, for the purpose of organization, will be held at Memorial Building, Newton Centre, on the evening of February 9th at 7:30 p. m.

Each State headquarters in this organization, is known as detachment headquarters and each post group is a squadron. Each squadron will have its own officers and many activities are planned for the boys. Although enrollments have only been taken in Newton since Jan. 1, already more than 50 boys are members. It is planned that all boys who enroll and pay fifty cents for the first year's membership dues before the installation meeting will be regarded as charter members of Newton squadron.

Any boy whose father, or mother, is a World War veteran (and a member of the American Legion) and who wishes to join the squadron can secure blanks and information by calling either Comdr. Henderson, Centro Newton 0771-R, or Comdr. Irving, West Newton 1123-J.

Also all boys who are members are requested to remember the date of the organization meeting, Feb. 9, 1934 at 7:30 p. m. and make it a point to be present.

Big Truck Crashes Through Fence

A seven-ton coal truck owned by the Massachusetts Wharf Coal Company, and operated by John Good of 7 Parker st., Brighton, swerved across the sidewalk on Washington st., west of Walnut Park, Newton, about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, crashed through the flimsy iron fence and was stopped from landing on the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad, only because it hit the first of two telegraph poles standing side by side on the steep embankment above the tracks. The pole hit by the big truck was snapped in two, but the second pole withstood the impact and prevented what might have been a fatal accident.

The accident was caused when Good's horse became numb from the cold and he lost control of the big vehicle. With him on the front seat were two other employees of the coal company—Sabino Luonto of 52 Cooper st., Boston, and John McCusker of Hampshire st., Roxbury. All three men escaped serious injuries, but were severely cut and bruised. They were taken in the police ambulance to the Newton Hospital and treated for their injuries. About 150 feet of fence was destroyed by the truck smashing through. The 20th Century Express, one of the Albany's de luxe trains, was due to pass on Track 1 shortly after the truck went through the fence, but as a matter of precaution it was crossed over on the outbound local track at Allston.

Newton Elks Aid Warm Springs Fund

Newton Lodge of Elks conducted an entertainment at Elks Hall, Newton, on Tuesday night which included dancing and vaudeville acts. The affair was in charge of Hugh Boyd. The proceeds were donated to the Warm Springs Foundation at Georgia, and the affair was conducted in conjunction with the Roosevelt Birthday Celebration.

Dr. Griggs Again Will Give Read Fund Lectures

Will Talk on "Culture Cities and Civilization"

Responding to popular demand for a return engagement, Dr. Edward Howard Griggs has accepted the request of the trustees to deliver the Read Fund free lectures. His topic this year will be "Culture Cities and Their Gift to Civilization." The series comprises six lectures to be given on consecutive Friday evenings beginning Feb. 16 at the Underwood School Auditorium on Mt. Vernon street, Newton. The doors will open at 7:30 o'clock and the speaking will commence promptly at eight. Since the popularity of Dr. Griggs assures capacity audiences, those who desire good seats should arrive early.

The Read Fund lectures are given under a trust fund established through the will of Charles A. Read, a native of Salem, Mr. Read spent most of his life in this city. The income from a $40,000 trust fund which he left to the City of Newton is devoted to the lectures, to the purchase of books for the Newton Free Library, and to an annual picnic for the children of the city. A small remainder is divided each year among poor Newton widows.

The trustees of the Fund are Charles H. Coyne, William T. Foster and Thomas Fox. An announcement containing descriptive material about the lectures is available at the Newton Library.

The lectures of the current series have been found unusually well adapted to the times. Recently given in Brooklyn, N. Y., and also at Lawrence, Mass., under the auspices of the White Fund, the course has attracted large audiences and drawn much favorable criticism. The pressure of economic adjustment, the exacting cares of a rapidly changing business world, the financial worries—all these are common burdens from which most people would like to escape. The series "Culture Cities and Their Gift to Civilization" is admirably suited to this purpose. An expedition into the past with Dr. Griggs as the guide promises to uncover the roots of our customs, speech, literature and music in the fertile soil of the Old World cities—Athens, Naples, Rome, Ravenna, Venice and Florence.

Greece and Italy have always been the Holyland to the pilgrim of culture. In both, a wealth of natural beauty is crowned by an unrivaled range of human association. In all that concerns the cultural life of mankind. Equally with the Greek cities, the Italian communities, because of the racial character and the peculiar aspects of history, developed an intense individuality, giving each city a unique personal charm. To interpret, as great personalities, these six ancient cities and show their permanent gift to human culture is the aim of this course.

Supreme is the influence of Athens on the art and intellect of mankind. Rising from her ashes after her glories in the Persian wars, achieving the leadership of an empire and producing the marvels of the Periclean age, in her decline still for centuries the school of Hellas and the world, her attainment in art is the despair of subsequent ages.

Naples is the capital of romantic southern Italy, where the passions of men are as close to the surface of civilization as the lava of Vesuvius is to the air of the outer world. That southland, with Sicily, became more Greek than Hellas, and passed on the Greek idea of art and culture to the later world.

Rome, is indeed, the eternal capital. With an unequalled instinct for social organization, she advanced, through centuries of struggle, to a mastery of the known world, passing inevitably from Republican to Empire. In the lurid sunset and chaotic night that followed her greatness, there ensued the most colossal devastation the world has known.

Slowly from the ruins emerged medieval Rome, a city of priests and pilgrims, of fortresses and churches, seat of the Papal power that centered Christendom. After a brief period of temporal glory in the Renaissance, again decline came. Eternal city nevertheless she is, resuming vigor as the capital of a united Italy. With the present Dictator's dream of recovering the leadership of the mighty past, the future alone can tell what the fourth destiny of Rome may be.

Ravenna became the refuge of the late emperors in the lurid sunset of Roman greatness and the capital of the kingdom of Theodoric, who dreamed of uniting the Roman culture with the new Christian faith. Ravenna, the light that failed, presents clearly, in her mosaic-clad temples, an otherwise sealed chapter of human history.

Venice broods apart, unique, not only in relation to Italy, but to all other cities in the world. Born of forces that can never recur again; with no ordinary civic noises to break her spell; her streets the silent canals; the freight carried in still-moving barges, and gondolas the vehicles for rich and poor alike; only the weird cry of the gondolier or some snatch of revelers' night song to break the stillness; her palaces frescoed outside and inside with a glory of color and a wealth of beautiful forms. Venice is a city of golden dreams, called as by some enchanter's wand from the wonderland of the imagination, to float like an exotic water-lily on the blue bosom of the sea that gave her birth. In her incomparable beauty, mingling (Continued on Page 6)

CWA Workers Adding Large Areas To Newton Playgrounds and Parks

Development of New Playgrounds Will Be of Great Benefit to City

A large percentage of the funds allocated to Newton by the CWA are being used in developing playgrounds in various parts of this city. Through these grants of money from the Federal Government many acres of playground areas will be available to Newton children in the near future. The playground and park sites being developed in connection with CWA activities include: Edmonds Park at Newton, Cold Spring Playground, Newton Highlands, Auburndale Playground, Thompsonville Playground, Newton Centre, Wellington Playground, West Newton, Levi Warren School Playground. It is expected that improvements and developments will also be made at Allison Playground, Nonantum and the playground at the Weeks School.

At Edmonds Park 168 men have been employed, at Auburndale playground, 127; Cold Spring playground, 150; at Thompsonville, 128. Much of the work being done in connection with playground areas is on what is technically known as "park playgrounds." In describing this work, Ernest Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds, says:

"In most of the projects undertaken by the Playground Department, development of what is technically known as 'park playgrounds' is being undertaken. The most notable project is the improvement made in Edmonds Park, a hilly tract of land of about 33 acres. This park is ideally adapted for an arboretum and for a bird sanctuary and with the proper layout of walks and small expenditures for equipment, may serve in the future as a winter resort with skiing, tobogganing, etc. The present projects are relocating Blake street where it belongs since it formerly ran across private property. Paths will be laid out, a new storm sewer system is being installed, a pond is being created, also a sunken garden with fountains, etc. Considerable rustic stone walls and gates have already been constructed and probably will finally circle the whole park. When finally completed and in years to come this park will be of immense value to the City of Newton both for educational as well as for recreational purposes."

"Another large project is the filling of the enormous swamp in what is known as the Cold Spring region. A few of the smaller hills are being raised and dumped into the swamp. The loam pockets existing throughout this region will furnish probably most of the loam for covering of the gravel fill. Some day this 15 acre swamp will be a vast green field. The largest hill, known as Pigeon Hill, will probably serve the future generations of Newton as another hill for tobogganing, sliding, etc. When complete this playground will not only have done away with an ugly swamp and a mosquito breeding hole but it will be one of the most lovely playgrounds in the country. Its area is about 21½ acres."

"The same may be said about the 14 acres of hilly land acquired in Thompsonville at the foot of Institution Hill. The picturesqueness and play formations, natural divisions for play acquired for children, for boys and for girls, cannot be surpassed and when completed will not only be useful for the neighborhood but will also furnish another beauty spot in Newton."

"Incidentally the Playground Department is using this opportunity for improving the athletic fields of the Junior High Schools. It also is doing away with the ugly conditions of about 4 acres of land in what is known as the Auburndale Park. This stretch between Commonwealth avenue and Waltham was, years ago, turned over to the Metropolitan District Commission for care and maintenance and supervision. Some 15 years ago when it became necessary to have a playground and bathing facilities for Auburndale part of this land was returned to the City of Newton by the Metropolitan District Commission for playground purposes. At the same time the 4 acres mentioned above were returned to the City of Newton but this part was never used as a playground but at the time of the construction of the new water mains through Auburndale, West Newton and Newton Corner, it was used as a dump. This material is now being spread and another swamp is being eliminated. It will soon be surfaced with loam in order to give a park effect to this end. It is hoped that sometime the whole of this area will be turned back to the City of Newton since it offers, on account of its bathing beach and its fine coves and large trees an excellent picnic ground. Many people already avail themselves, in the summer, of these grounds for picnic purposes."

At the playground of the Warren Junior High School the running track is being raised and drained and the embankment around the field improved. The Wellington Playground off Henshaw place in the northeast section of West Newton is a small area of about an acre and a half donated to the city a few years ago as a neighborhood playground. It is expected that two tennis courts will be built there and a play space for small children developed. If the funds from the CWA permit the work being performed, it is planned to do some grading at Allison Park off California street, Nonantum. It is the desire of the Playground Commission to build a baseball field at Allison Park and thus permit the conversion of Victory Field into a playground for small children. It is also planned to request the city to acquire land so that Victory Field and Allison Park may at some future date be connected by a strip of city owned land.

At a meeting of the Playground Commission on Tuesday night, this body voted to go on record as favoring a municipal golf course in Newton. The Commission also discussed submitting a request to the Mayor to develop the property owned by the city off Lowell avenue, Newtonville for playground and other purposes. This property is the site of the abandoned rock quarry of the Street Department, known a generation ago as the Murray street ledge. This property contains about 13 acres and rises precipitously from Lowell avenue towards Forest avenue. At its upper portion is a fairly level tract of about 3 acres which could be developed into a neighborhood playground. The part of the property where the old quarry was located has been deemed by visiting playground experts as excellently adapted for conversion into a natural amphitheatre. Between this quarry and Lowell avenue is a strip of land which can easily be developed into a playground for small children.

Another site in the city which has been suggested for playground and park purposes is a parcel of land containing about 12 acres and located between Grove street, Auburndale, and the Woodland Golf Club property. This land contains small hills which could be razed to fill in low places on the site.

Kiwanis Club

On Tuesday evening, January 30, Newton Kiwanis was host to neighboring Kiwanis Clubs at a testimonial held in honor of Immediate Past Lieut. Gov. Everett W. Ireland, Fifth Division, Kiwanis International, who is superintendent of the Somerville Schools.

The main dining-hall of the Charles River Country Club was well filled with considerably more than one hundred people.

President Jim Forbes of the Newton Club opened the business part of the meeting and thereafter turned the meeting over to James P. Gallagher, who, throughout his introduction of numerous club presidents and other dignitaries, enhanced his well-earned reputation as a master of any kind of ceremony.

Mr. Ireland was tendered numerous gifts which will be reminders of his excellent year of service in Kiwanis International.

Members of the hand had the chance to draw for the large poster of Edwin Franko Goldman which had been displayed in the school corridor.

The January 31st assembly was in the hands of one of the seventh grade dramatic clubs. A very delightful and amusing play was presented, "The King's Great Fool." The cast of characters included Curtis Drury, Jane Sholey, Donata Celluci, George Wheeler, Priscilla Manter, Eleanor Hartpence, Ruth Ward, Alice Current, Dorothy Proa, Helen Starbird, Francis Cook, June Nesbitt, Janet Burns, Molly Kealey, Barbara Walker, Natalie Burke, Jack Holter, Bob Hayes, Irma Rosenthal, Robert Browning.

A city wide campaign against "bumming" of rides is being aided in this school by a committee made up of one member from each ninth grade division. The chairman is Polly Hughes. Other members are Michael Belasante, James Jamison, Lawrence Chamberlain, Ralph Barisano, John Scofield and David Bevan. Plans are being formulated to make posters, to prepare articles on the subject for the newspapers, and to send speakers to the grade schools.

The representatives to the general committee of the city are Michael Belasante and James Jamison.

The ninth grade boys' varsity basketball team which played on January 30 against the high school junior varsity defeated its opponents 23-17.

Two weeks ago Mr. John L. Clark, the program director of WBZ, visited the F. A. Day broadcasting studio during a presentation of the radio club. Feeling that the club's work was of value, he invited the members to present a program from the WBZ studio this morning from 8:32 to 8:45.

The program included school news presented by Ruth Carter, local news by Polly Hughes, New England news by Theodora Klein, national news by Arthur Henderson, world news by Marcella Renard. Brief biographies of famous people born between February 1st and February 15th were given by Janet Mattson. There followed a book skit, introduced by Mary Fairfax, Bernard Ericson, author of the skit, played one of the parts with Arthur Henderson and Henry Hayes taking the other roles. Ruth Nally introduced the final number of the program, a letter from Denmark, written to Constance Brickett and read by her.

On Friday at 3:30 the men faculty will oppose the Weeks' faculty in a basketball game. Preliminaries of the ninth grade girls' class teams will precede the game.

Pesky Wins Heat

Carl Pescosolido, former Newton High sprinter now at Harvard, won his heat for the Crimson in the 50-yard dash trials at the K. of C. meet last Saturday. He failed to qualify in the semi-finals.

Newton Trade Wins

The Newton Trade School basketball team won a 29 to 19 victory over the Wellesley High five on Monday at Wellesley. At half time the score was tied at 12-11. Fournier led the Newton team with 11 points. Other Trade scorers were Grumble and Anese, forwards, 8 and 5 respectively, and Malkaisian, guard, 5.

Moles Are Carnivorous

Moles are carnivorous but occasionally eat some vegetable matter. Such rodents as field mice and pocket gophers that trespass in the runways of the moles are more responsible for the gnawing or hollowing out of mature bulbs and tubers.

Plants That Irritate Skin

There are some seventy native plants that produce chemical irritation of the skin. Among these are the nettle, primrose, cowhage, nasturtium, smartweed, oleander, sumac and others. But the poison ivy is the greatest offender, and produces an exclusively American disease.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON TRACK TEAM SCORES IN THREE EVENTS AT N.U. MEET

Newton scored in but three events at the annual Northeastern Interscholastic meet last Saturday at the Boston Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The meet was easily won by Malden High with 18 3-4 points. Watertown was in second place with 11 points and several other schools such as Lawrence, Medford, Brookline, Lynn English, Somerville and Haverhill all led Newton which tied Arlington High at 4 1-4 points in ninth place.

Newton's point winners were Allan Freeman with a second place in the 600 yard run and Tom Fitzgerald with a fourth in the 1000. The relay team tied the time made by Arlington High for a fourth of a point for each team as the third event.

The 600-yard run was held in two heats with the points being awarded on the basis of times. Freeman was pitted against Al Fiske of Watertown in the second heat and this pair made a great race of it. It was nip and tuck most of the way with Freeman in the lead on the last lap. Fiske made a great comeback to pass the Newton runner at the tape. Their time was faster than that of the previous track giving them first and second places.

Tommy Fitzgerald ran somewhat of a hard luck race in the third heat of the 1000-yard run points of which were also awarded on the basis of times of the individual runners. The Newton runner was left behind at the start but plugged steadily away until he was in a position to challenge Baird of Somerville, the pace-setter. Fitz swung into the lead on the second last lap but his strenuous efforts told on him on the gun-lap and Baird had enough to win the heat. Fitz's time was good enough for fourth.

The Newton relay quartet of Quigley, Griffin, Witte and Miller opposed Everett in the third from the last relay of the day. The Everett quartet won from the Newton four by three-fifths of a second. Newton's time, which equaled that also made by Arlington was just within the point division, splitting seventh and eighth places.

Bob Quigley was Newton's entrant in the 45-yard dash. He was seeded in the fifth heat which he won over semi-final of Boston English High. In the semi-final he was in the second heat with Noseworthy of Malden and Price. Both these runners were picked ahead of Quigley and Newton had no qualifying runner for the finals. Noseworthy equalled the record of 5 1-5 seconds in this semi-final and again when he won the final in which Price placed third.

Sanderson Sloane was Coach Enoch's entry in the hurdles and the Newton youth placed second in Plotkin of Brookline in the first heat. Sloane failed to qualify in the semi-finals. Newton's entries in the field events found the competition too keen.

NEWTON TRACK TEAM BEATS WATERTOWN IN DUAL MEET, 47-30

Newton high captured its first track meet of the season yesterday defeating Watertown in a dual affair at the Newton track 47 to 30. Newton's better balance and distribution of power brought the victory over the strong Watertown outfit whose individual performers carried it to second place in the Northeastern meet last Saturday. All but three of the nine events were won by Newton.

Watertown won three of the five first places in the running events but scored only six points in the field events.

Bob Quigley's efforts were a big factor in the Newton victory. Tom Kingsley, who finished second in the N. U. meet, got off to a poor start in the final of the 30-yard dash, was too short for him to overtake the flying Quigley. Sargent Moore of Newton took third.

Watertown came back strong in the hurdles sweeping the event for nine places.

Placed in the 300-yard run were awarded on times made in heats. Kingsley opposed John Connolly of Newton in the first heat and carried the Newton boy along to second place. Captain Louis Miller of Newton won the third heat for third best time.

The 600-yard run was another great race between Capt. Al Fiske of Watertown and Allan Freeman of Newton who battle for first and second places at Northeastern was one of the highlights of that meet. Again Fiske took Freeman's measure uncorking a great burst of speed on the last two laps to win by about 10 yards. Don Thurber of Watertown was third.

Tom Fitzgerald ran a nice race in the 1000-yard event tagging along behind his teammate, Walter Johnson, most of the way. Fitz sprinted the last two laps to win easily while Johnson battled off a bid by Ballentine of Watertown on a last lap effort for second place.

Warren Wittens won the high jump for Newton with a leap of 5 ft. 6 in. Fiske of Watertown and Jim Blair of Newton tied for second place.

Jesse Hale and Charles Conley tied for first place in the broad jump to give Newton eight points. MacKinnon of Watertown placed third.

Melvin Swig won the shotput for Newton with a toss of 46 ft. 8 in. with MacKinnon of Watertown taking second and Vic Haven of Newton third.

Newton also won the relay race in a thrilling struggle in which the home team led all the way but never by more than a stride or two. Quigley got off to a great start to hit the first bank ahead of Kingsley and Moore. On the final leg of the race Capt. Miller raced Capt. Fiske and although Fiske made a great bid the Newton runner had enough to hold him off.

NEWTON QUINTET LOSES TO BROOKLINE IN LAST MINUTE OF PLAY 29-30

A foul shot and a basket from the floor in the final minute of play gave Brookline High school a 30 to 29 victory over Newton High in a Suburban league basketball game at Newtonville last week, Friday afternoon. Bill Crowley was the Brookline hero who caged the winning three points. In the final seconds of play Newton had a series of shots at the Brookline basket but each shot missed fire by the smallest of margins.

The Newton team got off to a flying start piling up a comfortable lead. At half time the score read Newton 17, Brookline 11. The visitors closed up the gap in the third period and when the game went into the fourth period Newton had but a 22 to 20 margin.

Leading 29 to 27 and with but about a minute to play, Crowley was fouled and got a free shot which he made good. Right after the ensuing tip-off Crowley looped one in from almost mid-court to give the Wealthy Towners the edge.

The Newton seconds defeated Brookline seconds in the preliminary game, 28 to 17.

Tuesday night the Newton team defeated Lexington High at Lexington, 29 to 19.

The Newton team played five baskets from the floor to equalize the home team's efforts, the other Newton players scoring chances gave the winning margin.

The Newton second team also won, 30 to 15.

OUR LADY LOSES TO CATHEDRAL HIGH FIRST TIME IN THREE YEARS

For three full years Cathedral High of the South End of Boston has tried vainly to pin a defeat in basketball on the Our Lady High team of Newton on the local court but was unsuccessful until Tuesday afternoon when the visitors came in with a 21 to 17 victory to increase their lead in the Catholic league to two full games. Although losing by thirteen points the Newton team was right in the game. Unusual as it seems the regulation periods ended at a 28 to 28 deadlock and a three minute overtime session was arranged. Then the fun flew.

The visitors went wild to roll up thirteen points in one of the most hectic sessions imaginable.

At half time Our Lady high led 10 to 6 but plenty of scoring in the third session gave Cathedral a 21 to 12 lead. Our Lady high flashed for a while during the overtime session.

During the overtime session, left forward Billy Dundon scored 8 points. Dundon with 14 points, McManus with 12 and Martin with 13 led the scoring for the visitors. Four of the Our Lady players, O'Connor, McCarthy, Marino and Doherty, each counted six points. Collantano tallying three and Shields one.

On Union Swimming Team

John I. Argersinger of Waban, a junior at Union College, Schenectady, New York, returned to college last Monday after the mid-year vacation.

He has resumed practice with the varsity swimming team of which he is a member. The Garent natators have a dual meet with Franklin and Marshall tomorrow. Argersinger, who is on the Dean's scholastic list, also participates in other sports.

Run on Relays

Dick Jarrell of Newton ran second leg on the M. I. T. one-mile relay team at the Casey meet which won its race from Yale. Francis Tischer, former outdoor 440-yard schoolboy anchor on the Northeastern University relay team in the B event. The Huskies finished third. Gordon B. Wilkes of Newton Centre ran lead-off on the M. I. T. freshman mile relay team which placed third to Boston College and Northeastern yearly.

College and Northeastern ran the first leg for the Huntington relay team in the one-mile race for prep schools which the Huntington team won.

Gleason Injured

Francis Gleason, regular defence player on the Harvard hockey team, was injured last Saturday night in the game with Boston University which the Crimson won 3 to 2. Gleason suffered a badly cut ankle which necessitated attention at the Stillman Infirmary.

Owen to Coach Tech

Although George Owen, former Newton High and Harvard star athlete and later Boston Bruins pro hockey star, served as coach of the M. I. T. hockey team during the first half of the season it was only because of the fact that Coach Duplin was absent in Georgia. Duplin took over the Engineers for a few games but has found it necessary to give up the reins permanently and return to Georgia where he is employed. Owen has been appointed to the position.

Dyer Outstanding

Bradford Dyer of Auburndale is one of the outstanding athletes and student of Bridgton Academy, Maine. He is a graduate of Newton High and in the past two years at Bridgton has been an active participant in school activities. He has won two football letters, is a regular on the basketball team this winter having won his letter in this sport as a guard last year, and is captain-elect of baseball. He is also one of the most brilliant students at the school having been near the top of the honor roll consistently.

CANTABS ALMOST SURE OF HOCKEY TITLE BY TOPPING NEWTON 1-0

Last week Friday evening the Cambridge High and Latin School hockey teams practically clinched the 1934 Greater Boston Interscholastic League title by virtue of a 1 to 0 victory over the second place Newton High sextet. With two games left to play the Cantabs have a game and a half margin over Newton and Melrose which are tied for second place. Arlington is fourth a half game further behind. The Cambridge team needs to win but one of its two remaining contests to insure a victory. Should it be defeated in one game and held to a tie in the other the regular series of games might then find a tie existing should Newton or Melrose win both of their remaining contests.

The attendance at the four games last week Friday evening was the largest that has witnessed the school boy indoor games. The six thousand or more who took in the games saw some of the best games of the season. Naturally the Newton-Cambridge game created the greatest interest closely followed by the Melrose-Arlington game. This affair between the third and fourth place teams ended in a 2-2 tie. The games between the four teams in the second division provided a couple of upsets. The Belmont sextet, which has occupied the cellar berth, woke up to pin a 3 to 2 defeat on Rindge Tech and change places with the Rindge team and the sixth place Stoneham outfit shut out the fifth place Medford six, 2 to 0, to bring a shift between these two.

The Newton-Cambridge contest was full of brilliant hockey with the Newton team proving that is not an overrated aggregation as many were wont to think. Dr. Martin's sextet played brilliant play in the second period and drove down into Cantab territory time after time. The Cambridge defense of Anderson and Spartachino proved pretty stiff and when the Newton puck carriers did get by they found goalie Gomez right on his toes to turn aside every threatening shot.

Midway in the second period Gerry Desrosiers, the league's leading individual scorer, put over the game winning shot. He took a pass from "Cowboy" Crawley off to the right about thirty feet out and let go a shot at Goalie Burt Woodward. The disc got by the Newton sophomore whose brilliant play has been a great help in keeping Newton in the race all season and the red light flashed for the count.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden the league teams will play another set of four games with one more set left to play next week, Friday evening. Tomorrow Newton will meet Medford and next week will play Rindge Tech.

The present standing:

W. T. L.	For Agst.	Points
Cambridge L.	5 0 0	12 1 10
NEWTON	3 1 1	13 8 7
Melrose	3 1 1	14 6 7

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: A Message of Redemption and Salvation

by

Charles V. Winn, C.S.B., of Pasadena, California

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

On Friday evening, January 26th, a large audience attended a lecture on Christian Science given by First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton in the Church edifice, Walnut and Otis Streets, Newtonville. The lecturer, Charles V. Winn, of Pasadena, California, was introduced by the First Reader of the Church, Mr. William S. Whitman, who spoke as follows:

Friends: The members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton are indeed happy to extend to you a most cordial welcome to this lecture on Christian Science.

The subject of Christian Science is attracting wide attention because it teaches mankind how to live in accord with the immutable law of God, good, and thereby to overcome all the inharmonious conditions which result from accepting so-called laws of matter as real.

The Master, Christ Jesus, said "your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him." (Matt. 6:8.) He also said "seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matt. 6:33.)

Christian Science definitely shows us what the Master meant by those words, and how we can make them practical and successfully apply them to meet our daily need.

To know and understand the Truth which the Master declared would make us free, free from every ill to which the flesh is heir, is the great need of mankind and through the loving and practical teaching of Christian Science, that Truth which redeems and saves, is made available to us all here and now.

Our Lecturer is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston and he has taken for his subject

Christian Science: A Message of Redemption and Salvation.

It is my privilege and pleasure to introduce to you—Mr. Charles V. Winn, of Pasadena, California.

Friends—Mr. Winn.

The prophet, Isaiah, proclaimed to a waiting world a message of hope and assurance in the following words, "And the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord." Humanity, since the dawn of time, has been looking for redemption and salvation. With unceasing efforts it has endeavored to find something that would deliver and save it from its woes and sufferings.

DEFINITION OF REDEMPTION

A dictionary definition of the word "redeem" is "To recover; to regain; to ransom and liberate." False theology has taught us that man started right, that he was made in God's image, and was given dominion over all the earth, but that he immediately fell from his high estate and has been trying ever since to recover and regain that which he lost. It has evolved a theory that man has fallen and that death is inevitable. It has declared that we must go through a vale of tears here, but that in a mysterious, indefinite future we shall attain our heavenly heritage. Is it any wonder that hope has given way to despair, faith to unbelief, and confidence to doubt?

A PRESENT SALVATION

To those groping in the darkness of confusion, mystery, and failure Christian Science comes declaring a present-day salvation from every form of evil, limitation, suffering, and fallure. It declares that the kingdom of heaven is at hand, that good is ever present, always available; that Truth is omnipotent now; that Life is eternal now; that Spirit is supreme now; that divine Love is limitless, all-knowing, and all-surrounding now.

SALVATION THROUGH UNDERSTANDING

How simple and clear has Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, made this whole subject in her definition of salvation in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 593) as "Life, Truth, and Love understood and demonstrated as supreme over all; sin, sickness, and death destroyed." Therefore, the attainment of redemption and salvation is not a matter of belief or of doctrinal acceptance, but of scientific understanding, an absolute knowing, a clear and provable perception of the true nature of God—Life, Truth, and Love. The definition further indicates that this understanding must be demonstrated, proved, and will be manifested in the destruction of the seeming opposites of Life, Truth, and Love, namely, sin, disease, and death. A comprehension of these facts exalts hope, increases faith, and enlarges expectancy. It shows us that every righteous and true desire is capable of present fulfillment and that every form of good can be utilized and enjoyed here and now; that sin, sickness, and death can be destroyed now; that our freedom and healing can be demonstrated now; that all the good which ever has been or ever will be is here now, only awaiting our appropriation and adoption now; that "now is the day of salvation."

SALVATION FROM ERROR

What is it that we need to be saved from? From what do we need redemption or liberation? Surely we do not need to be saved from anything that is true. We never need to be rescued from divine facts. All that we ever need to be delivered from is ignorance, false belief, untrue concepts, wrong conclusions. God is infinite good, has created only good, knows only good, and upholds only good. God's creation is essentially right, pure, and complete. There is nothing in His creation which could ever bring about anything wrong or discordant. The Apostle James tells us, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." God's creation is His expression, or manifestation, and can express only His immaculate perfection, His eternal unchangeableness, His unbounded goodness. We need to be saved from perverted, erroneous concepts, and unfounded beliefs in what is not true. The Psalmist sang, "Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law." We need to see as God sees, to strive to know only the facts of creation. We should never acknowledge as real or true anything that denies the allness of good or the goodness of divine reality.

TRUE THINKING

We learn in Christian Science that a right idea or the truth about a thing will always save us from a belief in its seeming opposite. God is the only Mind; hence Mind and good are essentially one; they are synonymous. Since Mind is infinite good, the only true thoughts are thoughts which are good; that is, those thoughts which proceed from the divine Mind. Our thinking is the most important thing which we do; it is the most vital thing in which we are engaged. The harmony of our existence depends entirely on whether good thoughts or wrong thoughts occupy our mental homes. Then salvation is obtained by a thinking process, a knowing or realizing process. St. Paul writes, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind," and as we put on the Mind of Christ the facts of the divine Mind replace the fancies of the carnal mind, and then we recover and regain what has always been rightfully and lawfully ours.

GOOD BELONGS TO MAN

Some years ago a gentleman opened a savings account in one of our home banks for his young son. During the course of time the family moved to a distant city and the bank account was forgotten. Many years later when the lad had become a man, he returned to the city of his boyhood. He went into the bank to transact some business and when his name became known, an investigation was made. The result was that quite a large sum of money was found to belong to him, and after the proper legal steps were taken it was turned over to him. The money being available, all that was necessary was for the right owner to prove his ownership. God has bestowed all good on His children, and by asserting our divine rights we can bring the good into our experiences.

Let us suppose that a large and valuable estate was left us. A mere declaration or announcement that it was ours would not suffice to bring it into our possession. We should have to prove our rightful ownership, invoke the law covering such transactions, give evidence that it was ours, and if necessary stand firm against all false claimants. We have a rich inheritance because we have a rich Father. Our sonship is assured and inalienable, for God and His likeness can never be separated; Principle and idea can never be separated; Life, Love and man, the object of His love, can never be torn apart.

GOD THE ONLY LIFE

What are the great facts about Life, Truth, and Love which destroy sin, disease, and death, and which establish our redemption and salvation on a firm and everlasting foundation? Christian Science teaches that Life is eternal, indestructible, spiritual, and good; that it is harmonious, lovely, free, and abounding. God is the one infinite Life, and all His creation expresses and manifests this one, unchanging Life. All creation is living, moving, and having its being in this one inexhaustible, eternal, unending Life. "With thee is the fountain of life," the Bible tells us. As the offspring of Life, man is expressing divine Life, spiritual Life; he is free, unfettered, and unlimited by a mortal, restricted sense of life. His life is not material, subject to material conditions, material laws, or material limitations. Even from the human viewpoint, what do we mean when we speak about our life? Is it not what we know, what we think, what we feel and experience? Our human life is our human consciousness of life. If our human life consists of what we think and know of so-called mortal existence, then our true life must be what we know about God. Since knowledge of God is unobtainable by mortal conditions or circumstances, then our real life is unscathed by material surroundings or human beliefs. Since material life is only the expression of material thinking, true life is the expression of divine ideas, or spiritual thinking. True life reflects God, Life, and is not affected by any human belief. In the ratio that one understands the truth of being and entertains spiritual ideas he lives a beautiful life, a joyous life, a successful life. He no longer thinks of life in terms of physicality of physical processes, but in terms of holy desires, pure thoughts, and divine knowing, externalized in good and noble deeds. He measures life in terms of service and helpfulness, not in terms of material gain and worldly success. He has an expansive life, an achieving life, a truly progressive life. Conversely, disease is not a part of life, but is wholly foreign to life. Disorder, being destructive in its nature, is not an element of life; while harmony is conducive to life. Since God is Life, and ever present, Life is never absent, never unexpressed, never imperfect, and is forever free from inharmonious and incompleteness. All of God's creation is manifesting the fullness of life, the abundance of life, and the divine adequacy of life. There is nothing lacking in God's kingdom for the full expression of complete, successful, and satisfying life.

EVIL HAS NO LIFE

Thus we see that evil has no life. It cannot give nor take away life. "He is thy life and the length of thy days." Life and good are synonymous. There is no life in evil and no evil in life. If life were evil it would eventually be self-destructed, but since good

GOD IS DIVINE TRUTH

The understanding of God as Truth is most helpful in working out one's salvation. When the supremacy of Truth is understood, error or evil is seen to be nothing. We read in Deuteronomy, "He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he." We think of a rock as something that is firm, unyielding, basic, and immovable. We learn in Christian Science that God is infinite Truth; that He knows only truth; that nothing untruthful can proceed or emanate from Him. Anything untruthful is not created by Him, is unsupported by Him, and is unknown to Him. Even before we knew of Christian Science some of us had begun to faintly perceive that God could not be the author of evil; but we still believed condition was quickly healed. Some time later he was taken with a fever and was ordered to report to the infirmary. On the way he was knowing the truth, and he said to himself, "If Christian Science is true, if God is everywhere, then this thing is not going on at all." When he arrived at the infirmary his fever was gone. His healing was accomplished not by wondering how it seemed to begin, but by knowing that it was not true.

EXPECTANCY OF GOOD

One of the errors of the human mind which seems to rob it of its peace and joy is the dread of the future. Christian Science saves us and delivers us from evil foreboding and dire prophecy of evil. Truth is unchangeable and everlasting. What is true now always will be true. God knows all that is good, and what He knows will surely come to pass. With God all in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit," St. Paul tells us; for God never condemns His own creation.

MAN INHERITS ONLY GOOD

The belief of penalty claims to operate perhaps most frequently through the spurious doctrine of heredity. Such a doctrine is false and baseless. It has not the slightest foundation in Truth, and an understanding of Truth will exterminate it. Man is the offspring of God and has no origin nor existence apart from God; he has not a single quality which did not come from God; he has nothing unexpressed from God. Since man is the expression of Him, God maintains man as His own image, and never plans for the downfall of His children. God never gives us anything but good, as He has only good to give; He has only blessings to impart and bestow.

TRUE INHERITANCE

We do not, however, merely deny a material inheritance and then leave it there, but we take the positive side, the real side. We know that man has a true inheritance, a spiritual inheritance; we know that our Father-Mother God has "given us richly all things to enjoy;" that He has provided for us a heavenly estate; that our real inheritance is inalienable and forever assured to us, as His beloved children. Since God is Mind, we have received from Mind perfect faculties, ability, comprehension, acuteness, and spiritual capacity. We have received from Spirit only that which is spiritual, perfect, right, and good. We have received from Soul only that which is soulful, beautiful, and holy. From Love we have received only that which is lovely, harmonious, healthy, and gracious. We are children of the King and have a royal heritage. Our title to this heritage is secure; our enjoyment is unlimited, our gratitude for it unending.

GOD AS LOVE

The understanding of God as infinite Love is the crowning achievement in gaining deliverance, freedom, and salvation from evil. The recognition of Love's supremacy never fails to heal, never fails to redeem, unfailingly guides, unerringly comforts, assuredly protects, wipes away all tears, redeems the past, gives faith for the future, and opens wide the gates of heaven.

Our revered Leader, Mrs. Eddy, in her book, "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 132), gives us this beautiful truth: "Divine Love is our only physician, and never loses a case. It binds up the brokenhearted; heals the poor body, whose whole head is sick and whose whole heart is faint; comforts such as mourn, wipes away the unavailing, tired tear, brings back the wanderer to the Father's house in which are many mansions, many welcomes, many pardons for the penitent."

GOD'S POWER ALWAYS AVAILABLE

The power of divine Love is unfailing, its law universal, its presence always available, its wisdom all-knowing, its supply infinite, its substance boundless. To grasp even in a degree the nature of Love divine, is to enter the Holy of Holies, to lay hold on power divine, to feel the presence of Immanuel. It is to know that His grace is sufficient to banish fear, to destroy sin, to overcome discouragement, to heal sorrow, and bring the kingdom of heaven to earth. Through the understanding of divine Love as taught in Christian Science, cases of practically every known disease have been healed, grief has been assuaged, poverty has given way to abundance, the sinner has been purified, and the sordid and degraded have been lifted to holier and happier living. The fruits of such understanding prove it to be the way of redemption for all mankind.

TRUE OBEDIENCE

How are we to acquire the rich blessings which come through an understanding of divine Love? In the same way that all good has come to the world, and that is through obedience to law. Every righteous achievement, every successful endeavor, every worthy attainment in the history of mankind, has resulted from obeying some law. How does the musician attain harmony? By obeying the laws of music. Why does the mathematician get the right answer to his problem? Because he obeys the laws of mathematics. Mrs. Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 159), "Truth, life, and love are the only legitimate and eternal demands upon man; they are spiritual laws enforcing obedience and punishing disobedience." God is the only Law-giver in the universe; hence, He is infinite, divine Principle, the creator of false education, namely, that man is under a penalty of any kind. God, Truth, has provided for His creation, including man, all that is good and truthful. He has blessed man, but has never cursed man. In the true account of creation, as given in the very beginning of the Bible, God blessed man. In the second, or false account, Adam was accursed. This occurred only after Adam had fallen asleep and had been misled. The man who was accursed was not the man of God's creating, but was the dust man, the dream man, the make-believe man, who was only an erroneous or mistaken concept of man. He was not Truth's man, but error's man.

NO EVIL PENALTY

By understanding God as Truth we destroy one of the most baneful beliefs of false education, namely, that man is under a penalty of any kind. God, Truth, has provided for His creation, including man, all that is good and truthful. He has blessed man, but has never cursed man. In the true account of creation, as given in the very beginning of the Bible, God blessed man. In the second, or false account, Adam was accursed. This occurred only after Adam had fallen asleep and had been misled. The man who was accursed was not the man of God's creating, but was the dust man, the dream man, the make-believe man, who was only an erroneous or mistaken concept of man. He was not Truth's man, but error's man.

TRUTH BLESSES MAN

By waking from Adam-dream, and seeing ourselves as children of God, we may see the man that Truth has blessed and glorified; then the curse is destroyed, the penalty annulled, and we go free. "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are

His power and availability are universal and unlimited. His power is everywhere present and ever accessible to man. The universality of divine Principle is adequately proved through the healing of all manner of disease. We find that true healing can come only as a result of obedience to Principle, and the utilization of divine, spiritual power. All permanent healing is the result of thinking according to Principle, that is, obedience to God's law. All inharmonious comes from disobedience to Principle, that is, broken law. Inharmonious never comes from the fundamental rules of music, but from the failure properly to apply them. Does this mean that all suffering is the direct result of conscious wrongdoing? Not at all. It does mean that at some time a belief, perhaps acquired unconsciously, in a power apart from infinite Love has been accepted as law, and a false law of human belief has seemed to govern. But by invoking the divine law of harmony and good, the spurious law can be repealed in thought, and then peace is secure. The understanding of God's supremacy enables one to discern the law under which he is governed—God's law—and by this discernment, the so-called law of disease is rendered powerless. The only law of discord there seems to be is a product of human belief and false education; therefore it is wholly unprincipled and incapable of being enforced, because there is no power sustaining it. Anything that does not proceed from divine Principle, Love, is lawless, and baseless, spurious, and false.

GOD'S LAW SUPREME

I have seen many instances in which the so-called law of mortal belief has been null and void. I have seen God's power, as understood in Christian Science, make the lame to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the assumed incurable to rejoice in abounding health, and the aged to renew their youth. The law of divine Love, operating here to-day, renders obsolete and void the various so-called laws of false belief. These spurious, illegitimate beliefs have no power, but only seem to have power when they are accepted. They seem to be a part of general mortal thinking, an element of what the Bible calls the carnal mind. As we repudiate their preposterous claims and see ourselves under God's government, these false beliefs vanish, and we can have perfect dominion over our bodies, our affairs, our conditions and circumstances.

TRUE HEALING

One's thinking is not in the body, but the body is embraced in one's thought. Then as thinking is in accordance with Principle, as only good, pure, holy, noble, and true thoughts are entertained, the body will inevitably register health, holiness, wholeness, and harmony.

Some of us will remember the magic lantern shows of our childhood days. Colored slides were placed in the lantern and projected on a large sheet some distance away. Occasionally the slide was put in the wrong way and the picture appeared upside down. The slide then was put in the right way and the picture would appear correctly on the screen. To correct the error, nothing was done to the screen; the entire adjustment was made in the lantern. Likewise, when discord appears in the body, one does not need to do anything to the body, but one does need to adjust one's thinking, and by so doing, harmony is bound to result. Mrs. Eddy tells us on page 208 of Science and Health, "You embrace your body in your thought, and you should delineate upon it thoughts of health, not of sickness."

TRUE MEMORY

Two men were once associated in business. One had a very afflictive trouble which was quite apparent, consequently making an impression on his associate. This associate became a student of Christian Science, and some years later the trouble referred to manifested itself in his experience. One day when he was praying very earnestly to overcome the trouble, the false, mental picture presented itself. Then by turning to the truth, it was clearly seen that man is impressionable only to good; that the only memory there is, is that immortal memory of good which our textbook tells us about (Science and Health, p. 407). My friends, this disease was instantly destroyed and never returned.

DIVINE PROTECTION

False beliefs are illusions of unreal mortal mind, and never belong to any person. No one ever creates any form of evil. No one ever created the false beliefs of dishonesty, lust, hate, fear, sin, or selfishness. These delusions seem to exist only in the realm of false belief and as we are thoroughly garrisoned in the citadel of pure thinking, spiritual knowing, as consciousness is thoroughly imbued with that Mind which was in Christ, is firmly established on the rock of divine Principle, Love, we are saved from every form of evil. When a person finds himself unwelcome at a certain place he generally avoids the place. Let us be mentally hospitable to all that is fine, noble, and true, but mentally inhospitable to every false, delusive claim of error. In many hotels we find a sign that reads, "Entirely refreshment throughout." This sign is for the purpose of increasing patronage. Let us constantly refresh our mental homes with that which is spiritual, pure, and good, discarding all that is false, unworthy, and erroneous.

TRUE PREVENTION

No doubt you have often heard this adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." While through the irresistible power of Christian Science any difficulty can be overcome, yet of greater value is the preventive power of this Science. Through an understanding of Christian Science one is enabled not only to overcome any form of evil that has come into his experience, but he can prevent evil from entering his mental is eternal and indestructible it is always expressing life. Evil has no element of life but only seems to have life, through ignorance and false belief. The elements of life are God-created and God-sustained, and evil can never take them away nor repress them. Man has a good life, since he reflects infinite good, God, and is enfolded in Life eternal.

DIVINE FACTS PROVABLE

Now these eternal facts are capable of proof, or demonstration. In the ratio that we understand them we lay hold of that which is good and repudiate that which is wrong. Let us suppose that every time any thought of envy, jealousy, fear, disease, or lack knocked at the door of our mental home, we instantly closed the door and clearly saw that it was a lifeless, worthless, valueless, and powerless thought; that it could not bring us any form of life; that it had not one element of life; that it could not add to nor take from our true, real sense of life; do you think that we would ever take it in? Indeed, no! On the other hand, every time we welcome in a good thought, a kind thought, a pure thought, a spiritual thought, we are manifesting more of life-giving qualities. We enter into eternal life not by dying, but by true living; not by submitting to error, but by gaining more of the elements of eternal life in our thinking and living. When we shall have attained a life of perfect holiness, then we shall have a wholly satisfying, wholly complete and harmonious life. No matter where we are and no matter what the surrounding conditions may be, nothing can prevent us from true thinking and noble living. Even in the midst of what seemed to be the most distressing conditions, Jesus said, "My yoke is easy, and my burden is light." Why? Because he was thinking and living in complete obedience to God; he was exemplifying true life which reflects God, infinite divine Life. We learn in Christian Science that "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter" (Science and Health, p. 482). Jesus thought in accordance with the true facts of being, and thus he could destroy the results of material thinking.

Can we not now see why Jesus always had complete dominion over disease? Disease is a manifestation of materiality, material thinking. It is no part of spirituality or true life, and as we dwell in spiritual consciousness or true life we are immune to disease. St. Paul gives joy as one of the fruits of Spirit, and in Proverbs we read, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine;" and so as we "walk in the Spirit," as we dwell in true consciousness, disease vanishes from our experience.

A man who was suffering as a result of some difficulty from pain in his wrists looked in the dictionary one day and found that this particular difficulty was sometimes associated with sourness and bitterness. He then began to bring more sweetness and kindness into his life; he strove earnestly to put off the false sense of life and to put on more of the true sense of life, as exemplified in truer thinking and holier living. As a result, the pain ceased and he was free. This is only one of many similar instances in which a finer and better sense of life as the reflection of divine Life, God, has brought peace and healing.

that He knew about it. We even took, as we thought, a little comfort in the belief that God knew about our woes and troubles.

MAN REFLECTS TRUTH

God is infinite Truth, and all that is real, true, and good is known and fully known to Him. Since man is God's image and likeness, as the Scripture declares, man is the reflection of Truth divine; man thinks in accordance with Truth. What is known to God is reflected by man, and if God knew anything about evil or had any knowledge of it, then such knowledge would be manifested in man. Such a condition is unthinkable, and has no foundation in fact. Divine Truth knows only good; hence the real man can know only that which is good, true, and harmonious. Since evil and wrong are unknown to God they are unknown to man; they are no part of true thinking or real knowledge. God is the only Being, or consciousness, and man is His perfect reflection, reflecting only that of which God is conscious, the good and true.

EVIL HAS NO ORIGIN

The application of these spiritual truths brings blessings untold. It causes us to dwell only on the good, the constructive, the holy things of God. Any time spent in thinking about evil is time ill-spent. Only a moment spent in thinking about God is productive of results, while time spent in thinking about negative, worthless evil is worse than wasted. Trying to account for evil is a time-waster. All that is true originates in Truth and is the reflection of Truth. Divine Truth is its basis, origin, and source. You can easily discern what is real by cognizing its truthful nature and good-like character. Anything untruthful or ungodlike is only a supposition, not a truth. Then you never can account for that which has no basis in Truth but is only suppositional, and it is useless to try. We do not want to dwell on the negative, false side of existence, but on the positive and real.

Mrs. Eddy admonishes us thus (Science and Health, p. 261): "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionally to their occupancy of your thoughts." We cannot find light in darkness and we cannot gain an understanding of the true by studying or contemplating the false. Evil has no origin in God, and as there is no other origin, it never had any origin.

There is a legend in which we are told that Darkness once tried to convince Light of his seeming reality and so he said, "Come with me and I will show you many places where it is dark." Light followed Darkness, but wherever Darkness took Light, there was no darkness to be found. By keeping thought in accordance with Truth, the light of Truth is always present in consciousness and there is no darkness or evil to account for.

In an institution where I once lectured there was a young man who appeared to be in quite a serious condition. He soon became a student of Christian Science, and the undesirable

Two Feature Events At Waban Club

Home Talent Day on the 5th and a Musical Comedy on the 2nd and 3rd

Great secrecy is being maintained concerning the program of the Waban
Women's Club for Monday, February 5th, at the Neighborhood Clubhouse, at 2:30 p. m. Home Talent Day is the title of the event as given in the Year Book, with slight emphasis on vocal and instrumental music and the reading of a one-act play. The play will be read by Club members, in costume, and it is said that many of the actresses will barely be recognized by their most intimate friends. Mrs. J.
Earl Parker and her assistants, Mrs.
James H. Gardner, Mrs. A. H. Houghton and Mrs. John J. McAuliffe, hope to present a program of universal appeal.

At this meeting members have been given an opportunity to display or advertise special projects or articles in which they are interested.

The hostesses for the social hour following the entertainment are Mrs.
Howard A. Haney and Mrs. Roy E.
Cutting.

On February 2nd and 3rd, (today and tomorrow), at 8 p. m., at the Neighborhood Club House, the musical comedy, "Loose Change," will be presented under the sponsorship of the Drama committee. The benefits from this entertainment, the cast of sixty being made up entirely of Waban people, will be contributed to the Community Chest.

General Federation

ART LECTURE. Clubwomen are reminded of the Art lecture, sponsored by General Federation of Women's Club, scheduled for tomorrow evening at 8 p. m., over Station WBZ, by the National Broadcasting system.
Complete information was given in this Column last week upon this informative series. "Painter Reporters of the New World" is the title of this first broadcast for Saturday evenings.

State Federation

RADIO. Clubwomen of Newton will be especially interested in the broadcast tomorrow morning over WBZ at 11:15 a. m., as the activities of the Twelfth District will be presented by Mrs. Seldon E. James, director. She will be sure to mention some of the events and plans among Newton clubs, this section comprising a vast part of her district. It would be heartening to her and also to the Radio director, Mrs. Charles L.

Fuller, of Brockton, who features these weekly broadcasts, if clubwom-en would write to the station or to Mrs. Fuller, if they find this—or other —programs profitable and entertaining. "Fan letters," after all, are the only method by which radio directors may know whether or not the features presented appeal or are worthwhile.

Howard Harrington, who has attained a reputation around Boston as a Tenor of talent and of excellent voice, will be the musician of the program, his accompanist being Edwin Biltcliffe.

MOTHERCRAFT CLUB. The State Federation announces the Mid-Winter meeting of the Mothercraft Club of Massachusetts for Tuesday, February
6th, at the Old South Church, Copley Square, Boston, with Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, of Boston and Amherst, and Mrs. John W. Gould, of Worcester, presiding. An organ recital, by Carl McKinley, organist and choirmaster of the church, is offered for the entertainment of those who attend, at 1:30 o'clock. Honor guests for the occasion will include Mrs.
Frank P. Bennett, president of the State Federation; Mrs. Thomas J.
Walker, Mrs. John H. Kimball, and Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, vice-presidents; and Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, treasurer. Principal speakers will be
Dr. Payson Smith, Massachusetts
Commissioner of Education; Edward R. Clark, Superintendent of Schools of Winthrop; Dr. Henry Chadwick, Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health; Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a former State president; Mrs.
Charles R. Hawkins, of Framingham,
State chairman of Mothercraft; and Mrs. David R. Goodin, director of the Sixth district, which is Boston. A special feature will be a screen showing, by Mrs. Miner H. A. Evans, of children of many countries.

9th, is the date of the next Art Lecture to be held at the Museum of Fine Arts, in the interests of the Art Society of the State Federation. Single admission ticket is 35 cents. Mrs.
Mary P. Sayward, of the Mu-

RECENT EVENTS

Auburndale Woman's Club

Patricia Boyd, recently returned after six months in the Orient, was the speaker at the meeting of the Auburndale
Woman's Club, on Tuesday, Jan.
30th, at 3 p. m. Her subject, "Across Java by Rail," described the customs,
Batak work and dancing of the Javane-se people. A visit to Bandoeng and Boro Boro was included. Mrs. Earl
H. Ordway was the Day chairman.
Tea was served by the Hospitality committee, Mrs. George W. St. Amant, chairman. The regular business meeting of the Club was held at 2:30 p. m., Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, president, presiding. Mrs. Arthur W. Desoe, chairman of the Legislative committee, spoke of various bills of interest to her committee.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The program offered by the Legislative department of the Federation committee of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, January 26th, was carried out most excellently. Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Club, opened the meeting.
About two months ago she inaugurated a splendid form of philanthropic work, namely, a milk fund, which has been used each month to buy milk for children in Newton schools, whose parents could not afford to give them their weekly milk money. This "milk collection" is taken up at each Club meeting and amounts to a substantial sum each month.

Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones, chairman of the Federation committee, took charge of the afternoon's program.
There was a delightful Musicales.
The first number was piano selections of classical music, brilliantly played by Mrs. George Bricker, and then a very fine vocal selection, "The House by the Side of the Road," sung by Mrs.
Wilson C. Dort, Mrs. John S. Franklin and Mrs. Harry S. Wells, and accompanied by Mrs. G. Howard Frost at the piano.

The remainder of the afternoon's program was in charge of Mrs. Louise Filene, head of the Legislative department, who introduced the two speakers of the afternoon, Mrs. Russell Cone, chairman of the State Federation Legislative committee, and Mrs. Frank Learned, a member of the committee. First they showed by asking and answering questions relating to legislative matters just how they conducted their radio broadcasts.
Then Mrs. Filene read the three bills which the Club members were to vote upon, and Mrs. Cone and Mrs.
Learned discussed their "pros and cons." These bills were: Ratification of the Child Labor Amendment; Hairdressers' Bill; and an Act penalizing slander by radio. After voting

Police News

John Cain, 18, of 107 Bacon street, Waltham, was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car recklessly. Cain was the driver of the car which hit Patrolman Arthur Hanlon of the Newton police on Washington street, in front of the State Armory on the night of the annual police ball on December 15. Hanlon was doing traffic duty when he was hit. He received a fracture of the skull and injuries to his spine and shoulder. Sergeant Bannan and Mahoney testified that Cain told them on the night of the accident that he did not see the patrolman because the windshield on his car was covered with steam. Cain denied having made this statement.

Domenic Antonellis of 183 Adams street, Nonantum, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with threatening Raymond DeRubels of Lincoln road, Newton, with a revolver. The case was continued to February 5.

David Cummings of 6 Colonial avenue, Newtonville, has been appointed a regular member of the Newton police force to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Henry Tibbets. Cummings has been a member of the reserve force for the past five years.

President Roosevelt to Broadcast to Scouts

President Franklin D. Roosevelt will broadcast to the Boy Scouts of America on Saturday, February 10th, at 12:00 noon, the Saturday of the 24th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. The National Council has informed all local Councils that the President will request the entire membership of the Boy Scouts, about 1,000,000 strong, to perform some national service in connection with the Recovery program. What that service will be only the President knows and he will make no preliminary announcements about it.

The Troops of Norumbega Council have been asked to meet at their respective meeting places in Newton and Wellesley to hear President Roosevelt and to make plans for carrying out their part of the national service when they hear what the President asks them to do. Troop Committeemen and others connected with Scouting are to be invited to be present.

The local Council office, in Newtonville, will report to the New England office of the Scout organization the number present at each Troop mobilization and their decision on the request for service.

District Commissioner Gilcreas Leaves

Mr. F. Wellington Gilcreas, District Commissioner for the Sachem District of Norumbega Council (Troops 5, 18, 19, 20 and 21 of Newton Centre) and Chairman of the Norumbega Council Committee on Standards and Examinations, has been appointed Chief Chemist of the State of New York's Sanitary Department Laboratory and leaves this week to take up his job in Albany.

On Tuesday evening last the Troops of Newton Centre in full force, with over 150 Scouts present and with a large number of Scouters, met in the Newton Centre Playground House, guests of Troop 5, whose meeting place it is, to honor Mr. Gilcreas.

President John M. Blerer of the Council, Scout Commissioner G. D. Marcy, Mr. A. F. Noble, Chairman of Troop 5 Committee and Mr. L. Lee Street, Chairman of Troop 20 Committee, Scout Executive L. A. Bruce, Jr., each spoke briefly of Mr. Gilcreas' invaluable work for the Council and of the loss which the Council is suffering through Mr. Gilcreas' departure. Mr. Gilcreas has been an outstanding Scout leader of Norumbega, having served as Assistant Scoutmaster and Scoutmaster of Troop 5, Centre, as District Commissioner for the Sachem District. In addition, he performed yeoman work in the pioneer task of revising the examination system in 2nd and 1st Class tests and in completing the new Manual of Standards and Examinations, for which he is about 90 percent responsible.

In appreciation he was presented an electric mantle clock, with a properly engraved clock. Mr. Street spoke of the part Mrs. Gilcreas had played in Scouting by loyally supporting her husband in his work and presented her with a silver dish from the Scouts and Scouters.

Cubbing Plans for Training

The Division of Cubbing of Norumbega Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, covering the program for boys 9, 10 and 11 years of age has made great progress during the past year. At the present time there are six Packs in operation with one forming, which will shortly give Newton a total of nearly 200 Cubs.

Cub Committeemen, Cub Masters and Assistants, Den Mothers and fathers and mothers of Cubs all enter into the picture of the Cub program, a home-centered organization. To make the work of all these people more effective Mr. Elmer E. Ellis, District Commissioner for Cubbing and the Assistant Scout Executive, Mr. W. R. Speirs, have set up a series of training courses.

The course for Den Chiefs, who are Scouts assigned by Scoutmasters to work with the neighborhood groups of Cubs (called Dens), will be held at the Nobscot Reservation February 3 and 4th.

The second course, starting at the Newtonville Women's Club on Wednesday morning, February 7th at 10:00 a. m. is a Mothers' Craft School. It is for Den Mothers, for mothers of Cubs and for any other mothers who wish to learn simple, inexpensive crafts for use with their children at home. The cost is nominal and simply for materials.

The third of this group is the school for Cub Fathers at the Mason School, Centre, starting on the 13th of February 7:45 p. m. and running for four consecutive Tuesday evenings.

Rotary Club

The regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club at the Brae Burn Club was in charge of Dr. Cecil Clark, Chairman of the Rotary Education Committee, and was devoted to the origin, growth, and principles of Rotary International.

After a very fitting introduction of the full significance of Rotary, Dr. Clark introduced two members of the club, Harold Jenkins and Albert Savage, the former speaking on the life of Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, and the latter on the history and growth of Rotary.

The first Rotary club was founded by a native of New England, who had become a soldier of fortune and had settled as a lawyer in Chicago, where the first club originated on February 23, 1905. Here some 20 men of Chicago met and interchanged ideas and ideals so that soon other clubs were formed, the second in San Francisco, and the third in Oakland, California, to be followed by New York and Boston, as the sixth and seventh clubs formed.

The first club outside the United States was formed in Canada in March 1910, and the first club abroad was established in Dublin, Ireland, in March 1911. Now there are clubs all over the world with a total membership of 146,000, all with a common purpose—"Service above self."

The next meeting will be held at the Newton High School on Monday evening, February 5, at 6:15 p. m. when the local club will act as host to the Newton Kiwanis Club, other Rotarians and Kiwanians living in Newton, and their wives. The guest speaker will be Mr. Cameron Beck, the Personnel Director of the New York Stock Exchange who will speak on that most timely subject, "Leadership for Tomorrow."

The public is invited to hear Mr. Beck in the School Auditorium. The lecture will be preceded by a short concert by the Newton High School Band. Admission is by ticket which may be obtained at the High School office.

INFORMAL MUSICAL CLUB

Several Newton people attended the meeting on Monday afternoon of the Informal Musical Club, which was held at the home of Mrs. Carroll J. Swan, Beacon st., Brookline. The talented violinist, Anne B. Williams, gave the program, which included the First Movement from the concerto in D by Beethoven, Sonata in E by Handel, La Gitana by Kreisler, and other shorter numbers. Pauline M. White was the accompanist.

THE "HORSE-CAR" POLICE AGE

General Daniel Needham stated this week that we are in the "horse-car" age when it comes to the question of training our police officers. And the sad part of it is that this is the truth of the matter. We have witnessed an ever-increasing wave of crime which, unless important steps are taken, may well result in graver dangers than we now face. Throughout all the years past we have appointed our police officers solely because they were able-bodied and willing. Little thought has been given toward preparing men to meet the demands of their duties. Long ago we turned to the development of educational facilities to train our school teachers. The handling of criminals is just as much a matter of training. We cannot hope to cope with the crime wave unless we scientifically go about the training of agents to handle the problem. By all means we should establish police training schools and require the completion of specific courses at these institutions before appointing untrained officers to our police forces.

THE NEW DEAL

It was our privilege this week to hear Theodore J. Joslin, former Washington correspondent and secretary to President Hoover, speak upon the New Deal. Although commending most of the activities instituted by Pres. Roosevelt there were certain phases of the administration policies that he criticized. We had anticipated somewhat of a partisan speech by Mr. Joslin but instead found ourselves greatly impressed with the non-partisan, yet thoroughly frank attitude which was expressed. Just how far the "unorthodox" methods and "experiments" which characterize the efforts of national authorities will go in "lifting the country by its boot straps" is one of the most interesting phases of our economic history.

FEBRUARY BIRTHDAYS

During the month of February occur two birthdays of the noblest and best figures in two hundred sixty years of American history. George Washington and Abraham Lincoln undoubtedly did more for the United States of America than any other two men. At the present time we are at the crossroads of another critical period in the life of our nation. The American people, leaders and all, receive great inspiration from the deeds of these past presidents. Each of these presidents faced many hardships, chief of which was war, hatred and ill-feeling. Today our "war" is a peaceful war against the enemy of depression. The background of America is rich in tradition—we shall not fail.

LET'S GET THE FACTS

The discussion over conditions at Norfolk is one in which every citizen of the state is interested. Just what is the truth about Norfolk? Can we believe the statements made by various officials or can we accept the report of W. Cameron Forbes that "Norfolk is the one bright page in the handling of our prison situation." Does Superintendent Gill have the facts or have State officials who are conducting an investigation? The State has been spending considerable of the taxpayers' money at Norfolk and they have a right to know. Before making any decision let's get all the facts.

REPUBLICAN RUMBLINGS

Former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills' speech the other day in Kansas is popularly believed to be the first rumblings of the Republican campaign of 1936. President Roosevelt has maintained to a great degree the support of the public in his efforts to bring the country out of the valley of the depression. Undoubtedly there are real differences of opinion as to the monetary policy of the Government as well as in many other directions. Meanwhile most of us are more concerned with the immediate future.

NEW LEADERSHIP

The School Committee made an excellent choice recently in selecting Walter R. Amesbury as its new chairman to succeed the retiring member of the committee, George H. Tracy. Mr. Amesbury, in his service as a member of this committee for the past several years, has shown a grasp and knowledge of problems to be faced which should make him an admirable chairman.

SONS OF LEGIONNAIRES

Newton legionnaires are forming a detachment of a national organization of "Sons of Legionnaires." It is a worthwhile movement and should have the support of all interested in bringing up our young boys to take their proper place in the life of the community.

CANDLEMAS DAY

Today is Candlemas Day. We do not know whether or not the groundhog will see his shadow before the day is over. We have a feeling, however, that we are still going to have plenty of snow, cold, and wintry blasts for several weeks yet to come.

Dr. Griggs Again Will Give Read Fund Lectures

Occident and Orient, Venice herself is her best gift to the culture of mankind.

Florence is the most human and lovable of the Italian cities. Not vast and overwhelming as Rome, her art a native expression and not a borrowed adornment, one comes to love Florence as one loves a beautiful and entrancing person, the more charming because her changing moods can never be anticipated. Mother of Dante, Michael Angelo and Leonardo da Vinci, scene of the moral mission of Savonarola, and the magnificence of Lorenzo, home of the supreme school of painting, Florence is the inspiring center and beating heart of that Renaissance from which we date all modern civilization.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Better get started composing rhymes if you mean to properly celebrate St. Valentine's Day.

In the general stir that seems to be going on all over the world to clean out the slum areas of larger cities, one is apt to overlook the fact that the idea is not entirely new. As a matter of fact there have been those called torch-bearers, if you will—who have studied and written and talked of housing and town planning for years. These brave souls tackled the subject when it wasn't popular and had many obstacles placed in their path. The feeling that slums were a sort of necessary evil was accepted with complacency by some who are now vigorously demanding that such districts be wiped from the face of the earth. Not that it isn't a splendid thing to see so much interest in making living conditions better for everybody. No, indeed, but remember that there is credit due the pioneers who first began the fight.

There was a time when to fall asleep in train or trolley was something no one cared to do, if people were looking at them. Now it has become quite a feat. Personally, if these weary eyelids of mine have closed for a short time on a public conveyance I have undergone a feeling of embarrassment, fearing that there were those who were watching my every move, though I suppose I was flattering myself. A prominent Newton man assures me that he catches a cat nap on his way home in the evening train, assured that the friendly trainmen will see he is not carried by. Furthermore, others do it he says and find it stimulating and restful. Well, that's not a bad custom, if it is, as he has declared, widely followed.

Hanging 'Round the House

Persuaded by his devoted family, or convinced by himself that it would be a good idea if he should remain away from the office for that day, the man of the house proceeds to "rest up." And then what happens? Ask the good woman and others who have to put up with him.

Of course, it is assumed that he is not himself physically or there would be no need of his staying out from the office. He may have waked up with a mean feeling, or he may be threatened with a cold, or feel very tired. His tummy may be off or his nerves a bit on edge. Or possibly the doctor has advised him to loaf for one day.

Mr. Man doesn't resent the idea, rather likes it, in fact, because he knows he will receive more than ordinary attention. Well, the first hour after breakfast goes rapidly as there is the morning paper to read. But after that time begins to hang heavily. There is a phone call for his wife and not until he has learned from whom it came is Mr. Man satisfied. "Well, what did she want?" he asks when the conversation has finished. Informed that it was "nothing" and that "we always talk like that in the morning," he grunts and observes, "I don't see what you women find to talk about." This same observation he repeats after every phone call that day.

When there is a summons at the front door and the maid answers, Mr. Man hangs about within hearing distance to learn the errand of the caller. He remarks that he doesn't see why so many people ring the doorbell with things to sell. "They must think we've got nothing to do but answer," he grouches. The "we" is used in an academic sense for no man answers the doorbell in the daytime if he can avoid it.

Along about 11 o'clock Mr. Man pokes his nose into the kitchen to see what is going on and wonders why the women folks become misty and blither at his intrusion. At lunch he takes the opportunity to give a short "pep" talk on efficiency in housekeeping and is surprised that it doesn't make a hit.

After a while he sits down at the radio. Finds nothing that interests and shuts it off with a sour comment. Then he browses around for something to read. Is too fidgety to settle himself anywhere and finally accepts his wife's suggestion that he lie down for a few minutes. Does off and doesn't wake up until late afternoon. Then complains that he has spoiled his chance of a good night's rest and should have kept on his feet. Says he's sorry he didn't go to business. Asked if he doesn't feel better, replies he can't say that staying-home has done him any good. Wishes he'd gone into town as it is "fresh" and "off." Wife says nothing but resolves she will never again induce him to remain home when he complains that he isn't feeling up to snuff.

Ready for Help

Thanks to science one may get an earful of the latest doings in any or all parts of the universe, via what our British cousins call "the wireless." In one Newton home, and probably many of which I know not, there is a young hero who may be called an addict for "spot news." No reply. "Dad," he called by the dailies. This earnest young fella fixes his ears against the loud-speaker for his own benefit and that of the rest of the family. That is, he listens-in and then goes about telling what he heard.

The other morning he was all excitement. Jumping up he rushed first upstairs and then down, calling, "Dad, dad, three men stole a lot of police guns." No reply. "Dad," he repeated, "did you hear what I said?" But dad was fixing something in the cellar and paid no attention. Breathless, the son burst in and repeated the startling information, adding, "And they're hunting everywhere for the burglars."

EDUCATION FOR MENTAL HEALTH SERIES

Over-Ambition Can Be Harmful

Following is the first in a series of real cases which show how the Department of Guidance, through careful study and counseling, has been able to help youth make adequate adjustments to life situations at home and in school. This is the story of James, whose personality was being crippled because his parents' ambitions for him were beyond his ability to attain.

Though a sophomore in high school, James was so nervous and anxious in regard to some of his studies that he would either burst into tears or become sullen and stubborn at the slightest criticism or attempt to help him. A most conscientious worker, very obedient and courteous. Up to this year, he had been looked upon as a contented, successful, ordinary school boy. What was making the change?

Study revealed a vexing problem of over-ambition. James was the oldest boy in the family and mother was determined that he should have a college education. She was laying so much stress upon his studying and upon his school accomplishment that she was not allowing him any time for play or boyish pleasures. His evenings and out of school hours must be spent upon school work. By great effort he had achieved fair grades up to high school levels but now could not meet the requirements of this college course.

He was growing thin and tense. His deeply bitten nails and his nervous tension evidenced his secret anxieties. He wanted not only to get school success but most of all to please the mother who was dominant in the home and insistent upon her one goal for the boy. A search into the true cause of this attitude of hers revealed that she was secretly disappointed at her husband's failure to secure as much success in business life as she felt he might have done if he had tried harder and she was unconsciously compensating for that disappointment in her ambitions for James. She was determined that her boy should not fail because of lack of opportunity or lack of persistency.

An intensive study with a battery of various tests showed that James had average general ability for school achievements. His school failures and bad mental health shown in poor emotional control now were due partly to his underlying fear and anxiety, which prevented his doing the best that he could and partly to his attempt to accomplish something which was really too difficult for him. The school problem here was not with the boy but with the mother. Though it was difficult for her to give up her cherished plan, at last she was convinced that it would be for James' best interests to drop the idea of college, to take a business course instead and to get more normal outlets among his fellows. He joined some school clubs, took up hockey with zest and changed the emphasis in his studies.

Soon James began to gain in weight, often was seen to smile and enjoyed the new studies in which he gained self-respect and confidence.

Again a new outlook and emphasis on what was best for HIM, as an individual, had given a boy his chance to make a successful adjustment.

Next week there will be given an account of Alice, whose unhealthy personality was changed to that of a healthy, normal girl. The story will show how constructive guidance discovered and removed those difficulties which were causing her poor mental health.

Under The Gilded Dome

The General Court has completed four weeks of its 1934 session. It is believed will witness considerable important legislation enacted during the coming months. Nearly one hundred matters have been reported on by various committees during the first few weeks of the session. The 1934 Legislature has more than 1500 petitions to be heard, approximately two hundred less than in 1933.

Many hearings are being held daily before the various committees with much interest being manifested in many of the matters under consideration.

The House Ways and Means committee of which Rep. Baker of Newton is a member, has the budget recommendations of Governor Ely before it. Although it is understood that this committee is further along in its study of the financial needs of the State than at a similar time last year it will be a month or more before the main budget bill is reported in the House. Among the matters which are attendant upon the budget is the question of a retail sales tax which is being considered by the Committee on Taxation.

Other important legislation at the present time is the question of deposit insurance in savings banks and co-operative banks. It is generally believed that a bill will be reported by the Committee on Banks and Banking which will deal with this question as regarding savings banks. It is doubtful if the committee will report favorably on the co-operative bank measure. The subject of Miss Wiesman's talk will be "Women and Children in Industry and What the Code Means to Them."

Psychiatrist Gives Address to Newton Woman's Forum

Dr. Betsy Coffin of Westboro Hospital Talks at N'ville

Dr. Betsy Coffin, psychiatry specialist at the Westborough State Hospital, was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Woman's Forum in Central Church, Newtonville, on Sunday afternoon at 4:45 when she told of the work which she with a small staff is doing in a clinic for the problem child. Starting nearly two years ago with one case she now has some thirty over forty cases. The psychologist believes that many cases of neurosis in adults could have been prevented if the patient had been properly trained in childhood. Dr. Coffin believes that she is breaking paths along this line in the clinic.

She is opposed to child psycho-analysis. She believes that a tactful patient observation over quite a period of time will reveal much in the subconscious mind. With the results of such observations and with the case history, along with a favorable reaction from parents, in most cases, she seeks to help the children find themselves.

Some of the obstacles met are a bad atmosphere at home, poverty, and phobias placed in the subconscious mind by association with adults who are more or less neurotic. New and constructive attitudes are sought but no mother, teacher or psychiatrist can take the problem child farther than his or her own attitude. Good results have been obtained by placing children in camps for a time when home influences have hampered too much. Inferiority complex has been overcome and real creative ability discovered when the stress and strain of poverty and oftentimes nagging have been removed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 4.

The Golden Text is: "Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 1:21).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions? Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever. My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him I was found innocent: and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt" (Daniel 6:20-22).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death. It crowned the demonstrations of Jesus with unsurpassed power and love" (p. 243).

Theremin Concert at M. E. Church

Occasionally the bell-like tones of the wonderful new instrument, the Theremin, are heard over the radio and those who have enjoyed their amazing quality have wondered how they are produced. In fact it is almost incredible that such lovely tones can be produced without mechanism and also without personal contact with the instrument.

This newest of musical inventions conceived by Prof. Leon Theremin, a Russian scientist, will be featured for the first time in this community by the Young-Starret Entertainers in the Assembly Hall of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church on Friday evening, Feb. 9, at eight o'clock. In addition to the Theremin solos the entertainers will give a concert of piano and violin selections, vocal solos and readings. An entertainment for children will be given in the afternoon at three o'clock. The Theremin is fast gaining popularity among women's clubs as well as in other organizations. At the close of the program an opportunity will be given to examine and try it. The evening's proceeds will go to the Woman's Association of the church.

Tickets for the Theremin concert in the Newtonville Methodist Church, Feb. 9, at 8 p. m., are 35 cents. Children's program at four o'clock, 15 cents.—Adv.

Letters To The Editor

A DESERVED REWARD

To the Editor:
In these days when democracy is at its crossroads and is put to its severest tests, the results of the election in the city of Newton last month gives one hope that democracy is still safe in America.

The past records of the municipal governments in some of the big cities have not been too glorious an example of our democratic form of government. The financial straits in which some of our cities are at present found to be, show the result of the unscrupulous greed of political machines that have bent the back spots of our municipal system of government.

As a citizen of the City of Newton, however, I feel proud and hopeful of the future of democracy. The recent decision by the voters of the City of Newton and the great percentage of votes—80 per cent—of the total voting list has shown the common sense of the great majority of its citizens, their interest in their city and in its government. It will, no doubt, set an example to the great number of other cities and towns of what can be done if citizens are really public spirited and straight forward. It has been looked up to as a model of good government. Its schools have the highest rating, its public institutions are of the highest type and set a fine example of a well managed city government.

It is a city governed by a Mayor and Board of Aldermen. All though most of the authority is in the hands of the Board, yet the responsibility for its efficient management rests upon the Mayor. The final decisions must be made by him.

At the last election citizens of Newton could do nothing else but reward the Mayor and Board of Aldermen. Al though most of the authority is in the hands of the Board, yet the responsibility for its efficient management rests upon the Mayor. The final decisions must be made by him.

At the last election citizens of Newton could do nothing else but reward the Mayor and Board of Aldermen. Al though most of the authority is in the hands of the Board, yet the responsibility for its efficient management rests upon the Mayor. The final decisions must be made by him.

I trust the entire community will unite to back up the man whom they have recently chosen to be their leader in all its undertakings for the benefit of the city and its citizens and help to maintain and carry on the good name of the City of Newton. Help him along on the way to greater rewards as is befitting a man who is trained as the son of a statesman, a man of honor, valor and a real democrat in his broad sense. Upon such men rests the fate of democracy.

"NEWTON TWENTIES" PLAN
DANCE

The "Newton Twenties" will hold their first dance on Friday evening, February 9, at the Bonnar Atwood Studio, Newtonville. Miss Jean Webster of Newton has charge of the tickets.

"Red Riding Hood" First
Out With Other Stories

It is said that the story of Red Riding Hood is a solar myth, following the path of the red sun from its home in the east, across the fields and in the cloudy woods of the sky, to the dark cottage of the west, where it is devoured by the wolf of night, says Tit-Bits Magazine.

However that may be, nobody seems to have known much of the tale until it appeared in a book having the strange title: "Histoires on Contes du temps passe, avec des Moralites," and bearing on the back of the cover another title: "Contes de ma mere L'Oye," which may be translated: "Stories or fables of olden times, with a moral," and "Stories of Mother Goose."

The book was published in the time of Louis XIV, and was written by one of his most distinguished subjects, an old member of the French academy, who thought little of it. In this book, besides "Little Red Riding Hood," appeared such world-known stories as "Cinderella," "Bluebeard," "Puss-in-Boots," "Tom Thumb," and "The Sleeping Beauty."

The author's name was Charles Perrault, but the book was published under the name of his ten-year-old son, and it may be that some old village or nurse had actually related these stories to the child, and that they had been taken down by the father in their original simple form and language. No one will ever know how much was original and how much was folk lore.

Three Pillars in Lee's

Home From Constitution

"Leeland," the ancestral home of one branch of the famous Lee family of Virginia was built at Shepherdstown in 1829 by Edmund Jennings Lee, a grandson of Richard Henry Lee, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a first cousin of Robert E. Lee, the Confederate chieftain. At the time the mansion was built, observes a writer in the Kansas City Times, Shepherdstown was within the boundaries of old Virginia. Aside from the many historic traditions that are associated with "Leeland," this old mansion is noted for the fact that the three pillars in front were the original masts of the famous old flagship, the frigate Constitution, emblazoned in American memories as "Old Ironsides."

The masts were obtained during the War of the Revolution when the old ship was dismantled and rebuilt. The old masts were selected for use in the "Leeland," which was destroyed by fire a short time before the Civil war. "Old Ironsides" acquired other masts in other days. One of the later ones is now the property of the Topeka high school, the gift of former Vice President Charles Curtis.

Mozart's Useful Nose

Mozart had, according to all accounts, an exceedingly well-developed nasal protuberance, and used it to advantage in a challenge to Haydn, so the story goes. Mozart was Haydn's pupil, and Haydn challenged him to produce a composition of his own which he (Haydn) could not play at sight, and Mozart could. Mozart wrote a little piece, and Haydn sat down to play. Presently he came to a passage which required the hands to be stretched out to the extreme top and bottom keys of the instrument, while there was a note to be played in the center. He was unable to play it, but Mozart sat down, and on reaching the passage stretched out his hands, bent forward, and struck the middle note with his nose.

Migrations of Animals

Migrations of huge herds of wild animals have been a puzzle to naturalists. Why certain species move on annually only to return again to familiar territory, why other species dig in and stay through good and bad weather, are questions still to be adequately answered. Authorities at the Museum of Natural History say that certain well-known groups of animals may always be counted on to migrate with changing seasons. The caribou, elk, certain bats, the whale, are among the number. Trappers have observed that the lynx is migratory, and also the marten and the hare, though the wolf and fox remain in one locality unless starved out.

Mohammed's Hecira

Hecira is the word used commonly to mean an emigration of large bodies of population, originally designated a single emigration, which led to the establishment of the Mohammedan religion. Mohammed, threatened with death at the hands of his jealous kinsfolk, left Mecca secretly in 622, seeking refuge in Medina. In Medina, he found the populace more hospitable to his religious doctrines and he soon developed a large following which pledged him every support, military and otherwise. The successful battles waged against his adversaries soon brought Mohammedanism to supremacy.

Instruments Crack in Studio

So dry was the atmosphere in an old wine cellar that had been converted into a broadcasting studio by the British Broadcasting corporation in London, that wooden instruments began to crack. The British did not want to give up their wine-cellar studio, so they built a series of trays containing water around the walls of the instrument room, and this provided the requisite humidity.

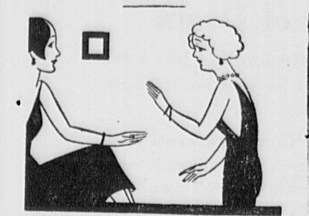

SNUBBED

Henderson's evening suit was rather old-fashioned. His figure was not one which showed clothes to advantage, either.

One evening, as he stood in the vestibule of a restaurant waiting for his wife, a tall, pompous man came up. "I say, my man, are you the head waiter?" he drawled.

What Henderson lacked in bearing he made up for in quick thinking. "No," he said, "but I heard him tell a young fellow today that he didn't want to see any more applicants for jobs."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

HOME REMEDIES

"The water pipes at our house froze the other day."

"That so? Have to send for a plumber?"

"No. Pa got hot and thawed them out himself."

All His Fault, of Course

The holiday resort was slow. The people in the boarding house were uninteresting, and the weather was bad. Mrs. Youngwife was in anything but an amiable mood.

"John," she said, one morning, "what made you choose this place for a holiday?"

"But, darling," he exclaimed, "you suggested it yourself."

"I know," she returned. "But why on earth did you agree?"—Stray Stories.

Taking No Chances

Mummy was listening to little Dennis saying his prayers, while granule sat knitting.

Toward the end of his prayers mummy was surprised to hear her little son raise his voice and positively roar: "And please can I have a motor car for my birthday?"

"But, darling," she protested, "God isn't deaf!"

"No," answered the little chap serenely, "but grannie is!"—Borah Cities Star.

Making It Up

"You haven't got the answer to this problem right," said the teacher at the close of school. "You'll have to stay and do it over."

"How far off is it this time?" asked the boy in despair.

"Two cents."

"Well, I've got something awful important to do after school. I'll just pay the difference."

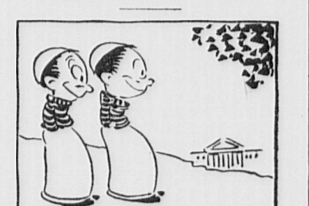

As Time Flies

"Are you going to have much to say in the next congress?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "Of course you will think before you speak."

"When possible. The trouble is that if you spend too much time in preliminary cogitation, you are liable to miss your turn."

COLLECTIONS SLOW

First Stude—Reggie says he is not able to collect his thoughts.

Second Stude—Perhaps there are none coming to him.

In Line of Duty

Minister (to Deacon)—I was surprised to see you talking with a man who is a notorious gambler. What business could you possibly have with him?

Deacon—I was trying to find out where to cash a number of poker chips that I found in the contribution box.

Horrible Example

"I won't wash my face!" said Dolly, defiantly.

"Naughty, naughty," retorted grandmother. "When I was a little girl I always washed my face."

"Yes, and now look at it!"

Lost His Secretary

"Why are you typing yourself?"

"She got married."

"To whom?"

"To me."

A Logical Conclusion

Guide—This castle has stood for 600 years. Not a stone has been touched, nothing altered, nothing replaced.

Visitor—Um, they must have the same landlord as we have.

Airing Her Knowledge

"How could you let that young Frenchman kiss you?"

"Well, he asked me in French, and I wanted to show him I understood."

Excused His Tears

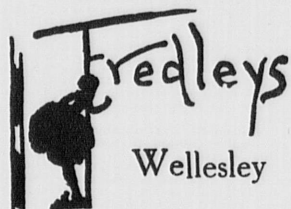

He—When I was in the Arctic I used to live on candles and blubber.

The International committee of the Club will have a Supper, followed by a lecture and discussion period, on Monday, February 5th, at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Frederick J. Libbey, the executive secretary for the National Council for Prevention of War, will speak on the timely subject "Combating Forces of War."

Mr. Libbey, known as a very able speaker, comes from Washington. He has a clear understanding of the forces which are making for peace, and those which are making for war. One of the latter being the "Munitions situation," upon which he is considered well informed.

Supper reservations, at 65 cents, should be made with Mrs. Louise E. Thayer, W. N. 145, by February 3rd.

Club members and their friends will be admitted to hear the speaker for 25 cents.

On Thursday, February 8th, at 10 a. m., Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will speak on Current Events.

TO SPEAK ON NURSERY SCHOOL

Miss Martha Chandler will be the speaker at the meeting of the Second Church Nursery School Parents, to be held at the Parish House on Tuesday, February sixth, at two-thirty. Miss Chandler, who will take as her topic "Nursery School Methods at Home," is at present head of the Wheaton College Nursery School.

Newtonville Club Present Dr. Grafflin As Guest Speaker

Guest Night will be observed on February 6th by the Newtonville Woman's Club, when Dr. Samuel W. Grafflin will give his talk on "Life as a Great Adventure." A brief resumé of Dr. Grafflin's life will indicate his fitness to speak on this subject. He was obliged to go to work early to help with the support of his mother and younger brothers, and at fifteen years of age went to sea, where he worked his way up to Brevet Captain. Later he engaged in business on land, and, desiring to enter the ministry, became associated with missionary work, and was eventually appointed to a pastorate, lecturing and writing as an extra interest. He became Industrial Missionary of the Methodist Church and was active in the social welfare service of a large factory in New York. At the beginning of the war Dr. Grafflin was called by the Y. M. C. A. to take the religious work at the West Side Branch, New York, which included Ship and Shore Work with Waterfront Guard Detachments, and he was given a special commission by the government. He retired from active Y. M. C. A. work in 1930 and is now editor and publisher of a magazine. Dr. Grafflin is unique in his personality in his presentation, and is considered a pleasing speaker.

Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, chairman of the Music committee, will present for the musical features of the program, Adell Holden, a gifted and versatile Lyric Soprano, and Benjamin Sebire, a Flutist of wide experience, who comes to this country from England. The Hospitality committee, under the direction of Mrs. Henry M. Weidner, will have charge of the refreshments, and Mrs. Weidner has invited Mrs. John R. Clark, Mrs. Alfred E. Fuller, and Mrs. George I. Whitehead to serve as hostesses.

Being actively concerned with better living and intensely interested in young people, Dr. Grafflin will talk to the students of the High School on the afternoon of February 6th. The Club, in line with its interest in civic matters, is pleased to be instrumental in arranging, through Mrs. George Lowry Davis, chairman of the Program committee, for the appearance at the school of a speaker so well qualified to interest young people.

Mrs. Henry J. Baringer will meet her group at the Newton Hospital for a sewing day on February 8th. Volunteers will be welcome.

that the children brought into court are examined for their mental rating, in addition to the study of their home environment, to determine the reason for their behavior. After a social hour the meeting adjourned.

Newtonville Woman's Club

On the morning of January 25th, at the Newtonville Woman's Club headquarters on Washington park, Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor held a meeting for the members attending the second of her series of Current Events lectures. Her understanding of world topics and her lucid manner of presentation are most educational and are worthy of favorable commendation. Mrs. J. Mace Andrews is chairman of the committee on Current Events.

Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, chairman of the Drama committee, together with her talented assistants, by special arrangement with Walter Baker Co. of Boston, presented the Play Reading, "To Have the Honor," by A. A. Milne, on Friday evening, for Club members and friends. Those appearing were Samuel Tuthill as Prince Michael, Howard Niven as James Oliver, Drusilla Guiry as Imogene Faithful, Edith Morris as Mrs. Faithful, Gladys McGill as Jennifer Bulger, Hubert Pierce as Mr. Battersby, Douglas Sloan as Captain Holt, Mariada Comer as Angela Battersby, Ruth Niven as Mrs. Holt, and Harold Billings as Dr. Ainslee. Agnes Howe was the reader and Hortense Battersby the coach. After the performance refreshments could be procured and those who wished could enjoy dancing. Music was furnished by Bob Hendrick's orchestra.

Christian Science Lecture

domain. A seed that never takes root, never produces a weed; a false claim of evil that is not accepted, never grows. It has been well said that error never knocks twice at the door of that mental home whose inmate is thinking about God. If we leave the door of our house open, an intruder may come in, but if we lock the door, the problem is comparatively simple, for the unwelcome visitor cannot get in. If we let him in we have the unpleasant task of getting him out. We should always be at home to love, but never at home to hate; always at home to spirituality, but never at home to materiality; always at home to kindness, but never at home to condemnation; always at home to God, but never at home to evil. Thankfulness is of great help in preventing the intrusions of error. A heart singing praises to God is generally too busy to listen to the blatant voice of error; it is too busy counting its blessings to have any time for listening to error's tales of lack.

GOOD UNIVERSAL

In working out our own salvation, our thought becomes unselfed, our thinking more universal, our aims broader, our aspirations higher. We not only strive to bring good into our own lives, but are equally desirous of bringing good to all. The Bible tells us, "we are members one of another," and when we are striving steadfastly to abide in Life, Truth, and Love, we are helping to bring salvation to the whole world. If we allow dandelions to grow in our lawns and let them go to seed, we may soon notice that our neighbors have more dandelions. If we keep our lawns clear of dandelions, our neighbors are spared time and effort necessary to eradicate any which might grow on account of our neglect. By keeping our mental gardens full of the blooms of love, purity, and honesty, our neighbors, as well as ourselves, may enjoy our lovely gardens. We soon learn in Christian Science that what is true about one is true about everyone, and what is not true about everyone is not true about anyone. God has no favored sons and daughters, and what is true about one child of God is true about every child of God. "God is no respecter of persons."

MAGNIFYING GOOD

We should never admit as true about anyone a thing we do not wish to be true for ourselves. We must strive to see the Father's image, and only the Father's image, not only in ourselves but in everyone else. God is everywhere and His reflection is everywhere, and as we strive to see what God is seeing we behold the manifestation of spiritual beauty and loveliness. If we look through the wrong end of a telescope the object is minimized instead of magnified. By looking through the telescope of love, evil is minimized and good is magnified, but we must look through the right end, the universal truth about God and His perfect man. In the New Testament we read that Jesus healed the multitudes, he healed them, every one. It must be clear to us all that his thought was imbued with the truth about God and His Christ, so that he saw clearly and distinctly divine Love and Love's perfect reflection. Surely, no greater blessing could come to one than the joy of knowing that his every thought which reflects Love, God, is not only working out his own salvation, but is also helping in the salvation and redemption of all mankind.

DISCOVERER OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

While pressing on in the line of light we love to think gratefully of Mary Baker Eddy, that gentle New England woman, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, who brought the healing, redeeming message to all who seek to know God aright. Her faith was unlimited, her wisdom was God-bestowed, her efforts untiring, her love as broad and far-reaching as humanity's need. With selfless devotion, holy aims, and noble desires she gave her message to the world and knew that God would bless it. That it has fulfilled its glorious mission, its abundant fruitage gives unfailing evidence. To carry out this mission Mrs. Eddy wrote the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." In the final chapter of this book are a hundred pages telling of the healing of many forms of disease through its reading and study. It has been my privilege to know three of the beneficiaries whose testimonies are found in Science and Health: one was healed of tuberculosis, one of cancer, and one of rheumatism. Surely, any book that can accomplish such beneficial results should be in every home in our land, a fitting companion for the Holy Bible, whose treasures it unlocks. No other book, except the Bible, has made the way of salvation so plain and brought so much peace and healing to untold thousands. In traveling this upward way our path will be one of joy and peace, as we remember Mrs. Eddy's gracious words (Message for 1901, p. 35), "Love is the way away."

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL RECITAL

On Friday evening, January twenty-sixth, elementary and junior pupils of the Claffin Branch, All Newton Music School, held the first recital of the season at the Claffin School, Newtonville.

The recital proved to be a most interesting and instructive exhibition of the work these younger pupils are doing in music.

The theory classes, under the supervision of Miss Ruth Crandall, gave a demonstration of some of the work which they do on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The boys and girls showed great enthusiasm and delight in a large audience with the high quality of their work in a difficult subject. The demonstration proved the importance of theory work in establishing a foundation and background for all serious work in music. There were forty children, all under the age of twelve, who took part in the recital.

The program came to a fitting close with a splendid number by the Junior Ensemble of strings conducted by Miss Irene Forte of the violin department who trains the group.

On Friday evening, March 16th, at 7:30 p. m., there will be another recital at the Claffin School in which the pupils from the Intermediate Grades will take part.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE, NEWTON

Lavish stage settings, dazzling costumes and musical numbers that promise to become nation-wide hits have been crowded into one of the most original motion picture productions to emanate in Hollywood and which serves as Marion Davies new Cosmopolitan starring vehicle, "Going Hollywood"—it is "Going Hollywood" which opens at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, Sunday, Feb. 4th for 4 days.

The picture is described as a view of Hollywood itself, with all the glamour of the motion picture world thrust into an evening's entertainment. The story and dialogue are by Donald Ogden Stewart, with music by the noted composing team of Arthur Freed and Natlo Herb Brown. The crooning is done by the "King Pin of Radio Fame" Bing Crosby. On the same program Kay Francis will be seen in "The House on 56th Street."

For the last half of the week, "Alice in Wonderland" the world's most popular story by Lewis Carroll will be the main feature. Thousands of little ones have been waiting for this picture and it is hoped that the older folks will be sure that they see it. On the same program will be Joe E. Brown in "Son of a Sailor" an ideal program for the entire family. There will be the usual vaudeville on Saturday evening at 7:45.

Today we know that bananas contain only 1.3% of body-building food, but that they contain 22% of carbohydrate and are therefore rated as body fuels. The average banana contains about 100 calories.

Bananas are cut green and are ripened in the rooms of the wholesale dealer. The successful banana wholesaler has insulated and refrigerated rooms for this ripening process, in order that the temperature may be accurately controlled. When the fruit shows signs of coloring, the ripening rooms are ventilated and fresh air is admitted. This helps to bring out the yellow color characteristic of the well-ripened banana.

Bananas have come into their own as a staple food, available the year around at low cost. Because of their nutritional properties they are receiving a prominent place in the food budget. We suggest your trying these recipes:

Banana Cake
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 cups pastry flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup sour milk
1 cup mashed bananas (3)
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream the butter. Add the sugar gradually. Beat the eggs until thick and light, and add to the sugar and butter mixture. Sift the flour, baking powder, soda and salt together and add alternately with the sour milk and banana. Add the vanilla and mix well. Pour into two 8-inch layer cake pans and bake in a gas oven at 375° for 30 to 35 minutes.

Banana Muffins
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg
4 tsp. baking powder
2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups bananas, cut into 1/2" cubes

Cream the butter. Add the sugar and well-beaten egg. Sift the baking powder, flour and salt. Add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Then fold in the bananas. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a gas oven at 400° for 25 minutes. Makes 12 muffins, 2 1/2" diameter.

Banana Cream Pie
3 cups milk
4 tsp. flour
2 tsp. cornstarch
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. butter
1 tsp. vanilla
3 bananas

Mix the flour and cornstarch with 1/2 cup of the cold milk to a thin smooth paste. Then scald the remaining milk in the double boiler over a low gas flame. Beat the egg yolks, add the sugar and salt. Add a small amount of the scalded milk to the flour paste and some to the egg and sugar mixture. Pour each mixture slowly into the scalded milk. Stir together to prevent lumping, and cook until thick. Remove from the gas flame, add the butter and flavoring. Cool, then add the thinly sliced bananas. Mix well and pour into a well-baked 9-inch pastry shell. Cover with a meringue and bake in a gas oven at 300° for 15 to 20 minutes.

Fourteen Islands Form Cape Verde Archipelago

Fourteen islands, ten of which are inhabited, make up the Cape Verde archipelago. They lie about 300 miles west of Dakar, the westernmost city of the African continent. All are of volcanic origin.

The islands are swept almost constantly by swift winds, and both the slopes of their lofty, extinct volcanoes, and the sea shore appear bleak and arid from the rail of an approaching steamer. Like Greenland, Cape Verde (meaning Green Cape) is a misnomer. The name is derived from green seaweed, which drifts into the islands' valleys of the larger islands, made fertile by earth washed down from the mountains, are the only spots which might give the island group a right to its appellation.

If the 14 islands could be on the state of Rhode Island, only a few rugged edges would extend over the borders of the diminutive New England state. St. Thiago, largest of the Cape Verdes, duplicates the city of Los Angeles in area. The smallest island is so tiny that it is measured by square yards rather than square miles.

The archipelago forms a province of Portugal, and its governor general is appointed by the Portuguese government. He resides at Porto Praia on St. Thiago, a city of about 35,000 inhabitants, of whom most are negroes. —Chicago Daily News.

Asbestos Was Found When Needed by the Country

Just when civilized folks began most to need it, asbestos was found, notes a writer in the Washington Star.

In the very nick of time, when we began to melt metals in fiery furnaces and to use red-hot machinery in thousands of factories, we learned of a substance which could be obtained from ordinary rock which would protect us from heat because it neither burns nor melts.

Asbestos is used practically everywhere today. In our homes, we have it in our kitchens in the shape of "hot handles" and it shields the pipes of our furnaces. Sometimes it is built into the very walls of our houses to make them fireproof.

When the earth's crust first hardened into rock, millions and millions of years ago, some of the veins in the rock were filled with a stuff called serpentine. It is this serpentine which is the mother of asbestos.

Mined from rock in Georgia and Canada, serpentine is ground up into soft white pulpy stuff which is very light and quite tough. The pulp is then broken up, cleaned and carded like wool for weaving into cloth. Ordinarily, fine wires are woven into the cloth with the threads of asbestos, which, being rock crystal, would otherwise be too brittle to be durable.

Ant and Man

Our sense of superiority is no doubt partly due to our worship of mere size: Aristotle himself would not have cut much ice had he been only the size of an ant. Further, Forum and Century says, we regard insects as very low forms of life, whereas, actually, they are as far advanced in the evolutionary scale as are ourselves. That is, we are the highest developed of those animals that put their money on a vertebral internal skeleton, while the ant is one of the most highly-developed of those animals that banked on a segmented body covered with chitin. But both are an equal distance along the road from our original common ancestor, and if a stable and masterful relationship with the environment is a fair gauge of progress there are many ways in which the ant has made a better use of its time than man.

Holiest Monks' Retreat

Inaccessible retreats once inhabited by "the holiest monks" have been unearthed in the desert and some ten miles from the Wadi Natrun, Egypt. The traveler, who carried out the excavations, claims to have located the site of the hitherto undiscovered district of Cellia, where early Christian monks lived so far apart they could neither see nor hear one another. The only occasions on which they met were on Saturdays and Sundays, when they assembled at the church—a central building which this authority claims to have identified about ten miles from the northwest corner of the Wadi Natrun.

Where Ebony Grows

Ebony is the wood of a number of related trees, found in nearly all parts of the tropical world. Its northernmost range is northern Bengal, in India, and in localities of similar latitude and climate. The best grades are from a certain species native to southern India and Ceylon. Another much appreciated variety is from Madagascar. Other places where ebony grows are in Africa, especially Angola; in the East Indies, and the poorer Jamaica variety in the West Indies.

Entered for Futurity Races

The name of the race in which horses are entered before they are foaled is "Futurity race." The dam is entered before the foal is dropped, or the foal is entered when a few months old. The race is not run until the foals are two-year olds. The three important futurities in the United States are: The Futurity, Westchester Racing association; the Pimlico Futurity, Pimlico, Md.; the Breeders' Futurity, Lexington, Ky.

ONE EXCEPTION

"It is strange," said the observant man, "but very few people are content to do what they are best qualified for. Painters, for instance, long to be musicians. Musicians long to be authors. Authors long to be artists, and so on."

"Quite," said his companion; "but there are exceptions to every rule. I know a young man who has been doing the same thing for years, and years, and he seems perfectly satisfied with it."

"Oh," said the observant man, "and what has he been doing?"

"Nothing," came the reply.—Stray Stories Magazine.

COMING AND GOING

"How are you buying your books?"
"Two dollars down and a dollar every time the collector sees me first."

Meant Well, Anyhow

Two sailors were shipwrecked. "Say, Bill," said one of them, "can you pray?"

"No," said the other. "Well, can you sing a hymn?"

"No."

The first sailor thought hard for a moment.

"Well," he said at length, "we'd better do something religious. Let's have a collection."—Vancouver Province.

Curiosity

"Why are you staring at me that way?" asked the man with the shiny dome.

"I was just wondering if you ever lived around where there were Indians," said the kid.

"No," he said, "of course not."

"Then," asked the kid, "how'd you come to get scalped that way?"

One-Way Line

Heck—This is a funny telephone you have; it doesn't seem to be complete.

Peck—It's all right, for my purposes. Heck—But there is nothing to it but the receiver. Where's the mouthpiece?

Peck—It don't need one. This is a special phone over which I converse with my wife.

Did He Laugh?

Trotter—During my travels in Italy I was captured, bound and gagged by bandits.

Miss Homer—How romantic! Were they anything like the bandits in comic opera?

Trotter—Well, the gags they used weren't so old.

Well, How Much?

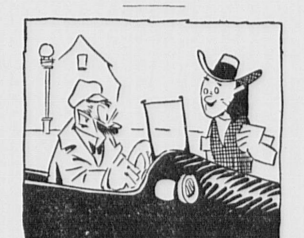

Two girls stopped in front of a counter on which was a tray of toothpaste samples.

"How much are these?" inquired one.

"These are gratis," replied the clerk.

"Yes, I know that," said the girl, "but how much are they?"

OR LESS

"Bought a horse, eh? The horse is a back number."

"So will that car of yours be in another year."

Evidence

Mrs. Asker—Is it true that Henrietta Brown has retained young Lawyer Pike to sue Jim Smith for breach of promise?

Mrs. Tellit—Well, all I know is that Bessie Black, Pike's fiancée, is wearing the diamond ring that Jim gave to Henrietta.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Point of View

First Strap Hanger—What! You say you're quite satisfied with such service as this?

Second Strap Hanger—Sure thing! It's ideal if you own stock in the company like I do!—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Answer

Teacher—Spell cloth, James.

James—(Silent).

Teacher—What is your coat made of?

James—Father's old pants.

She Thinks So Too

Mr. Thompson—I'm convinced that China needs a firm hand.

Mrs. Thompson—I've told the new maid that, but it's no use.

Forbidden to Wander

Teacher—Johnny, would you like to go to heaven?

Johnny—Yes, but mother told me to come right home after school.

Destructive Tidal Wave

Not Due to Sun or Moon

A tidal wave has nothing to do with the tide, but is caused by one of two or three things: Earthquakes, storms (which may be distant from where the wave is felt), and high winds. A true tidal wave is nothing other than the tide, says an authority in the Kansas City Star.

The tidal wave of science is caused by the slight bulging of ocean waters on opposite sides of the globe, due to the attraction of the moon and the sun. As the earth rotates on its axis, the bulge is carried around it and creates the rise and fall of the tide which is so well known to those who live along seacoasts and which occurs twice a day.

The tidal wave which does the damage to lives and property is not due to any attraction of sun or moon, and, according to the expert, there is nothing mysterious about such waves, even though they occasionally arrive in calm weather. When they occur in times of calm, it is merely because a storm has set up the gigantic wave at some other point, the wave continuing to roll until it breaks over land.

More than 36,000 persons drowned in the wave which followed the eruption in 1883 of the volcano Kraratoa in the Strait of Sunda. The wave which followed the eruption probably was the highest ever known. It reached a point on certain hillsides which was 115 feet above the normal level of the ocean's surface!

Fox Hound's Fine Sense

Of Smell Puzzles Hunter

A mystery to all hunters is how a hound, striking the track of a fox in the night, can determine in which direction the fox was running, but any good fox hound can do that and do it unerringly. It is not by any imprint of the fox's paws upon the ground, for a fox hound will unravel that mystery when the ground is frozen and when not even a microscope could find the trace of a track. It is done by the sense of smell, but how? Some contend that the dog muzzles around on the ground until he locates the position of the four tracks and can tell by their relation to each other in which way the fox was going. Others think the hound has such a fine sense of smell that, even an hour after the fox has passed, the hound can distinguish the slight difference in strength of scent between fore part of the track, where the paw hit the ground first and remained longest, and the rear part of the paw, which touched the earth for the shortest time.

Aldermen Favor Discarding Preferential Voting--To Make Changes In Ward Boundaries

Vote Zone Change at Chestnut Hill—Appropriate More Money For Pitometer Survey

A regular meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was held on Monday night. President Collins of the Board was present in City Hall but did not participate in the meeting as he is Acting Mayor of the city in the absence of Mayor Weeks. The latter has been taking a vacation at his country estate in Lancaster, New Hampshire. The meeting was called to order at 8:15 by Alderman Gallagher, vice-president of the Board. The first matter on the docket was the hearing on the petition of S. Hardy Mitchell for a service station and gasoline station at 1379 Centre street. A detailed account of this is printed elsewhere. This hearing lasted about an hour and a half. The second matter on the docket, also a hearing on a petition for a gasoline station, was quite brief in contrast with the first hearing. It lasted about 5 minutes.

The only person to speak on this petition was James P. Gallagher, who appeared as attorney for the petitioners—A. J. Wellington, administrator of the Parkhurst estate; and G. M. Hammar and James K. Loeue who seek a permit for a gasoline filling station at 424-428 Washington street, Newton Corner. Mr. Gallagher said this locus is in a business zone, that the proposed station will have two driveways, each 25 feet wide, and the old dwelling on the property will be removed. No person appeared to oppose the petition. A letter was read from Jeremiah McCarthy who owns a business block on the opposite side of Washington street from the site of the proposed station. He wrote that he does not oppose the petition unless it would militate against the granting of a similar permit to him. He stated that in order to get a fair income from his property, it may be necessary to replace the business building with a filling station.

No opposition developed against the petition of Joseph Roy for a permit to install a 275 gallon gasoline tank at 214 Pearl street. Alice M. Darcy of Boston appearing for Mrs. Bullock, favored the construction of a drain and sewer in the section west of Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, provided that assessments on this improvement will be deferred for six months or a year.

The names of four citizens were drawn and as a result the following must serve as jurors at sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court next month. Those who will serve at the Lowell sessions are: Michael W. Kenslea, 109 Bridge street; Charles B. Jones, 15 Locke road. The two who will serve at the Cambridge session are: William H. Medlicott, 90 Hancock street; Arthur F. Williams, 39 Adella avenue.

The committee of aldermen on the Mayor's inaugural address recommended that a special committee of aldermen be appointed to study the matter of a realignment of wards in Newton, and that the Legislation Committee consider the abolition of preferential voting at city elections in Newton. At 9:55 the Board took a recess to permit committees to meet. It re-assembled at 10:40.

The appointments by Mayor Weeks of C. Adrian Sawyer of 57 Dorset road, Waban, as a member of the Board of Appeal, and Lyscom Bruce, Jr. of Woodland road, Auburndale as a member of the Playground Commission were confirmed. A hearing was assigned at the February 19th meeting on the petition of John Janse for a permit to install a 1000 gallon gasoline tank at 443 Parker street, in a residential zone.

Appropriations made by the Board included—pension for Lieut. A. Lawrence Russell of the Fire Department, $988.68; License Commission for rebates on 3.2% beer licenses, $375; material for Civil Works Administration projects, $1000; Public Buildings Department, additional for purchase of new automobile, $50; Water Department, additional for pitometer survey, $3000, for extension of mains, $20,000. The $50 additional for the automobile, Aldermen Gordon explained was to permit Commissioner Hagemann to get a four-door sedan instead of a coach as originally planned.

Alderman Temperley said he wished to be recorded as voting "No" on the $3000 additional for the pitometer survey. He inquired how much of the survey has been accomplished with the $14,000 already spent and how much more will be appropriated for this survey? Alderman Jamieson, chairman of the special committee on water supply replied that the $14,000 expenditure has completed a survey of the trunk line water mains of the city, or about 66% of the survey. He said this survey had caused a number of leaks to be found and was money well spent. He added that the $3000 extra will complete the pitometer survey and will be used principally in the Oak Hill district and on the north side of Washington street between Auburndale and the Watertown line.

Alderman Temperley said that the 1932 report of the Water Commissioner stated that 30% of the water pumped at the pumping station into the mains was lost by leakage, and that the Commissioner has informed the Aldermen that the $14,000 expended in the pitometer survey resulted in 5% of this leakage being discovered. Temperley asked if the $3000 additional will result in the finding of the other 25% of the leakage? Alderman Jamieson replied that the $3000 expenditure will not find the other 25% leakage; all this leakage can never be found, Jamieson said that before the pitometer survey started only 69% of the water pumped into the mains was billed by the Water Department. He said that much water is used in flushing hydrants to eliminate dirty water caused by dead ends, and that the Street Department and the Fire Department use much water. Alderman Temperley replied that for the past 5 years these departments, as well as other city departments are charged for the water they use, but he supposes there is no way of metering water used at fires.

A loan of $2750 from the Couzens Fund was authorized. Alderman Grebenstein, as chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee asked that the rules be suspended to permit a vote to be taken on changing a parcel of land on Boylston street, adjoining Hammond Pond, from manufacturing to single residence zone. He explained that this small lot is 80 feet deep and 110 feet long and is part of the former property of the Boston Ice Company. The remainder of the property was changed in zone a few years ago, but this small parcel was not changed because a large boarding house was located on it and the then owners did not desire the zone change. The old house has since been destroyed by fire, the State took 35 feet off the lot, and the Newton Planning Board has recommended the zone change.

Alderman Cronin stated that Mr. Kinchla of Newton Centre (a real estate man) had spoken to him, protesting against this zone change, claiming that the lot cannot be used for residential purposes and should

Aldermen Would Have City Run Albemarle Golf

City Would Operate for Two Years as Municipal Course

A joint meeting of the Claims and Rules and Finance Committees of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night went on record as favoring the purchase by the city of the property of the Albemarle Golf Club at Newtonville and West Newton. This golf club recently went out of activity. It is estimated that it would cost about $170,000 to purchase the property. Petitions signed by 1100 persons have been filed at the Mayor's office asking that the city acquire these links as a municipal golf course. Of this number 800 pledged themselves to become members if the yearly fee is not in excess of $20.

It is estimated that it will cost about $20,000 yearly to operate the course. The plan suggested at the meeting of the operation of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night went on record as favoring the purchase by the city of the property of the Albemarle Golf Club at Newtonville and West Newton. This golf club recently went out of activity. It is estimated that it would cost about $170,000 to purchase the property. Aldermen Confer With Bankers

A conference was held at City Hall on Wednesday night between Acting Mayor Roy Collins, members of the Board of Aldermen and a number of bank officials of Newton banks. Frank L. Richardson of the Newton Trust Company was spokesman for the bankers, and other officials of Newton banks who participated in the conference included Judge William F. Bacon and Judge Thomas Weston. They stated that they are willing to co-operate with the Newton police department in providing better protection for banks in this city.

Captain Barrett of the State Police and Chief Hughes of the Newton police were present and explained the types of weapons with which their department are equipped. Among protective measures and weapons discussed were sentries placed in bullet-proof vaults in bank offices; armored cars, machine-guns and more shot-guns and rifles. The bankers were told by the Acting Mayor that the city government would take action to have the policemen provided with a sufficiency of modern weapons to cope with gangs of bandits. The meeting was a result of the robbery at Needham last Friday. One result of the conference was the authorization by Alderman Collins yesterday, in his capacity as acting mayor, for the purchase by the Police Department of a Thompson submachine gun at a cost of $271. He did this on the contention that an emergency exists, which warranted the purchase of this weapon, even though no appropriation has been made for this purpose by the Board of Aldermen. In his budget

C. W. A. Helping Many Women in The Newtons

Sewing and Knitting Projects Producing Many Garments

In connection with the unemployment census forty-three women reported last Saturday to the assistant supervisor for Newton, Mrs. Mary A. Coburn, for instructions. Most of these women are college graduates and they were selected from a large number of applicants. They started field work in this city on Monday in districts which had been laid out by Mr. Hosmer for the Home Improvement Council activity and which were again used in the N. R. A. drive. This gave Newton division a wonderful advantage over other divisions in this State. The enumerators report fine co-operation from Newton householders and satisfactory progress is being made.

The City of Newton sewing project has been popular with the women who obtained C. W. A. work. Those engaged in it have been receiving the wage scale of 50 cents per hour, originally specified; this week the rate was reduced to 40 cents. To date there have been 217 garments remade or repaired for welfare organizations, 3723 new garments made for welfare organizations, 1802 garments made for the Newton Hospital.

The Newton-Watertown division of the State Knitting project, under the leadership of Dr. Eleanor Mellen, has furnished many sweaters, caps, mittens and stockings for men employed on the various outdoor projects. The only complaint has been that garments cannot be produced rapidly enough.

It is not known whether, or not, the stagger plan will be used for the women's project. If such a plan is used, those women now employed will be laid off and a equal number of other women will be given an opportunity to earn some money. The national re-employment office, now located in the basement of City Hall will soon move to more convenient quarters and eventually will become a branch office of the State Free Employment Office at Boston, operating with National, State and City.

C. W. S. (Civil Works Sewing) appointments are no longer made through the re-employment office, as that office must make its recommendations on qualifications as recorded at registration. The recent appointments to the Newton projects for nursery schools were made under this ruling. Ten teachers and two nurses were appointed at $20 weekly. All registrations in National Re-Employment offices are put in the dead files after 30 days. Persons who wish to be considered for employment must contact with the office at least once a month. Mrs. Minnie M. Williams, C. W. A. Director for Women in Newton, invites the needy women of the city to consult her in any problem with which she may be helpful. She may be found at her desk in the cafeteria room at the basement in City Hall.

Raid West Newton House in Search for Needham Bandits

Arrest Man at Newton Centre on Wednesday

At midnight on Saturday a spectacular raid was made on the house at 12 Annapolis road, West Newton near the Waltham line. Participating in the raid were General Daniel Needham and a large squad of State police, Chief Hughes of Newton and several Newton policemen. Chief Bliss of the Needham police and Serg. Walsh of the Belmont police. The purpose of the raid was to arrest Joseph Castanino, 25, who had been residing in the upper apartment at the Annapolis road house for the past seven months. The raid was a flop, as neither Castanino, his wife or their young child were in the house. Neighbors told the police that the family had not been home for a few days. The police wanted to question Castanino in connection with the bank robbery at Needham last Friday.

It is alleged that Castanino, who formerly resided in Waverley, and for a short time at Linwood avenue, Newtonville, had been engaged in "nigger pool" activity at Needham and he was suspected of having been the "finger man" in the robbery.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday night Newton police headquarters received information that Castanino was at the home of his wife's sister at 1324 Centre street, Newton Centre. The information came from Patrolman Clancy, who had been watching the place. Newton detectives, including Captain Goode, Inspector King and Special Officers Charles and Frank Feeley went to the house and Castanino was placed under arrest and turned over to the Needham police. He said he had gone to Southbridge, Rhode Island early in the week on business, and had returned to Newton Centre shortly before he was taken into custody by the Newton police. He admitted knowing a man who is a janitor at the Needham Trust Company building.

Mahoney Heads List for Lieutenant

Serg. William P. Mahoney of the Newton police received the highest rating among the nine sergeants who recently took the examinations for advancement to lieutenant. He ranked second on the list in the examination for captain last year. The other sergeants ranked in the following order: Crowley, Bannon, Leehan, King, Burke, Meehan, Sheridan, Moran and Cullen.

Of the 27 patrolmen who took the examination for sergeant, Michael J. Sullivan headed the list in rating. Special Officer Frank Feeley is second and Patrolman Daniel Cleary is third. The others who passed rank in the following order: John P. Murphy, James Gaquin, Charles E. Walker, Robert Turner, Thomas McCormick, James Corcoran, William Whelan, Henry McDonagh, William H. Dowling, David T. Dalton, Charles J. Cody, Joseph Smith, Philip Purcell and George Hennrikus.

Protest Against Conversion Of Crystal Lake Ice House Into Auto Service Station

Centre and Highlands Residents At Hearing Before Aldermen Urge City To Remove Alleged Eyesore

About forty residents of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands were present at Newton City Hall on Monday night to attend the public hearing on the petition of S. Hardy Mitchell for a permit to conduct a service station and gasoline filling station at 1379 Centre st., Newton Centre, in part of the old Crystal Lake ice-house. Another public hearing on this matter was held on Dec. 18th of last year. At that time it was announced by President Collins of the Aldermen that this matter would be referred to the 1934 Board of Aldermen. The large number of citizens who came to the hearing on Monday night had to wait from 7:45, the announced time of the opening of the meeting, until 8:15 before the meeting started.

Edwin O. Proctor of Glen ave. was the first speaker at the hearing on Monday night. He said that he had not been the attorney for Mr. Mitchell on the petition, but that as the petitioner had to go South several weeks ago, because of his health, Mr. Mitchell had requested him to speak in favor of the petition at the public hearing. Mr. Proctor said that as Mr. Mitchell had explained at the Dec. 18th hearing, he desires to operate an automobile laundry in that part of the ice-house building nearest Centre st. This section of the building is 95 feet wide and 32 feet in depth. The strip of land between the ice-house and Centre st., 15 feet below the street level, will be left to grade. An office and waiting room will be erected on this piece of land. Mr. Proctor argued that the locus is in a manufacturing zone, cannot be used for residential purposes, and that to deprive its owners of some fair use of it is an injustice. He said the petitioner can establish an auto laundry in the ice-house without a permit, but desires the gasoline station as an adjunct to make the business profitable. He said that the residents of Newton Highlands, who comprised most of the opponents at the preceding hearing, mistakenly believed that the proposed business would affect the view on Crystal Lake shore, but this is incorrect.

Neil Leonard of 31 Kenmore st., Newton Centre, spoke in favor of the petition. He said that inasmuch as this property is zoned for manufacturing, such use should be permitted. He argued that as there is no approach to the lake from Norwood ave., no question of public safety is involved. Charles E. Bailey of 961 Beacon st. said that as the auto laundry will be away from the lake side, it will not be detrimental to the beauty of the lake. Answering the argument that the service and gasoline station will be a danger to school children, Mr. Bailey stated that no child has to pass the corner of Norwood ave. and Centre st. on the way to any City of Newton school. Arguing to offset the claim raised by the opposition that the grades on Centre st. will prevent motorists from seeing cars entering and leaving the service station, Mr. Bailey contended that the State law, restricting automobiles to a 15-mile speed by blind corners, can be enforced. He said that new residents on Norwood ave., who are objecting, should not have purchased homes adjoining a manufacturing zone. He said that the petitioner, Mr. Mitchell, has resided in this city for 25 years, and that anyone who has done so much for Newton as he has is entitled to consideration. Mr. Proctor added the argument at this time, that the auto laundry will employ between 15 and 20 Newton men. Francis H. Williams of Glenwood ave., Newton Centre, also favored the petition. He said he represented the Metropolitan Ice Company, lessee of the property.

Stephen R. Burke of 3 Norwood ave. objected to the petition. He said his property abuts the ice-house property. He said he is chief engineer for Coleman Brothers, a large contracting company, and is competent to analyze the development of the ice-house property if the permit for the auto service station is granted. He said he is acquainted with the type of business Mr. Mitchell proposes to conduct, as he has had his car serviced a number of times at Mr. Mitchell's former auto laundry in Boston. He disagreed with Mr. Proctor regarding the speed of washing a car in such a laundry. He said the laundry and gas station will necessitate a number of driveways on the Norwood ave. and Centre st. sides of the place, and thus there will be no sidewalks for pedestrians, and a menace to school children will be created. He argued that 5% grades on both sides of the railroad bridge on Centre st. prevent an autoist from serving cars coming out of the proposed auto laundry. He stated that he has knowledge of the methods used by big oil companies in obtaining station sites, and of the long stories they tell.

Mr. Burke said that recently several members of the Board of Aldermen visited the locus and inspected the site together with some of those interested in getting the permit, and objectors. He said that at this meeting, Mr. Williams of the Metropolitan Ice Company had stated that it was his desire to have the ice-house property used for the storage of fuel oil in underground tanks. He said that such sunken tanks cause more leakage nuisance than overground tanks, that the oil from them would pollute the lake, and that the city's investment in it would be destroyed in value. Mr. Burke contended that the ice-house is in no condition to be remodelled, that its wall on Norwood ave. is in danger of collapsing and some of the tiles almost falling off. He argued that 90% of the shore of Crystal Lake has been beautified, and the remaining 10% occupied by the ice company property should be taken by the city for park purposes.

J. Weston Allen of 219 Lake ave. said the city should allow no industry on the shore of Crystal Lake. He said, as the oldest resident of Newton Highlands, he has witnessed the development of the lake. He stated that if the people of Newton desire to show their appreciation for Mr. Mitchell, in return for his civic activities, they should express their gratitude in some other way than militating against the most beautiful spot in this city. Mr. Allen said that there had been two eyesores on the shore of the lake; Crane's machine shop and the ice-house. The shop has been removed and the bathing beach is now in its site. He told of the promises made years ago when the old wooden ice-house was burned and the owners of the property applied for the permit to build the present ice-house. These promises were not kept. He contended that Crystal Lake is one of Newton's greatest assets and he hopes to live to see the ice-house removed from its shore. He said the city should take it now by right of eminent domain. He commented that no person would favor the granting of the permit unless he had a financial interest in it or is a close friend of the petitioner.

Mrs. Harold Jacques of 15 Norwood avenue opposed the petition. She believed the noise of machinery which would be used

During January the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross received at the office 82 knitted articles (sweaters, socks, caps and mittens) and 595 sewed garments (nightgowns, dresses, etc.) a total of 677 articles. From the Distribution Room at City Hall 218 families, recommended by Welfare Agencies received 1991 garments. In addition 87 families received blankets and puffs. The groups of women sewing all over the city have understood the need created by the cold weather and have co-operated with the Chapter by returning promptly the garments they were making, especially the warm nightclothes.

Rotary Club

An audience of more than a thousand greeted Cameron Beck, Director of the New York Stock Exchange Institute, at the Newton High School on Monday evening when he gave an inspiring address, "Leadership for Tomorrow," under the auspices of the Newton Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. Mr. Beck typified the great dynamic, human, and sympathetic power to his audience that he exerts daily in the selection, training, and placement of graduates of our high schools in the New York Stock Exchange. He called upon the citizenry of today to guide the present day youth through home, school, and church to provide that much needed leadership for tomorrow. Education, he claimed, through which the stern and greater realities of life could be unfolded to our youth, would fit our boys and girls for the responsibilities of citizenship tomorrow.

The Newton High School Band gave a short concert prior to Mr. Beck's lecture. Their selections were unusually well received, especially Goldmann's composition, "Cheerio." The presiding officer was Harry Hanson, President of Newton Rotary, and the speaker was introduced by Paul Ellicker, Principal of the High School, who characterized Mr. Beck as more interested in the human values than the monetary appraisal of the personnel of the New York Stock Exchange.

This meeting in the hall was preceded by a dinner meeting in the school cafeteria where more than two hundred members of the local service clubs and their wives were served by Seiler.

From the opening song, "America," to the finale, "Auld Lang Syne," the energetic song leaders, Dr. Cecil Clark and Raymond Green, so instilled the spirit of merriment in the Rotarians and Kiwanians and their guests that good fellowship was at its height throughout the dinner meeting.

In a few well chosen words, cordial greetings were extended to all present by Harry Hanson, President Newton Rotary; James Forbes, President Newton Kiwanis; Paul E. Ellicker, Principal Newton High School; and Cameron Beck, the guest of honor and Director of the New York Stock Exchange Institute. Music was furnished by the Newton High School Orchestra.

Among the guests at the head table were: Mr. L. Frank Perkins, Secretary Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Perkins; John Lund, Superintendent Newton Schools, and Mrs. Lund; Dr. Charles Ansley, Chairman of Program Committee, and Mrs. Ansley; Walter Amesbury, Chairman Newton Club Committee, and Mrs. Amesbury; Mr. George Morin, President of the Boston Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Morin; James Forbes, President Newton Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Forbes; Mr. Cameron Beck, Director of New York Stock Exchange Institute; Harry Hanson, President Newton Rotary Club, and Mrs. Hanson; Andrew Seiler, President Boston Rotary Club, and Mrs. Seiler; Paul Ellicker, Principal Newton High School, and Mrs. Ellicker; Reverend Roy Lang and Mrs. Lang; Lyson Bruce, Secretary Newton Rotary Club, and Mrs. Bruce.

DUPLICATE CONTRACT TOURNAMENT

In the duplicate handicap contract tournament at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, last Saturday evening, Mr. A. W. Blakemore and Mrs. John C. Alden were the winning pair with a plus of 3550 points. Other plus scores were made by Carl Peirce and H. L. Dexter, 1910, and Peter Turcheon and P. E. Woodward, 1620.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON SHUTS OUT MEDFORD TO HOLD A GRIP ON SECOND PLACE

Newton high blanked Medford high 1 to 0 in one of the four Greater Boston interscholastic hockey league games at the Boston Garden last Saturday afternoon and by doing so retained a grip on second place. The strong Melrose sextet which has been trailing Newton forced Cambridge Latin to taste the first bitterness of defeat in a 2 to 1 game and the Ellingtons climbed into a second place tie with the orange and black outfit. The Cantabs' lead of a game and a half was reduced to but half a game through the defeat. The final set of four games will be staged this evening at the Garden because the ice will be removed after the games on account of the B. A. A. track games tomorrow afternoon and evening. Both Melrose and Newton have a slight chance to edge through to the championship should Cambridge Latin meet with an upset.

The Cantabs should defeat Belmont tonight and thereby annex the title for which they have been favorites all season. Should the Belmont sextet, which climbed out of the cellar two weeks ago by knocking over Rindge Tech and then lost to Arlington in a 2 to 0 game last Saturday, spring a surprise it will give both Newton and Melrose the opportunity to capitalize. Should the Cantabs and Belmont tie the two second place outfits can only tie the pacesetters. In either case the two second place teams must win in order to have any chance whatever. Newton is playing the cellar occupants—Rindge Tech, while Melrose is meeting Stoneham. Trouble than Rindge Tech is expected to against Newton with both the second place teams expected to win.

The Newton-Medford clash last Saturday was mostly Newton and the score would have been considerably larger but for the spectacular exhibition of goaltending by Joe Buzzell of Medford. Time after time he turned aside shots from the sticks of Johnny Waters, Tom Griffin, Captain Teddy Johnson and the other Newton performers. Three minutes after the start of the second period Waters caught Buzzell alone and beat him with a sizzling drive. Waters had taken a pretty pass from Jack Goodbar before closing in for the shot.

Waters' goal gives him the distinction of being the leading Newton scorer with five points made on four goals and one assist. He is closely followed by Tom Griffin who has four points with three goals and one assist. Waters is fifth high scorer of the league and Griffin is seventh.

Leo, with one goal and one assist for two points is the next Newton player on the list, in twenty-first place. The present league standing:

Cambridge Latin	5	1	0	13	310
NEWTON	4	1	14	8	9
Melrose	4	1	16	7	9
Arlington	3	2	14	10	8

Dr. Edwin P. Booth At Eliot Church

The Eliot Church of Newton announces a series of lectures to be presented by Dr. Edwin P. Booth, Professor of Ecclesiastical History in Boston University. These lectures are given on six consecutive Tuesday evenings from February 13th to March 23rd, inclusive, at 7:45 o'clock in the chapel of the church. The subject of the course is "The Life of Jesus." Dr. Booth is not only a keen student in his own field, but is an unusually talented speaker, always heard with great appreciation and profit. It is hoped by the Eliot Church that these lectures will constitute a real contribution to the spiritual culture of the entire community during the period of Lent. The lectures are offered without charge and the general public is most cordially invited.

"DINNER AT EIGHT" AT PARAMOUNT

Never in the history of the screen has a cast of the magnitude of "Dinner at Eight" been presented to the film public. The group in "Grand Hotel" fades by comparison with the list of stars in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's version of the Broadway play hit, which opens Sunday at the Paramount Theatre, Newton.

Here we have Marie Dressler as a flamboyant retired musical-comedy star, John Barrymore as a "has been" matinee idol now penniless and on the verge of suicide, Wallace Beery as a vulgar but powerful millionaire who can wine out his competitors with a jerk of the thumb, Jean Harlow as his cheating wife, Lionel Barrymore as a shipbuilder facing business catastrophe, Lee Tracy as a Broadway theatrical agent, Edmund Lowe as a society doctor with a weakness for his feminine patients.

And more to come. Billie Burke as a Park Avenue hostess, Madge Evans as her daughter, engaged to one man but in love with another; Jean Hersholt as a play producer, Karen Morley as the wife of the fickle doctor, Louise Closser Hale as a "poor relation," Phillips Holmes as Miss Evans' uninteresting suitor, May Roeson as the cook on whom falls the responsibility for the success of the dinner.

Each star in "Dinner at Eight" has a big scene with the various sub-plots woven into one grand smash climax. The story concerns a dinner at which a varied group of people are invited, and the individual adventures which befall each between the time of the invitation and the event.

NEWTON QUINTET WINS FIRST LEAGUE GAME—ALSO TOPS WATERTOWN

Yesterday afternoon the Newton High basketball team defeated Cambridge Latin High in a Suburban league game at the Newton floor, 20 to 8. It was the local five's first league victory of the season. With one more game to play, that with Brookline next week, the local quintet has no chance at the league honors but will strive to keep out of the cellar berth. The Newton team lost to all three of its league opponents in the first round and was defeated by Rindge last week for the second time.

In defeating the Cantabs yesterday the Newton team stepped out in front and was never seriously threatened. Charlie Flagg and Bill Spellman, each with five points, were Newton's leading scorers. The remaining ten points were distributed among five other players, making it a team effort rather than the outstanding work of any particular star.

On Tuesday the Newton five defeated Watertown High in a return game on the Newton floor, 35 to 27. Frazier and Flagg, with 13 points and 10 points, led the Newton scorers. The Newton seconds also won, 37 to 18.

Last week Friday the Rindge Tech team came to Newton and gave the orange and black its second trimming of the season by a 40 to 26 score. It was Rindge's seventh victory in eight games. Frazier led the Newton scorers with 11 points while Charlie Flagg was being held scoreless. Smith at left guard came through with nine points to help keep Newton in the running.

SPORT NOTES

Colby's Goal Wins

Warren Colby caged the goal which enabled Yale to beat Dartmouth at Hanover the other day. It was the second meeting of the two teams in the first of which Dartmouth won, 3 to 1. Colby's goal came in the second overtime session.

Ford Totals 389

In the Newton bowling league newell Club maintained its hold on first place winning from Weston at the latter's club, 3 to 1. Magnus took four from Waban and University took four from Middlesex, giving the Newton team a seven-point lead with four more matches to go. Outstanding in the Hunnewell victory were the three strings of Elmer L. Ford. The Hunnewell lead-off man hit 118, 113, 158—389.

Tucker Makes New Record

At the House bowling tournament at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening Albert F. Tucker made a new record. A three string total of 464 comprised of single strings of 98, 181 and 186 is not only a Y. M. C. A. alley record but is probably unequalled in Greater Boston.

Victuallers Licenses Are Not Granted

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Chairman Hill of the Licenses Committee announced that S. M. Leith had withdrawn his application for a common victuallers' license at 282 Centre street, Newton, and Patrick Sweeney had withdrawn his application for a victuallers' license to be issued in the operation of a dining car at 399 Washington street, Newton. The application of Mrs. Margaret Sutcliffe to conduct a lodging house at 81 Church street, Newton, was also given leave to withdraw because this locus is in a private residence zone.

Increase in Sales Of Nash Cars

More activity, public interest and real buying has been our experience this last week, says Mr. August Osterlund, President of August Osterlund, Inc., Newton Centre, Nash dealers since 1919 than for a long time past. The impressive values shown at the Boston Automobile Show, particularly in the popular lines merchandised by our company are having wide public acceptance and approval.

In the Nash line each model, no matter what the price level, is pleasingly styled exactly like every other model, and embodies the same features that stand for the utmost in comfort, utility and style. This year for the first time, every car in the entire Nash line is equipped with the now "four year famous" twin ignition system of ignition.

To the uninitiated this means two spark plugs to each cylinder—a system distinctly exclusive to Nash, enabling Nash owners to enjoy smooth or low of motor operation, more miles per gallon and decidedly more economy for the life of the car. In addition to Nash, priced $775 and up at the factory, Mr. Osterlund says that the LaFayette motor car, the only absolutely new car introduced this year, and low-priced companion car to the Nash, is also now on the way to a prominent place in their spacious show rooms at 724 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

The local outfit was handicapped by the absence of one of its regulars, and the toll taken because of colds. Andrew Kasper, captain of the Newton Y. M. C. Gordon Bass and Joe Herlihy at right forward, Andrew Kasper and Esmond Bailey at left forward, Clarence Patterson at center, "Hank" Mahler and John Joyce at right guard, and Harold Ham and Orville Remondorfer at left guard made up the Newton team.

The Newton Seconds suffered a 35-16 defeat at the hands of the Lynn Seconds. Herlihy, White, Cummings, Joyce, Orts, and Bailey did the honors for Newton.

Clubwomen Will Register Opinion On Legislation

State Mid-Winter Meeting To Be Held in Boston on February 14th

For the past two months there have been going on Legislative conferences in the various districts of the State in order that all clubwomen might become informed upon several measures that the Executive Board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs decided were of special interest for study or endorsement. Every district in the State, and there are sixteen, has been adequately covered by the State Legislative committee, of which Mrs. Russell A. Cone is chairman, and it has been a strenuous campaign for this hardworking committee. The Twelfth District, which includes nine cities and towns, of which Newton is one, had its conference on January 5th, inviting the Fourth and Fifth Districts to share it, as the guests of the Newtonville Woman's Club. The measures brought before all the districts came to Newton clubwomen's attention at that time.

And now comes the climax of all this presenting of facts and information—the Legislative Meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which is always its Mid-Winter Meeting. This will be held at the Hotel Bradford, Boston, on Wednesday, February 14th, the morning session opening at 10 o'clock. At this time speaking (Continued on Page 7)

General Federation

ART LECTURE. Tomorrow evening, the 10th, at 8 o'clock, over WBZ, clubwomen may hear the second in the series of Art Lectures, initiated by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, through the Art department. Mrs. Henry Ness, chairman, "The Early Settlers and Their Homes" is the topic to be presented, and gives promise in its title to be of great interest to New England listeners.

These radio talks have been prepared by Harold Stark, a Yale graduate, a former journalist, and at one time on the staff of the Metropolitan Museum and of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. They are to be informal and not for the museum-minded and art-wise, but for the people in their homes who desire to know more about the art of their country. These programs have the enthusiastic endorsement of more than thirty museums.

As an assistance to hearers, the University of Chicago Press has published an excellent short guide containing eight illustrations in color and 72 in black and white. This gives an important background for understanding modern art, artists and their best-known paintings, sculptures, architecture, and even early interior decoration. The Guide may be purchased at museums, art clubs, or bookstores, for one dollar. It may also be consulted in public libraries.

WORLD FRIENDSHIP TOUR. So successful—and pleasurable—was the Tour of last summer, the General Federation will sponsor a second World Friendship Tour during the coming summer, when that past master of world travel and events, Mrs. Poole, again will conduct a party, this time to visit Cuba, Jamaica, Panama, Hawaii, the Philippines, Japan, and China. The party will sail from New York on June 21st, and will land in Seattle on September 4th. The tour will include cities in which are located twenty-five clubs holding membership in the General Federation, all of which will be visited. The purpose of the tour as formulated is to cement international friendship and to promote a better understanding among the women of the different countries.

COUNCIL MEETING. Enthusiastic response greeted Mrs. Poole's suggestion at the recent Board Meeting in Washington, that some of the conspicuous subjects of controversy, of special interest to women, be taken up as part of the program at the Council Meeting at Hot Springs in May. Speakers for and against the dissemination of information on Birth Control and Equal Rights for Women will be presented. The keynote of the Council will be "Your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions" (Joel 2:28), having in mind that "without vision the people perish."

Preview Committee Endorses "Alice in Wonderland" Film

Now Showing at Paramount Theatre—Alcott Play at Repertory

"Old-Fashioned Girl," by Louisa Alcott, is the play for children to be featured at the Repertory Theatre, Boston, next Saturday, the 17th, with a morning performance at 10:15 o'clock, and an afternoon performance at 2:15 o'clock; the cast coming from the Children's Theatre, New York. Those interested in these excellent offerings for children will find this decidedly worthwhile.

"Alice in Wonderland" is the motion picture, a story dear to children's hearts, showing at the Newton Paramount Theatre Thursday through Saturday, February 8th-10th. Clubwomen are demonstrating that really good pictures will bring a record audience to view them as was demonstrated on Club Night, the 29th, when "Little Women" played to a packed house at the Newton theatre, in spite of the terrific cold. The demand for the picture was such that Mr. Snider announced from the platform on Wednesday afternoon there would be another showing on Thursday afternoon.

Of "Alice in Wonderland," Mrs. Poole speaks in these words, strictly a coincidence, and a most timely statement in view of what Newton clubwomen have just done: "I hope you have all seen those two delightful pictures, 'Little Women' and 'Alice in Wonderland.' Let's make them the two 'best sellers' of the year, and thus prove to the industry that the public wants good films and will make them financially successful."

The Pre-View Committee on the West Coast, headed by Mrs. T. G. Winter, former president of the General Federation, lists "Alice in Wonderland" first of those that are "Best of the Month," seen between November 15th and December 15th. It is a Paramount picture, directed by Norman McLeod, with Charlotte Henry playing "Alice." This is the Pre-View committee's statement: "A picture you must not miss."

Garden Club Notes

The Newtonville Garden Club will meet with Mrs. Horace W. Orr, 258 Mill street, on Friday, Feb. 16, at ten A. M. Subject, "Women Who Have Influenced Gardening in America," speaker, Miss Grace F. Andrews.

The February meeting of the Waban Community Garden Club will be held on Monday evening, February 19th, at 8:00 o'clock, in the Union Church Vestry. Dr. Wilson G. Smilie, President of the Club, will speak on "The Flora and Fauna of East Greenland." The lecture will be illustrated by moving pictures which cover Dr. Smilie's four months' cruise last summer. Members will bring house plants for exhibition after the lecture.

Mrs. Louis E. Phaneuf will preside at the February meeting of the Newton Centre Garden Club, Monday morning, February 12, at 10:30 o'clock at the Library Hall. Mrs. Walter H. Dietz and her program committee has arranged the lecture and demonstration: "Bringing the Garden Up to Date" by "two happy gardeners"—Mabel C. Greenough and Helen S. Randall.

RECENT EVENTS

Shakespeare Club

Miss Mary L. Sweeney, assisted by her sister Mrs. John Sweeney, entertained the Shakespeare Club on February 3rd in a very enjoyable manner, partaking of the nature of a Valentine Party.

A most interesting discussion on the entire play Richard II was led by Mrs. William E. Moore. In this were brought out the sharp character contrasts that were drawn between the compact, close-knit, sure-footed structure of Bolingbroke (later King Henry IV) and the tragic constituents of Richard's incompatibility in his character as an individual and his duty as a King.

The highly poetical brilliancy of the closing pathetic scenes of Richard's life were pictured, and it was shown that Shakespeare writes in Richard II an immortal lesson upon the royalty of God's grace and the law of inviolability.

Auburndale Woman's Club

"Interesting the Child in Internationalism" was the topic of a most informal talk given by Mrs. William E. Austill before a group of women of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Austill, who has been a student at the International Institute at Geneva, is also the mother of two children under ten, and she told of many ways in which children might be amused and at the same time instructed in the customs of people of other nations.

She was introduced to her audience by Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, the Club's chairman of the International Relations committee.

"The Use of Color in the Home" was discussed and illustrated to the American Home Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Monday evening by Mrs. Elsie K. Chamberlain, a director of the Chamberlain School. This was the second in the series of talks given by Mrs. Chamberlain on topics pertinent to Home Decorating. Her first dealt with fabrics and the various points which a person must consider when choosing. This second demonstration emphasized the colors to be used together, and the rooms in which they were to be used.

The American Home Group, of which Mrs. Edward B. Gray is chairman, is sponsoring this course which is free to Club members and open to the public.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The week of February 8th to 14th is being observed as Boy Scout Week in recognition of twenty-five years of that organization's existence. There is little question of the need and value of such work and objectives which are the aim of this growing organization. It is extremely difficult to realize all that has been and is being accomplished. Unfortunately too many of us are inclined to take such institutions and organizations for granted and it is only when we eventually are forced to do without them that we realize just what the true value may be. The Boy Scout movement has become one of outlets bringing our youth to love and serve his country, state and community. More power to it.

AN EXCELLENT IDEA

Ten thousand motorists are having an opportunity to give their views on traffic problems—control, road conditions, and other phases of one of the most important questions of public safety. During recent years we have looked for scientific solution of many of these matters affecting the safety of our highways and we are still seeing our accident total increasing. The ideas and suggestions of motorists themselves should prove of great value in discovering possible ways to reduce these accidents. When it comes down to a question of science plus the human element it is quite common to find the solution lies on the human side of the question, just as we know that all the science in the world cannot prevent accidents caused from a human fault.

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

The question of the ratification of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States regarding Child Labor is a question which requires much thought. That this question is controversial is apparent when we find such able and intellectual minds on opposite sides. Strong arguments are advanced by both those who favor the amendment and also by those who oppose it. What we are concerned with most is that the subject be one of common knowledge. Some fifteen years ago we tried to legislate on a problem of society and failed. Are we attempting a similar course today?

AN OUTSTANDING PERSONALITY

On Monday of this week a man with an outstanding personality visited Newton and left behind him much that is of value. Dr. Cameron Beck has long served in a position which has brought him in contact with young people who are starting out in the world with many problems. He has aided many of them in reaching the right solution. While in Newton he spoke before two assemblies of high school pupils and later before a public meeting sponsored by the two local service clubs. We know that Newton was well repaid for Dr. Beck's visit.

Gold Stolen From Newton Dentists

Burglars entered three dentists' offices in the Stevens Building, 263 Washington street, Newton, over the weekend and stole dental material valued at over $100. The offices entered were those of Dr. Francis Longman, Dr. Harry Longman, and Dr. George Fair. From Dr. Costello's office some gold filling valued at about $10 was stolen. From Dr. Longman's office bridge work and crowns containing gold were stolen, but some sheet gold was overlooked. Nothing was taken from the office of the late Dr. Fair. Since the rise in the price of gold and the demand of the Federal government for the surrender of this metal, many dental offices have been burglarized by thieves searching for the glittering material.

The fourth robbery of Newton Corner dental offices was reported to the police on Wednesday morning by Dr. Samuel Sherman of 277 Washington street. He said that his office was broken into and ransacked. The burglar broke drawers in office furniture and stole gold valued at $25. Entrance was effected by means of a false key.

About Town

The accident one afternoon last week when a big coal truck crashed through the iron fence on Washington street, near Walnut Park, Newton, and was prevented from dropping onto the tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad only because it came in contact with two telegraph poles placed side by side, proves the need of a more substantial barrier between the street and the railroad cut. Several times in recent years automobiles have plunged from Washington street down onto the railroad tracks in the depression. Fortunately, no train came along immediately after any of these accidents and a bad railroad wreck was avoided. But, such good luck may not always occur.

The flimsy, decayed, old pipe fence along the railroad embankment should be replaced in the near future by a couple of stout, steel cables, attached to reinforced concrete posts, or some such secure supports. And the fragile fences on the sides of the Saint James street bridge, over the tracks, should also be replaced by steel cables. Warnings enough of the need of these safeguards have been given. Why play with fate?

Under The Gilded Dome

Hearings before the Legislative Committee on Constitutional Law on a petition to have the State of Massachusetts vote for ratification of the Child Labor amendment to the Constitution of the United States have attracted much interest this week at the State House. Many proponents and many opponents have stated their views regarding the measure and it is likely to become one of the foremost questions of the present session. Another important issue is the proposed retail sales tax recommended by Governor Ely in his address to the Legislature when it met early last month. Late last week the committee on Taxation reported favorably, with several members of the committee and three others reserving their rights and the report was brought into the Senate. The proposed bill is now before the Committee on Ways and Means which will conduct a public hearing next week Wednesday morning.

Yesterday afternoon the Senate passed to be engrossed a bill providing for insurance of deposits in savings banks and it will be taken up in the House today. Undoubtedly the bill will take its third reading early next week and will shortly after be enacted into law. The Committee on Banks and Banking has also reported favorably a bill for insurance for holders of shares of co-operative banks.

By a voice vote yesterday afternoon the House of Representatives substituted, for an earlier report of the committee, a bill for the appointment of a medical arbitration board to determine the amount of compensation to be paid in cases of death of employees injured in industrial accidents.

The committee on Taxation has reported unfavorably on a bill to reduce the gasoline tax from three cents to two cents.

FINED $50 FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Loren Nauss of Gloucester was fined $50 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Patrolman Smith testified that Nauss drove along the Worcester turnpike at a 45 mile speed, despite the fact that a front tire on his car was flat.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The City of Newton ordinance compelling the removal of snow from stone and tar sidewalks within 24 hours after it has ceased to fall on such sidewalks, is apparently a dead ordinance. Last Sunday there was a light fall of snow which could easily have been removed from sidewalks on Sunday evening or Monday morning. Not only did a large percentage of residents fail to comply with the ordinance, but in the business districts a large percentage of store owners also failed to have the snow cleared off sidewalks in front of their locations. During the week the snow on the sidewalks became icy and walking has been precarious on it. In former years the police would at least enforce the ordinance in business districts.

We thought we had plenty of alcohol in the radiator of our veteran vehicle, so we only poured a pint additional into it last evening from the gallon we had in reserve. Three hours later, when we started the car, which had been parked at the GRAPHIC office, some of the radiator tubes had been frozen and burst. This is what one might call "tough luck." And as for those yaps who have been squawking for years for one of those good, old-fashioned winters, we hope they are satisfied with the weather we have had since last Thanksgiving. Incidentally, the Newton Steamship Agency, which we conduct, offers some wonderful trips to Bermuda, the West Indies and South America, at prices that are amazingly low. A journey which lasts 12½ days, covers 5300 miles and takes one to five countries, including Trinidad, Venezuela, Curacao and the Panama Canal, can be enjoyed on the MAURETANIA of the Cunard Line at the amazingly low rate of from $130 and up. Or one can take a 23 days cruise to the West Indies, all the way to Demerara, South America, on one of the boats of the Furness West India Line for as little as $135. Get in touch with us at 11 Centre Avenue and get away from this North Pole climate.

The bank robbery and murders at Needham last week showed how daring and cold blooded the criminal element in this country has become. This sort of stuff has been going on for some time all over the dear U. S. A. but because of hold-up and killings happened nearby, great excitement has resulted. Even a sort of hysteria has ensued; and a lot of boloney. The alleged inefficiency of the police is being criticized. Self-appointed synthetic experts on crime are telling the world what to do about it.

In our humble opinion police inefficiency is not the principal reason for the prevalence of crimes of violence. Other reasons are more responsible. Included among them are—the codding of hard-boiled criminals. When the police do catch those who commit crimes what happens? The offenders sometimes are placed on probation, given suspended sentences, their cases are not pressed by district attorneys, or they are given light sentences. If they are sentenced to jail, instead of being treated with reasonable severity they are "studied" and cared for by penologists, psychologists, psychiatrists and various other "ists." They are recipients of sympathy and solicitude from tender-hearted ladies. They use political pull and get pardoned by the Governor. Murder, kidnapping, crimes of violence have been rapidly increasing in this country, and yet the number of those who urge that the death penalty be abolished is on the increase. Only one murderer in two hundred is put to death in this damned land of ours. Thugs who kill and maim decent men, instead of getting similar treatment to discourage this kind of crime are housed in comfortable jails with modern diversions such as radios, movies and ice-cream machines to provide them with dessert. They receive pardons from Governors, including our Governor. They are assisted in getting pardons by members of the Governor's Council, who play practical politics. The people are taxed to pay for the hire of alienists who will testify that hard-boiled criminals are insane. The killers and bandits (and polite bank wreckers) are found not guilty because of some slight technicality, some alleged departure from the letter of the law, such as a misplaced comma, or because the killer was not taken to the scene. Murder, kidnapping, crimes of violence were taken to visit the locus. And persons who use their influence to aid cold blooded murderers to escape just punishment, participate in movements to lessen crime.

We see the sorry spectacle of a politician who has evidenced social amenities with at least one notorious criminal, appointed to an important law-enforcement office in this State. We see the same woman criminal in court recently charged with more of her particular type of crimes. And her attorney, who pleads for clemency, is a judge in a Boston court. We observe dishonest men, who hold high social place in the community, dissipate millions of dollars deposited in savings banks, wrecking banks, putting thousands of persons into poverty and suffering. And these crooks, who cause infinitely more widespread suffering than bandits of the Needham bank robbery type, are not even haled into court. They have close friends in high political office; popular political idols. And the public wonders why crime is rampant; and the police are made the goats. Verily we are an intelligent people; and this is a highly civilized country.

Much perturbation, and rightly so, over the killing of two policemen by bandits at Needham. But, don't forget that about twenty persons are killed every week in Massachusetts by automobiles, and there is very little excitement over this slaughter. It is the spectacular that arouses the human mob.

Good Mental Hygiene Helps Social Living

Following is the second in a series of real cases which show how the Department of Guidance, through careful study and training of counselors, has been able to help youth make adequate adjustments to life situations at home and in school.

This is the story of Alice for whom psychological study revealed the many-sided problems which were preventing her from making satisfactory social adjustments.

Tall, well-developed, blue-eyed Alice at first appearance gave no impression of mental ill health. She was conspicuous only because of her "little-girl" dresses. Nevertheless, teachers reported that she preferred solitude, was unwilling to take part in physical training activities, talked very little to teachers or classmates and was having only mediocre success in her studies, although working painstakingly at school and taking work home. Her mother was troubled because Alice was unwilling to help with even the simplest of household duties.

She had been in our junior high school for half the year, having come from another state. Physical examination revealed the fine health indicated by her appearance.

Careful study and tactful probing revealed that Alice had that "awful" feeling of inferiority because she had built up the conviction that she did not equal other girls in clothes and spending money and was so unwanted by them. She did not know how to get on with others, hampered by her self-consciousness, over-sensitive to every tone and look.

She was an only daughter whose mother had not allowed her to play with other children when little, fearing that they might teach her something harmful. She did not realize how this attitude was crippling her daughter's personality.

Alice did not try to help at home because she feared that she might break a dish or would not set the table properly and then her mother would criticize. "What's the use of trying? I can't do it right," she said, dejectedly. Fear of failure is bad mental health.

She adored her father whom she felt loved her, but feared he was disappointed in her because she was so big and awkward, and because of her poor school achievements. Her one outlet was the secret writing of poems, in which she tried to express herself.

Alice's needs revealed that some constructive action must follow. Her attention was first called to her unusually fine hair, which could be really beautiful if better cared for and becomingly arranged. One girl who tried to be friendly to her at lunch and to and from school was able to make some of the social adjustments which Alice craved. Home situations needed changing. Mother was helped to see that encouragement rather than criticism would bring the self-reliance and spirit of helpfulness which she was trying to give to Alice. Father bought her an up-to-date dress, of just the right color to set off her fair skin and blue eyes. Both encouraged her to bring young people home and to lead in planning for the pleasures of these friends. The English teacher made more opportunities for writing and gave praise for what proved to be real ability in that field.

As a result, Alice is now taking modest pride in her attractive personal appearance and is making her social contacts with her schoolmates with poise and confidence. She has a small circle of friends because she is happier in small groups and does not crave wider social contacts. At home she assumes full responsibility for meals when her mother is absent or late, and is not overwhelmed by some accident or detail which formerly would have made her miserable for weeks. She has made steady gains in school. She has had the joy of seeing a poem and some essays in print in the high school paper.

It has taken three years to build up a new mental outlook. Many people have shared in giving Alice the courage to meet reality, to welcome new experiences, to get a matter-of-fact objective attitude, and to grow in independence.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

The best you may expect from those who deplore the absence of "old-fashioned winters" is an admission that "this is something like what we used to have."

More About Get-Togethers

It seems that more than one person understands the feelings of the man who is delegated to arrange the annual dinner of his pet organization. A reader has reminded us, apropos of a recent dissertation, that we have overlooked the buttinskys who offer free advice. "What about the bird who calls you up and suggests that instead of the usual program that we do something different?" This correspondent asks. "I have had that happen to me and when I insisted that he give me some new ideas he merely replies, 'O, that's your job.'"

"Then there is the man who wants to invite a speaker that will talk about a subject that is dear to him but in which few if any others of the club are interested. He usually gets huffy if you turn him down. I have also had a member tell me that the club should give up its reunion this year and turn the money over to some worthy cause. When asked to name the cause he replies, 'O, there are plenty of ways of doing good.'"

"I can't forget the man who says that the price of tickets is too high and who thinks it would be a fine idea to cut out the big eats and just have a small buffet lunch—doughnuts and coffee or crackers and cheese. He believes we should make less of the food and more of the fellowship part. By the way, that is the guy who always eats more than anybody else and wants two servings of everything."

"I don't suppose this reform movement of yours, if that's what it is intended to be, will get anywhere, but I'm glad to see that you understand a secretary's troubles."

Invention, we are told in a volume of solemn proverbs, had a mother whose name was Necessity. It doesn't say whether that was her maiden name but implies that it made a great man of her son. He turned out to be a wonder and is still turning out wonders under his own name—Invention.

Now that we have got that settled, let's go on and be a little bit critical. Admitting that Invention has come to the help of humanity in practically every kind of trouble or need, it is hard to find just where the remarkable agent of science has failed. But he has, and you'll agree with me, I am sure, in this chosen example.

Nothing has been thought-out that will speed-up the taking of a group photograph. I'm talking about those that are made at conventions, or public dinners, midsummer outings or even amateur dramatic performances. The good old longing for a suitable souvenir of the occasion in the form of a photograph print has and will always exist. And yet nobody has come forward with an idea of lining up the subjects without a lot of fuss, changing places, discussion, adjusting the lens and shifting the camera.

Usually it has been announced that a photographer will be on hand at such and such an hour. This gives certain habitually late persons an opportunity to be still later. There is much running around in order to herd the entire group in one spot. When finally that is accomplished the photographer begins to look through his camera. It must be that the sight is not a pleasant one for he immediately decides that the entire perspective should be altered.

"Will that man on the end please move over there," he asks, and his request is really a command. "Now you two in front move closer together. Thank you." Back to the camera goes the photographer only to burst out again, with, "I'd like to have you, yes, you, stand up at the back. Yes, that's right."

The shifting continues as the photographer divides his time between waving his arms and running back and forth to squint at his poor slaves. Of course, it is finally taken—I mean the negative—but what a lot of work and waiting and worry the process has demanded. Ever notice that tired feeling you seem to reveal in one of those pictures? Is it any wonder when we are willing to suffer for our vanity?

"Long Winter Evenings"

It was with a feeling of cheerfulness and even romance or at least sentimentality that I used to read of "long winter evenings." They were something to be sought out, longed for, in fact, and part of a happy existence such as one attained who was at peace with the world and getting his usual share of good "breaks."

I was running over the things that make up "long winter evenings" and began at once to revise my juvenile notion of what they really mean. The first thing that occurred to me was the game of bridge of which I know so little as to make a pitiful spectacle of myself if inveigled to play. Lured by such blandishments as "O, you're only pretending—you're probably a wonderful player," I have sat down and endeavored to apply myself. It has been a painful struggle, practically in every instance, to keep track of my own hand, let alone that of my partner or the opposing players. Before the game is half way through I have found my "long winter evening."

Then to make a call and to find there are one or more members of the family who are radio addicts and who think that you are entertained if the loud speaker is allowed to blast continuously. "It's such company and they have so many interesting things," you are told. "Of course, if you don't like the radio just say so and we'll shut it off." Few have the courage to tell his hostess or host that the radio is at times a nuisance. The cowards, like myself, know this is one of the most outstanding of the "long winter evenings."

Suppose you are dragged to a public entertainment given for the bene-

Chief Randlett Recommends New Fire Stations

Chief Clarence Randlett of the Newton Fire Department in his annual report, recently submitted to Mayor Weeks, recommends that two new fire stations be built to replace four old stations. The Chief recommends that a new station be erected at some location on Washington street between Newtonville and West Newton. This station would house Ladder Truck 1 and Engine 2 and would replace the stations now on Washington street, opposite Walker street, Newtonville, and the Engine house on Washington street, West Newton, opposite Lincoln Park. The ladder truck station at Newtonville was built 59 years ago, in 1875. Engine 2 station at West Newton was built in 1873 and enlarged in 1895.

Chief Randlett also recommends that a new station be built between Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls to house Ladder Truck 2 and Engine 7. The Chief does not specify where the suggested new station might be located. The city owns a large parcel of land on Elliot street where the Street Department stable is located. This is but a short distance from the present house of Ladder 2 on Boylston street. Engine 7 house is poorly located on Pettee street; a dead end street. This house was first occupied in January, 1879. Ladder 2 house was built in 1891. The buildings at West Newton and Newton Highlands are fairly modern, but inadequate for the number of men who now occupy them. The structures at Newtonville and Upper Falls are antiquated and give poor quarters to the firemen who are quartered in them. The erection of two modern buildings, to replace the old houses was recommended a few years ago by the committee of fire underwriters which made a survey of Newton.

The city owns two parcels of land on Washington street between Newtonville and West Newton on which a fire house could be erected. One is just west of the present Ladder 1 house, opposite Harrington street; the other is the large lot of land east of Pelton street. Because of the speed at which modern motorized fire trucks can travel, the extra time necessary for the apparatus to travel from the proposed new locations to any part of the four villages affected, would be negligible. The advantages which consolidation of the houses would bring about are better quarters for the firemen and economy which would result in the upkeep of two, instead of four houses.

Gandhi Follower Speaks at N'ville M. E. Church

Hindu Tells of Conditions In India

Finney Paramanandam, a friend and follower of Mahatma Gandhi, will speak Sunday at 6:00 p. m. in the Chapel of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Newtonville on "Interpreting Christ to the Soul of the East." This meeting, sponsored by the Young People and under the leadership of Mr. E. Ray Burchell, Student Pastor's Assistant, will be open to every one who is interested in understanding the Christian situation in India.

Mr. Paramanandam comes from a Brahmin Christian family, his father being a leading minister of the Interdenominational Indian Church at Madras, which ministers to a large congregation that is made up mainly of poor, untouchable Christian converts and national Christians. He has studied at Calcutta University, Pasadena State College in California, and is at present enrolled in Boston University School of Theology. During his student days at Calcutta he was vice-president of the India Christian Youth League, which brought him into close associations with Gandhi. His life, enriched by numerous exciting experiences of those days, sounds like an adventure story. From such a background he comes adequately prepared to discuss the subject announced for the service. An open forum will follow the address. Everyone is welcome!

Aldermen Against Preferential Voting

He left in a manufacturing zone. Aldermen Grebenstein said this matter has been before the Aldermen for years and no injury is being done by making the change. Alderman Jamieson said that the explanatory letter distributed to the Aldermen relative to this zone change stated that the supposed present owners of this lot had only purchased it last December. He asked if the purchase had been recorded. Grebenstein replied that no such purchase has been recorded and only a deposit of $300 had been made. Alderman Cronin contended that the zone change will lessen the value of the lot and is not fair to the owner.

Alderman Temperley said that the route of the parkway near Hammond Pond was changed to satisfy a few persons at a cost to the public of $50,000. He commented that this zone change may be another like proposition to please the same small group. He said a petition had been filed with Buildings Commissioner Hagemann in December for a permit to erect a business structure on this lot and that no action has been taken by the Commissioner on this petition. Alderman Holden answered this statement by saying that a bill had been passed by the Legislature last year permitting Building Commissioners to hold up application for building permits where zoning changes are contemplated. Alderman Gordon said it looks as though some prospective purchaser of this lot wants to build a gasoline station on it.

Alderman Cronin asked City Solicitor Bartlett if the city has a legal right to change the zoning of this lot without compensating the owner? Mr. Bartlett replied that Newton has been doing this thing for the past 10 years. Cronin then asked Bartlett if he knew of any case where an owner has been compensated for such a change. The City Solicitor answered "No."

Cronin's next question to Bartlett was—"Does the City Solicitor think this fair?" Mr. Bartlett answered—"This is a matter for the Aldermen, not the City Solicitor, to decide." Alderman Gordon called attention to the fact that the large area of the former ice company property, of which this lot is a small part, and which is now owned by the Posse-Nis-School, had been changed from manufacturing to single residential zone without any protest having been made. Alderman Cordingley said that the Metropolitan District Commission wants this zone change made. The motion to suspend the rules was carried and the change zone made. The only votes in the negative were Aldermen Cronin and Temperley.

NEWTON SMITH GRADUATES INTERESTED IN SCHOLARSHIP BENEFIT

A number of Smith graduates in the Newtons are working in the interest of the benefit performance of the melodrama "The Double Door," written by Miss Elizabeth McFadden, Smith '98, to be given on Monday, Feb. 12, at the Plymouth Theatre. The proceeds to go to the club's scholarship fund. The following alumnae in the Newtons are serving on the Scholarship Committee, whose chairman is Miss Eugenie L. Paterson of Wellesley Hills; Mrs. Vaughan Dabney, Miss Helen Fiske, Mrs. Clarence B. Hardy, Miss Katherine Irene, Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy, Mrs. William B. Marquis, Miss Elizabeth Smith, and Mrs. Quincy W. Wales. Miss McFadden, the author, the producer, Henry C. Potter, Rollo Wayne, who designed the settings, and Miss Mary Morris, the leading lady, all studied under Professor George Pierce Baker at either Harvard or Yale, and the play comes from a successful run in New York, where it was the first hit of the season.

On Friday afternoon at three at the College Club the regular February meeting of the Boston Association of Smith College Alumnae will be held, with Mrs. Francis W. Tully presiding. The speakers are Mrs. George B. Ford, resident trustee of Smith College, whose subject is "Smith as a National College," and Miss Eleanor Hayden, '34, president of the Student Government Association, who brings news from the undergraduates. Miss Lois Cate of West Newton is one of the leading players in the three-reel film entitled "A Freshman Comes to College," which will be shown especially for the guests of honor, students at Greater Boston preparatory schools, who will enter college in a few years.

TO PRESENT CHILDREN'S PLAY

Louisa M. Alcott's story of "An Old Fashioned Girl," was planned by her to be a sermon against frivolity, but instead became one of her most fascinating stories. The book is but with the troubles, mischiefs, joys and dreams that go to make up the lives of children of all ages and nations. On Saturday, February 17, the children of Greater Boston and its suburbs will be given an opportunity to see the characters of this story brought to life on the stage of the Repertory Theatre. The Boston University Women's Council will present the Children's Theatre Co. of New York in this, the fourth in a series of "Six Plays for Children."

The names of Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks have recently been added to the distinguished list of patronesses of these plays while the work on the program and the selling of the books is being continued by Mrs. Ernest Rallsback and Mrs. Francis Flagg.

Boy Scouts Await President's Summons

The greatest mobilization of Boy Scouts in history will occur on Saturday, Feb. 10th, when President Roosevelt, in a nation-wide broadcast, will personally call upon them to perform an important national service. The nature of the service to be requested will remain a mystery until the moment the President addresses his audience. It is generally known that the Scouts will be asked to assist the national relief program in some practical way. If cooperation of the public is essential to the successful carrying out of the program a general invitation to participate will be issued in the hour of the broadcast.

The entire membership of the Boy Scouts, 904,240, will be called together to listen to President Roosevelt's message. The more than a million Scout parents and the 5,409,368 others who have had Scouting experience will be asked to unite also in meeting the President's summons. The extent of the vast audience that will greet the President is gathered from the fact that, with those named, there will be the 1,268,446 who were members of the Boy Scouts of America during 1933, and the 14,500 new Scouts who have joined the Movement since the first of the year.

In addition to the "Call to Service" the President is expected to draw attention to the forthcoming "Silver Jubilee" of the Boy Scouts of America which will be celebrated throughout 1935. In this connection it is expected that President Roosevelt will extend an invitation to the Boy Scouts which will pave the way for a national celebration to mark the completion of the first quarter century of the Boy Scout Movement in the United States.

Broadcast from White House

The Presidential Broadcast will go on the air from the White House at noon, Eastern Standard Time. President Roosevelt, who is the Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America, will be introduced by Walter W. Head of St. Louis, President of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Dr. James E. West, the Chief Scout Executive, will follow the President on the program to instruct the Scouts, who will be mobilized in almost every community in the nation, how the service assignment may be carried out. The United States Marine Band will play several selections.

In hundreds of large cities and towns Scouts will mobilize in armories and parks.

The Troops of Norumbega Council, Inc., have been asked to meet at their respective meeting places in Newton and Wellesley to hear President Roosevelt and to make plans for carrying out their part of the National Service when they hear what the President asks them to do. Troop President asks them to do. Troop President asks them to do. Troop President asks them to do.

The "Call to Service" will come during Boy Scout Week which will be celebrated Feb. 8 to Feb. 14 to commemorate the 24th Anniversary of the founding of the Movement in America. The Boy Scouts of America was incorporated in Washington, D. C., on Feb. 8, 1910. The 24th Anniversary for the "Silver Jubilee Year" and many activities of the organization during the next twelve months will center upon this objective.

The Annual Conference of the Young People of the Norumbega District took place last Friday and Saturday at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, with a large group of enthusiastic young people. Twenty-five churches were represented and five denominations. The new Young People's Council officers, elected at the Conference are as follows: President, Roland Jones; Vice president, Elizabeth Halliday; Secretary, Betty Wright; Assistant secretary, Ruth Shaw; Treasurer, John L. Allen; Publicity chairman, Richard Fraser.

The Council will sponsor, as usual, the Easter Sunrise Service on April first, at Waban Hill Reservoir.

Auto Laundry Causes Protest

In the auto laundry might be a nuisance. She stated that there are no sidewalks on Norwood ave., the street is never sanded after snowstorms, and the service station would cause added traffic hazards. Other who objected to the granting of the petition included Maurice Reddy representing the Men's Club of Newton Highlands, G. Harry Adalian of 230 Lake ave., John W. Gahan and Frank L. Hardy of Locksley rd., and William Minot of 6 Locksley rd. The latter said he had been president of the Dorchester Improvement Association before coming to Newton. He said the ice-house is a disgrace to the city and the corner of Centre st., and Norwood ave. has been littered with boxes and refuse since the advent of the outdoor market there.

Frank R. Ring of 1489 Centre st. was another objector. He said he had been vice-president of the Metropolitan Garage, Association of Boston and therefore had some knowledge of automobile service stations. He took exception to Attorney Proctor's statement that "15 men would be employed at the proposed auto laundry."

One resident of Norwood ave., whose identity was not obtained by the presiding alderman at the hearing, asserted that if oil is stored in underground tanks adjoining Crystal Lake the lake will become polluted by oil seepage in 3 to 5 years. Robert A. Claffee of 14 Trowbridge st. said the City of Newton has improved Crystal Lake for civic purposes and should not permit the deterioration of the lake by allowing business enterprises to be established there. Stephen Burke read a number of letters from citizens who objected to the proposed auto laundry. Alderman Gordon asked that a showing of hands be taken to ascertain the number of persons present in favor or opposed to the Mitchell petition. Five persons favored the petition; thirty opposed it.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION GIVES "STUNT PROGRAM"

The Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church gave its annual "Stunt Program" at the afternoon meeting on Wednesday. This program was made up of a stunt by each of the six groups. Mrs. Frederic E. Drew's group staged a rummage sale with the usual merchandise and the characteristic buyers. "The Battle of Blenheim," read by Miss Alice Nelson, was done in pantomime by eight ghosts, the offering from Mrs. Frank E. Norcross, "Studies in Still Life" or "What's Wrong in This Picture?" was presented by Mrs. Herbert Stevens' Group. Mismatched shoes and stockings, three-legged card tables, a diamond solitaire on the wrong finger, and one roughed cheek, only, were some of the answers to the problem in question.

Mrs. Waddledum and Mrs. Skinnyskins, the players from Mrs. Alfred Alexander's Group, whose names were most appropriate, each decided, after a neighborly little visit, to take up the diet of the other. No sooner said than done Mrs. Skinnyskins' full skirts began to spread and Mrs. Waddledum's figure began to shrink. Mental! No, just the opening or closing of two umbrellas. Mrs. Harold E. Magnuson and her group gave "The Song of the Shoes," with a white curtain hung at a height to show only the shoes and a bit of the dresses of the performers. The acts were done to the music of "When You and I Were Young Maggie," "Mary Had a Little Lamb," "Wedding March," Mrs. Ellsworth W. Poole, member of Mrs. John E. Driscoll's group, gave a real monologue portraying an unhappy luncheon engagement with a friend, Tea, with Mrs. Dagmar Young in charge, was served after the program.

In the morning the women sewed for the church. Luncheon was served by Mrs. George Cameron and her group.

to the public at a small fee. Mrs. Herbert E. Althens conducted the fourth in the series of Contract Bridge lessons which are being given free to members of the Auburndale Woman's Club, on Tuesday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Austin Eaton and Mrs. W. A. Stiles. While these teachers are giving beginners enough instruction so that they may understand the fundamental rules of the game, they are also including advice for the more experienced player. After the instruction period, time was given for playing several hands and putting into practice the knowledge acquired.

The afternoon closed with a tea as usual, Mrs. Joseph Appelt being in charge.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

A program of music rendered by artists of unusual talent was offered to the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands at the regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, February 6th, held in the Congregational Parish House.

Mischa Tulin explained briefly the mysteries of The Theremin and the process of creating invisible strings. He then showed his ability as a performer with his delicate tonal shadings.

The popular Baritone, John Herick, gave fine artistry to varied numbers.

Both artists were accompanied by a young pianist of the first rank, Helen Gordon.

The program was as follows: Tu Lo Sai (Torrelli); Mandolin (Debussey); and Der Ton (Marx), Mr. Herick.

Largo (Handel); Estrallita (Ponce); and The Evening Star (Wagner), Mr. Tulin.

Minnettel (Kramer); The Last Hour (Kramer); and Time, You Old Gypsy Man (Warren), Mr. Herick.

Old English Air (Johnson); Londonderry Air (Arr. Kreisler); and Melodie (E Major) (Rachmaninoff), Mr. Tulin.

Sea Rapture (Coates); The Pool of Quietness (Cator); and When I Think Upon the Maidens (Head), Mr. Herick.

Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes, Mr. Herick and Mr. Tulin (Theremin obligato).

Immediately preceding the program Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, chairman of the Legislative committee, cited arguments for and against the three bills before the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs for their approval or disapproval, namely, the "Ratification of the Child Labor Amendment"; the "Hairedressers' Bill"; and "An Act Penalizing Slander by Radio." The Club voted against the first bill and in favor of the other two bills.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Newtonville Woman's Club members took unbounded pleasure in presenting to friends their Annual Guest Night observance on Tuesday, February 6th. In spite of the zero weather every available space was occupied to hear the unique program, so ably arranged by Mrs. George Lowry Davis, chairman of the Program committee. Many beautiful selections were offered by the gifted and versatile Lyric Soprano, Adell Holden, accompanied by Benjamin Sebire, Flutist, from England, and Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, Pianist. Mrs. Nichols also is chairman of the Music committee of the Club.

The lecturer-entertainer for the evening was Dr. Samuel W. Graflin, editor of the American Aristocrat, and a man imbued with deep love for children. His "Life As a Great Adventure" was a powerful in its underlying message of love and peace. His formula for the great adventure, as he calls it, which can be successfully applied to any life, is first, background, or what everyone starts with; second, philosophy, or what one achieves or puts into this life; and third, what one gets out of it. He says all need a vast sense of imagination and illustrated his point by means of favorite stories of great men, which produced gales of laughter from the audience. Then all need a discriminating sense of value to assay life, for all are apt to confuse prices with values; and he stated that the twin perils of this life are pessimism and cynicism. Finally, all should have a motivating plan, favored with a generous amount of steady power. With such a plan, he declared, life can be most wonderful.

The Hospitality committee, Mrs. Henry M. Weidner, chairman, with Mrs. John R. Clark, Mrs. Alfred E. Fuller, and Mrs. George I. Whitehead as hostesses, served refreshments.

Clubwomen Will Register Opinion

ers will present once more these measures, for and against, and then clubwomen will be asked to express their opinions by vote of endorsement or disapproval. Delegates from many clubs will go directed how to vote in accordance with the expressed majority opinion of their individual clubs. This has been the object of the conferences—to get an informed vote from the clubs, rather than a last minute personal decision of uninstructed delegates.

It is appropriate that the keynote chosen for the meeting indicates the value and seriousness of clubwomen's attention to legislative matters. "Our Growing Responsibility" is the keynote chosen. The president, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, will preside. Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield, Mayor of Boston, will bring greetings. The remainder of the morning's program will be in charge of Mrs. Cone, chairman of Legislation, who will present the following speakers: Herbert Parsons, who will speak in favor of the Ratification of the Child Labor Amendment, and Alexander Lincoln, who will oppose the Amendment; Hon. Frederic W. Cook, Secretary of the Commonwealth, who will speak on the Radio Bill; Miss Lillian Kane, who will take the affirmative for the Hairdressers' Bill, and Daniel Bloomfield, who will oppose the same; Edwin S. Smith, Commissioner of Labor and Industries, who will speak on the bill regarding Children Employed in Hazardous Occupations; Martin E. Adams, President of the New England Council of Druggists, will also speak, and there will be still other speakers.

Strong Leadership Necessary to Solve Present Problems

Prof. Roselli Gives Brilliant
Address in West Newton

In a lecture scintillating with wit and scholarly brilliance delivered at the West Newton Unitarian church on Sunday evening, Dr. Bruno Roselli, recognized authority of Italian history and international relations, challenged the ability of democracy to solve present difficulties and to prevent a war which, if it comes, will bring unprecedented disaster to Europe and America.

"The day when miracles can be expected from the masses has passed," said Dr. Roselli, and he pointed to the Four power treaty proposed by Mussolini as the only type of alliance which can avert a struggle which would be so destructive to the white races that leadership in all probability would be surrendered to the yellow races. With the United States out of the League and now that Japan and Germany have withdrawn, it is not strong enough to control international actions. The masses can not be relied upon to prevent war because they will always believe false war propaganda and will follow the fides and drums. The only hope, then, is to place the entire responsibility upon strong leadership, declared he.

He maintained that Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany constitute a balanced entente, made up as it is of the two nations who profited most from the world war, and Italy which gained little, and Germany which feels herself unjustly treated. Mussolini, he said, would be a safe leader of such a combination of powers, as he has only recently become known as a herald of peace and can not afford to fail.

Dr. Roselli also made the following points: The visit of the Balbo fleet, and the proposed return visit to Italy of an American air squadron, show how distances have been wiped out. The American who thinks that the United States could stay out of another great war, if it should come, is dreaming.

Italy and Germany have submitted to dictatorships because they have seen the failure of democratic machinery to cope with their problems, and because they believe that strong leadership can save them. Even this country is moving in this direction, and the submission of the masses to the leadership of the president is little short of amazing.

The speaker said that education is not preparing for the right kind of leadership. It is stereotyped and the teaching is done by those who have been selected for their work by the letters which come after their names.

Regardless of their broad vision and their ability to teach, "Our Education," said he, "is like the little robin who spends his time digging deep in one little place for his tiny worm rather than like the eagle who soars above the earth and gets a sweeping vision of the world in which he lives."

There was a lively discussion following the lecture, which lasted for nearly an hour, during which Dr. Roselli showed himself at home in any field of international relations and exhibited the skill of a teacher who was fourteen years professor of history at Vassar College.

The next lecture in the course to be presented by the Unitarian Society of West Newton will be given by Patrick Braybrooke on Sunday evening, February 18, who is a brilliant English writer and critic. His subject will be "Post War England Speaks."

Boy Scouts Urged To Collect Articles For Aid of Needy

Mayor Weeks Issues Local Appeal for Co-Operation

Mayor Weeks has issued an appeal to residents of Newton asking them to contribute clothing, shoes, and household furnishings which may be utilized by the needy of the city. By request of President Roosevelt the Boy Scouts of the country will be the organization through which the collection of these articles will be carried on. Mayor Weeks' appeal follows:

To the Citizens of Newton: By request of the President of the United States, the Boy Scout troops of Newton and every other city and town in the land have been urged to organize to perform a public service during the rest of this month by collecting used clothing, shoes, and household furnishings which may be utilized by the needy of our city.

During such a period of distress in which the country now finds itself, and under the worst weather conditions which this section has encountered in years, there never has been, in my opinion, a greater need for articles of clothing with which to keep our poor people warm, and as Mayor of the City of Newton, I sincerely request that all citizens co-operate to the fullest extent with the Boy Scouts in this work.

Under the direction of Mr. Lyscom Bruce, Scout Executive, the house-to-house collections will begin on Saturday, Feb. 17th. You will be doing a worthy service not only to the needy but to the community if you will have ready to turn over to the Scouts all articles of clothing for which you have no further need. Other agencies co-operating in this work will arrange to repair, alter, and otherwise prepare the clothing for use.

Respectfully yours,
SINCLAIR WEEKS,
Mayor of Newton.

LEAK IN GAS MAIN KILLS TWO PERSONS AT NEWTON CENTRE

Aged Man and Woman Overcome At Pine Crest Road

John C. Crowley, 80, of 40 Pine Crest rd., Newton Centre, was found asphyxiated, and Mrs. Florence Queeney, 69, of the same address, was rendered unconscious by gas fumes which entered their home from a broken pipe near their residence on Monday morning. About 9:30 Mrs. Margaret Boyhan of 45 Pine Crest rd. detected a strong odor of gas. She notified the gas company and two employees, Thomas O'Brien and Thomas Hughes went to the street. As the gas odor was strong near the Queeney residence, the men from the gas company opened the door of that house, when no person responded to the ringing of the door bell. They found Mrs. Queeney unconscious in her bed. The window in her room was partly open. Crowley was found lying dead on the bathroom floor. He was partly dressed. He had apparently been dead several hours.

Drs. Andrews and Marston were summoned and the fire department called. The physicians pronounced the aged man dead. Mrs. Edward Dalton, a registered nurse, who resides in the next house, attempted to resuscitate Mrs. Queeney and firemen then used an inhalator on the woman. The police ambulance was sent for and Mrs. Queeney was taken to the Newton Hospital where she was placed in an oxygen tent. She failed to regain consciousness and died at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Queeney, who was the widow of John M. Queeney, was a native of Cape Town, South Africa, and had resided in Newton Centre for 7 years. She is survived by a son from her first marriage, Thomas J. Coolidge of Chestnut Hill; and two children by her second marriage, John Queeney and Edith Queeney of Dorchester. Her funeral service was held this morning at Sacred Heart Church. Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery.

Mr. Crowley, an old friend of Mr. Coolidge, had been given a home in the Queeney residence. He was a native of Boston. His funeral service was held yesterday morning at Dorchester and interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Roslindale.

W. Newton Youth Is Fatally Injured In Auto Accident

Joseph A. Brocklesby, 21, of 18 Murray terrace, West Newton, was fatally injured about 12:30 a. m. Monday, when the car in which he was a passenger skidded on the icy surface of Commonwealth ave., Auburndale, near the corner of Oakland ave., and collided with a tree. The side of the car hit the tree with such force that the body of the vehicle was wrapped around the tree. Brocklesby was sitting on the further side of the seat from the point of impact and was pinned between the seat and the body of the car. He was extricated by Metropolitan policemen who heard the crash at their station nearby. Brocklesby received internal injuries, a severely gashed abdomen, a fractured leg and a fracture of the right arm.

Norman Dow, 22, of 66 Eddy st., West Newton, son of Patrolman Frank Dow, who was driving the car, received severe head injuries. William Curry, 22, of John st., Newton Centre, the third occupant of the car, also received severe injuries to his head. The three young men were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance, and Brocklesby died Monday evening. In an effort to save the youth, his brother, John Brocklesby, gave a quart of blood in a transfusion operation which was performed Monday afternoon.

Besides his mother, he is survived by three brothers, William of Waltham, and John and Frank of West Newton; and five sisters, Mrs. Theresa Arnold, Mrs. Earl King and Mrs. Richard Tierney of West Newton, Mrs. Esther Thompson of Weston, and Miss Ada Brocklesby of Waltham. His father, John Brocklesby, died 17 years ago of injuries received when he was hit by an automobile.

His funeral service was held this morning at St. Bernard's Church, and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

A water main had leaked at the point on the avenue where the car skidded, and the street was covered with several inches of water with an icy bottom.

Charles E. Riley Retires As Head Of Stone Inst.

Newton Man Served Home For Aged 25 Years

The annual meeting of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People was held at the Home, 277 Elliott street, Newton Upper Falls, on Saturday afternoon, February 3rd. It was with a keen sense of regret that the request of Mr. Charles E. Riley, President of the Home for twenty-five years, that he not be considered a candidate for re-election, was received and accepted. Mr. Riley will however remain a director. As an expression of the high regard in which he was held not only for his personal qualities but also for his untiring interest in and devotion to the Home, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"The directors of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged people desire to express to their retiring President, Mr. Charles E. Riley, their great appreciation of all that he has done for the organization. He has been President for twenty-five years, commencing February 5, 1909, and during that period has given freely of his time and thought for the welfare of the institution.

"When he became President the books of the corporation show that its total assets were in the neighborhood of $50,000, and the annual expenditures were at the rate of between $5,000 and $6,000. At that time the institution was receiving income from the Stone Institute, a corporation formed to carry on the gift left under the will of Mr. Joseph L. Stone of West Newton. During 1911 under authority of the Legislature, all of this property was transferred to the Home and its name was changed from 'Newton Home for Aged People' to 'Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People.' From the Stone Institute a little over $100,000 in property was received.

"Since that time the new wing of the Home has been built, at an expense of a little over $50,000, and the property of the Home is over eight times the $50,000 it had in 1909. Our President has taken an active part in all this and the directors feel that it is largely through his efforts that these things have been accomplished.

"In addition to the valuable help given the Home on the business and financial side, Mr. Riley has given untiringly of his time and interest in order to bring comfort and happiness to the ladies in the Home. The kind thoughtfulness so constantly shown by him to each and all of the members of the Stone Institute family will always be remembered with grateful thanks."

To succeed Mr. Riley the directors unanimously elected Mr. Metcalf W. Melcher of Newton Highlands, a director since 1931 and Chairman of the Executive Committee for the past two years. Other officers and directors elected for the ensuing year were: Vice President, Seward W. Jones; Treasurer, Albert P. Carter; Clerk and Chairman of the Executive Committee, Wm. H. Rice; directors, Lewis H. Bacon, Russell Burnett, Mrs. Albert P. Carter, Marshall B. Dalton, George H. Ellis, Mrs. John A. Gould, Mrs. Fred R. Hayward, Seward W. Jones, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Metcalf W. Melcher, Charles E. Rice, Mrs. Charles A. Sawin, Mrs. George W. Bartlett, Albert P. Carter, Wm. F. Chase, Mrs. James Dunlop, Frank Fanning, Frank J. Hale, T. E. Jewell, Miss Eleanor W. Leatherbee, Donald D. McKay, Wm. H. Rice, Mrs. F. L. Richardson, Mrs. Cyrus T. Schirmer, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, and Mrs. Frank J. Hale. Miss Clara E. Frost was re-elected Matron.

The report of the Treasurer Mr. Albert P. Carter showed the finances of the Home to be in sound condition with the income from invested funds only slightly lower than during the previous year.

The directors passed a vote of appreciation for the co-operation of Doctors Thompson, Giddings and Wentworth and to Reverend Messrs. Shedd, Eusden, Hiller and McClure who have so generously given of their time in the interest of the Stone Institute family. Appreciation was also expressed to the different groups of the Elliott Church who have brought so much enjoyment to the Home with their entertainments and refreshments, to Miss Carroll's School who provided a most enjoyable Christmas party, and to all others who in countless ways have done so much for the ladies in the Home.

Newton Police Practice With Machine Guns

The new Thompson sub-machine gun purchased by the Newton police department last week was used last Sunday afternoon at the gravel pit off Grove st., near Riverside. In addition to a large number of Newton policemen who were present to receive instructions, others who attended the tests with the weapon included Police Chiefs Currin of Waltham, Millmore of Woburn, Fleming of Wellesley; Captain Murphy of the Metropolitan District Police; Richard Dwyer, instructor of the Newton police in revolver practice, and Dr. H. R. Brunton of the Police Revolver League. An agent of the United States Department of Justice instructed the policemen, who fired at a target from a distance of 200 feet.

SCHOOL HEAD IS FORUM SPEAKER; MRS. ANDREWS NEXT

Only Woman Member to Talk on Workings of Governor's Council

Mr. John Lund, Superintendent of the Newton public school system, in a talk before the Newton Woman's Forum in Central Church, Newtonville, last Sunday afternoon, discussed the policies in effect in the present school system. While a lamentable curtailment has been made in the school work throughout the country, he is proud of the fact that his teachers have borne the burden of the lack of funds and that no such curtailment has been made in the work of the Newton schools. He believes that children should be considered first here as in any disaster such as fire or shipwreck.

Supt. Lund explained the new plan of doing without report cards. He believes that too much stress has been laid on information gained by the pupil and not enough on the development of power. Psychology is fast gaining ground in the field of education. The child's behaviorism is studied from every angle, his mental and moral habits, his social adjustments as well as his achievements being considered. It is along this line that the children of the Newton public schools are now rated.

The children are given a chance to appraise their own work and a personal note, together with a general letter, is sent to the home twice a year, one in January and another in June. If, however, any trouble does arise, contact is made with the home. No news is good news. Supt. Lund expressed his appreciation for the co-operation which he has received from both the parents and the teachers in this new plan for showing the pupil's progress in school.

Mrs. Julius Andrews, better known to the citizens of Newton as Mrs. Esther Andrews, will be the speaker at the Open Forum, which will be held in Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Andrews is our representative on the Governor's Council, is the only woman on it and is widely respected for her ability and integrity. She will speak on the subject "The Governor and His Council," or "The Executive Department of the Government."

The meeting is open to the public and it is hoped that they will avail themselves of this opportunity to learn more about what is being done at the State House in this branch of the government.

Fire At Warren Jr. High School Last Saturday

Blaze In West Newton School Causes $5000 Loss

The Warren Junior High School at West Newton was damaged by fire early Saturday morning and damage estimated at $5000 resulted. The fire was discovered about 1 a. m. by Warren Boudreau of 238 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls, who was driving by in his car. He pulled an alarm from Box 353 at 1:02 and Chief Randall ordered a second alarm several minutes later. Boudreau's timely discovery of the first prevented probable destruction of the building. The blaze started in a teacher's rest room on the first floor of the school, burned through the floor, and spread into the woodworking room in the basement. Smoke, which circulated throughout the school, caused considerable damage.

The fire started in a couch in the rest room, and it is thought that a carelessly discarded cigarette may have been the cause. The previous evening the school was used by a boy's organization. Workmen started Saturday morning to repair the damaged rooms and the regular sessions of the school were held on Monday. This school was erected only several years ago at a cost of over $500,000. Its present valuation is $394,000, and it is insured for $275,000.

Aged Woman Hit By Auto at Newton

Driver's License Had Expired—Brakes Defective

Mrs. Mathilda Mathey, 71, of 109 Lexington st., West Newton, was hit and critically injured about 8 o'clock Tuesday night as she was crossing Washington st. at Nonantum square, Newton Corner. She received a serious head injury and a crushed left leg. She was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and her name was placed on the danger list.

The driver of the car which hit the aged woman was William Shriberg, 32, of 223 Linwood ave., Newtonville. Patrolman Halloran, who witnessed the accident, has obtained a summons for Shriberg's appearance in the Newton court on several charges. It is alleged that Shriberg's license to drive expired several months ago, and that he did not have it renewed. He is also charged with driving a car with defective brakes, and with driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

West Newton Man Not Involved In Needham Robbery

Castanino Was Suspected As "Finger Man" of Bandits

Joseph Castanino of 12 Annapolis rd., West Newton, who had been suspected of participation in the bank robbery at Needham on February 2nd and who was arrested by Newton police on February 7th, was released last Friday by the Needham police after they had become convinced that Castanino was not involved in the sensational hold-up of the Needham Trust Company. It is alleged that the man had been engaged in "nigger pool" activities at Needham and it was thought he might have given information regarding the bank robbery to the bandits who robbed the place.

In an attempt to apprehend him, his house at West Newton was raided on the night of February 3rd by a large squad of State and Newton police, but he and his family were not at home. He returned to this city from Rhode Island the following Wednesday. When he was released by the Needham police on Friday, he was re-arrested and turned over to the Belmont police for violation of probation conditions on another matter in which he had been involved.

Charged With Attempt To Murder Wife

Percy F. Crane, 36, of 34 Haywood st., Cambridge, was sentenced to serve 3 months in Middlesex County jail by Judge Weston in the Newton court on Wednesday for drunkenness and disturbing the peace. He appealed and his bail was set at $600, which he furnished. The charge against Crane resulted from a visit he made to his wife's home at 63 Jewett st., Newton, and an alleged assault upon his son there. Crane has been estranged from his wife for some time. Immediately after his trial in the local court on Wednesday, Crane was re-arrested by Inspector Feeley on a capias, and taken to the Superior Court at Cambridge to answer a charge of attempted murder on his wife on June 5, 1932, when the couple resided at George st., Newton. Judge Boudreau of the Superior Court ordered him held in $10,000 bail for trial after Crane had pleaded "not guilty."

Crane's arrest on the attempted murder charge was the result of a Grand Jury's indictment which followed an investigation by Inspector Feeley, who has been working on this case. On June 5, 1932, Mrs. Crane was taken to the Newton Hospital where it was found she had a compound fracture of the skull. She was unconscious for several days. At that time Crane reported that he had found his wife at the bottom of the stairs in their home when he returned to the house at 3 a. m., and that she had apparently fallen down the stairs. Physicians at the hospital stated that the two wounds on her head appeared to have been made by some blunt instrument. Mrs. Crane after recovering consciousness at the hospital in June of 1932, said she had gone downstairs at her home at 10:30 on the night preceding her removal to the hospital to ascertain the time, and then things went blank until she recovered her senses at the hospital some days later.

Mayor Weeks Head Of Committee

Mayor Sinclair Weeks has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Boston Emergency Campaign of 1934, according to an announcement made recently by Mrs. A. Barr Comstock, Chairman of the Metropolitan Division, at the drive headquarters, 24 Federal street. Other members of the local committee include Donald D. McKay, vice-chairman, and Mrs. B. Alden Thresher, chief of volunteer workers. This group has been formed to solicit all who have contributed to the 110 charities participating in the campaign.

Car Hits Traffic Signal at City Hall

A car driven by John Harkins of 30 G. st., South Boston, skidded on the icy surface of Commonwealth ave. at Walnut st., Newtonville, at 8 a. m. Sunday. The car hit the traffic signal, and both were badly damaged. Harkins' left leg was fractured. William J. Evans of Eighth st., South Boston, who was riding with him, received slight injuries. Both were taken to the Newton Hospital by a passing autoist.

Thos. W. White Talks on Coolidge

Thomas W. White of Newton Upper Falls, who is spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Florida, delivered an address on February 12th before the Men's Club of the United Liberal Church of that city. The subject of his talk was "The Philosophy of Coolidge." He also spoke on Federal income tax matters.

POLICE PROMOTED; MAHONEY IS MADE LIEUT., FEELEY SGT.

Department to Have One Less Street Sergeant

Two members of the Newton police department were promoted on Wednesday by Chief Hughes after a conference with Mayor Weeks. Sergeant William P. Mahoney of 23 Washburn st., Newton, was advanced to the rank of Lieutenant. Special Officer Frank G. Feeley of 9 Capitol st., Newton, was advanced to the rank of sergeant. Mahoney headed the list in the recent examination for the sergeants of the department for advancement to Lieutenant. Feeley rated second in the list of patrolmen who took the sergeant's examination. Patrolman Michael Sullivan of Edinboro terrace, Newtonville, was first on this list.

Lieutenant Mahoney was born in Watertown, 46 years ago, the son of the late Daniel Mahoney and Mary (McCarthy) Mahoney. He moved to Newton with his parents when 5 years of age. He was appointed a policeman January 1, 1911, and made sergeant on May 5, 1922. He is married and the father of five children.

Serg. Feeley was born in Newton 29 years ago, the son of James and Elizabeth Feeley. He was appointed a policeman in 1918 and for the past five years has been serving as a special officer, doing detective work. He is married and has three children.

In deviating from the policy he has followed, of giving promotions to men receiving the highest rating, Mayor Weeks stated that Feeley was senior in length of service on the police department and has performed very creditable work as a detective. Chief Hughes said that Feeley will have added influence in his detective work by possessing the rank of sergeant. Sergeant Feeley will continue to serve with the detective force of the department. The vacancy in the ranks of duty sergeants caused by the advancement of Sergeant Mahoney to Lieutenant will probably be filled in the near future when the Board of Aldermen will have passed the annual budget, and provision may be made for the salary of an additional sergeant.

1300 Newton CWA Workers Are Laid Off

Thirteen hundred men and women who have been employed as C. W. A. workers in Newton for the past several months, were laid off this week because C. W. A. activities terminated on February 15. It is expected that instructions will be received before this week has ended authorizing the reemployment of most, if not all of this number. Just what wages they will be given, and how many hours they will work is not known. If C. W. A. activities are not resumed at once, many hundreds of applicants will probably ask for relief from the city.

Investigating Deaths of Pets At W. Newton

During the past couple of weeks seven dogs and three cats owned by residents in the section near Parkman Park, Waltham and Taft avenue, West Newton, have died suddenly. The owners of the animals have believed their pets were poisoned. Dr. Bouteille, city veterinarian, performed an autopsy on one of the dogs and found no evidence of poison. One of the dogs was the property of Irving House, inspector in the Newton Health Department. Yesterday an agent of the M. S. P. C. A. conferred with Mr. House on the matter and will make an investigation.

"What Is Matter With Norfolk?" to Be Club's Topic

Interesting Meeting of Clafflin Club This Evening Is Open To The Public

"What Is the Matter With Norfolk?" will be the chief topic of discussion at the Newtonville M. E. Church this evening at the February meeting of the Clafflin Club, the men's organization of that church. Discussion of the subject will be led by James H. Sheldon, chairman of the Massachusetts League for Independent Political Action as the representative of Howard B. Gill, recently withdrawn as superintendent of the Norfolk Prison Colony and at present facing permanent removal by Governor Ely. Former Prisoner No. 77321 of Sing Sing Prison, New York, will also speak at the meeting from his personal experience in that prison, at Charlestown and at Norfolk. Following the addresses a discussion period will follow. The meeting which will be open to the public will begin at eight o'clock. It will be preceded by a dinner at six-thirty for members of the club and their guests. Dean Carl S. Ell of Northeastern University, president of the Clafflin Club will be in charge of the meeting.

Austin MacCormick, Commissioner of Correction for New York city says, "I know Howard B. Gill, as a member of the board of directors of the American Prison Association. Mr. Gill is regarded as one of the leading penologists of America."

The records show that 80% of the prisoners incarcerated at Charlestown return to crime when released. About 37% of the prisoners released on parole from the Charlestown prison are returned for violation of parole. According to the Boston Herald of January 12th, 1934, during the sixteen years in which six different Governors occupied the office of Governor Ely's administration there were 145 pardons granted or an average of nine per year. During the three years Governor Ely has been in office he has granted 127 pardons, or an average of 42 per year.

Heavily Punished For Attempting to Rescue Prisoner

Louis DeSimone, 25, of 244 Adams st., Nonantum, was found guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Wednesday of attempting to rescue a prisoner. He was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay $100 for court expenses by Judge James. On the night of January 28 Patrolman Taffe arrested two men who had become engaged in a fight at Newton Corner. One of them was a friend of DeSimone's. The latter was charged with having interfered and with attempting to have the patrolman release his friend. In the Newton Court the following day he was sentenced to serve three months in jail and he appealed.

Burglars Enter F. A. Day School

A burglar entered the F. A. Day junior high school at Newtonville over the weekend and stole a large number of keys. The burglar, or burglars went through the building and not only removed many keys from doors but also broke a cabinet in the principal's office and stole a number of keys from a drawer. As none of the doors at the school were forced, entrance to the building is supposed to have been effected by means of some key which fitted a lock on one of the outer doors.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

SMITH BREAKS WRIST AS NEWTON FIVE WINS: BROOKLINE TOPS LOCALS

Alfred Smith, guard on the Newton High School basketball team, fractured a wrist Tuesday afternoon in a scramble for the ball during the game with Natick High which Newton won 30 to 26. The orange and black five led the visitors all the way with Smith, Claude Frazier and Jimmy Brynes leading the scoring with six points each.

In a preliminary game the Natick seconds defeated the Newton seconds, 18 to 16.

Yesterday afternoon in its final game of the season the Newton High quintet lost another last minute decision to the Brookline High School five at Brookline, 14 to 16. "Ace" Crowley of the Wealthy Town quintet caged two last minute baskets to give his team the winning edge. At the end of the first period Newton led 7 to 5 and the second period was scoreless. It was even-Stephen for most of the final half until Crowley's baskets turned the trick. Frazier was outstanding for Newton with 8 points.

OUR LADY HOLDS SECOND PLACE IN CATHOLIC LEAGUE

Our Lady High strengthened its hold on second place in the Greater Boston Catholic High School League by defeating Mission High of Roxbury, 28 to 13 on the Newton floor. It was a one-sided battle all the way with McCarthy of Our Lady High the individual high scorer with ten points.

On Tuesday the Our Lady quintet defeated St. Charles High at Waltham by a 30 to 18 score.

NEWTON AGAIN GETS TOUGH BREAK IN RELAY RACE AT B.A.A. GAMES

A few years ago Newton high, with a wonderfully balanced track team, earned the team honors at the annual B. A. A. meet, only to have its feat somewhat smirched by official muddling in the final race of the afternoon between Huntington School and Worcester Academy. In that event an official sent a pair of runners on the track a lap sooner than was proper and consequently the time for the race was incorrect. The dispute placed the outcome of the meet in doubt but finally Newton was awarded the honors.

Last Saturday a similar error occurred in the Newton-Brookline race which, although it made no difference on the outcome of team honors, it may well have prevented the orange and black from chalking up the fastest time in the mile relay. Coach Don Enoch of Newton and primed his quartet of John Connolly, Thomas Fitzgerald, Captain Louis Miller, and Allan Freeman for this one purpose. The team was opposed to the Brookline four comprised of Abraham Aronson, Jacques Abel, H. Sklar, and L. Anderson. Fitzgerald and Abel were relieved after running but two laps each instead of the regular three. The error was discovered as the anchor men were on their third lap and they were sent around on a fourth trip. A couple of seconds were lost in communicating this over to Freeman who jogged the fourth lap while the Brookline anchor was pretty well played out.

Next week Saturday the Newton team competes in the annual Andover interscholastics.

Next Wednesday Coach Enoch will enter two relay teams in the carnival at the Boston Garden to be held in conjunction with the Dedham-Hyde Park dual meet. Twenty-four schools have entered teams in two classes. Newton's teams will run in Class A with other large high schools. The two events will be a mile relay with each runner having a quarter mile leg and a mile event in which the distances of the four runners will vary up to a half mile for the third runner.

SPORT NOTES

Spain Again Stars

Frank Spain again was a star for Dartmouth in the hockey team victory over Harvard at Hanover last Saturday. Although the former Newton High star did not tally any of the Green's goals he was the factor in two instances in helping his mates to a 4 to 1 victory. The Crimson could not stop the bewildering Green offense which was almost entirely a passing game with few individual dashes down the rink. Spain carried the disc down the side of the rink and laid a perfect pass on Paul Guobord's stick in front of the Crimson net early in the second period. The Melrose youth blazed away to beat Capt. deGivie in the Harvard net. Later, after a half minute of play in the third session Spain's pass was picked up by Wilbur Powers, another local youth, for the third Green tally. It was Powers' first game for some time as he has been out of action with a severe cold since the Yale game. Bob Bennett, the third Newton athlete on the Dartmouth team, played a floating defence game while the Green lines were attacking.

Gallagher's String Broken
Captain Herb Gallagher's string of consecutive games in which he has tallied at least one goal was broken on Tuesday night when he went scoreless in a 6 to 2 victory for Northeastern over New Hampshire. In the past twenty-two games in which the Newton youth has played for the Huskies he has tallied at least one goal in each game for a total of 37 goals and 32 assists for a total of 69 points. However, Gallagher was outstanding in the victory over the Wildcats as three of his passes were directly responsible for winning scores. Freddy Schipper, a former Newton high athlete, now playing centre ice for the Boston Bruins, scored both of the winning team's tallies. His first goal in the first minute of play was on a brilliant solo dash while his second tally came after the game was sewed up by the Huskies.

O'Neil Clinches Berth
Jimmie O'Neil of Hawthorne st., Newton, a former athletic star at Our Lady high school, is now attending Bridgton Academy, where he is making good both as a student and athlete. Last fall O'Neil won his letter in football and this winter after a hard struggle has won the regular centre berth on the varsity basketball team. He is also on the student honor roll. Before graduating from Our Lady high he also played baseball and is expected to make the Bridgton nine this coming spring.

Local Athletes in B. A. A. Games

In addition to Milton Green several other local athletes participated in the B. A. A. track games at the Garden last Saturday night. Carl Pesco of Harvard took second in the fourth heat of the dash and second in the third semi-final to qualify for the final in which he failed to place behind Bell of M. I. T. Art Janneil, of Fordham, a former Lynn star and schoolboy opponent of Pesky's and Alfred Hicks, former Boston schoolboy sprinter, Dick Jarrell ran the anchor leg on the M. I. T. varsity mile relay team which placed third against New York Univ. and Princeton. Muscoe S. Porter ran lead-off for the winning Huntington school team in the Prep school mile relay race against Andover Academy. Gordon B. Wilkes ran lead off man for the M. I. T. freshman quartet in its mile relay race against Holy Cross, Boston College and Northeastern. M. I. T. placed third with Holy Cross and B. C. taking first and second.

NEWTON BEATS RINDGE TO FINISH IN SECOND AS MELROSE SIX TIE

Newton High finished in second place in the Greater Boston Interscholastic hockey league as the season ended last week Friday afternoon at the Boston Garden with the Cambridge Latin sextet winning the 1934 team honors. The Cantabs tucked away the championship by virtue of a 4 to 1 victory over the Belmont sextet, 1933 winners, as was generally expected. Steady improvement upon the part of the Belmont six in its more recent games had given some hope to a possible defeat of the Cantabs thus permitting the Newton sextet or the Melrose puck chasers the opportunity to slip through. A tie between Cambridge and Belmont would have given Newton a first place tie. Newton clung to the end in its bid for the title, blanking Rindge Tech, cellar occupants, in a 4 to 0 set. Melrose flubbed its chances of keeping on even terms with Newton when held to a 1-1 tie by the strong Stoneham outfit. Arlington jumped to a third place tie with Melrose by trouncing Medford in a 5 to 1 game.

Newton's effort for the season with five victories, one tie and one defeat is rather remarkable when it is considered that Coach Dr. Oscar Martin had but one letter man, Capt. Teddy Johnson, of the 1933 sextet available this year. In its first game Newton jumped out to a 3 to 0 lead over Arlington but when the final whistle blew the two teams were tied at 4 points each. The orange and black sextet then swept through the rest of the league teams with the exception of the strong and veteran Cambridge Latin team. Among Newton's victims was the Melrose outfit which tasted defeat for the second time in a string of three years. Incidentally this defeat by Newton was the only game in the Melrose column of losses as Coach Poole's charges defeated Cambridge as the latter sextet was stepping out to a comfortable lead. The Melrose victory hauled the Cantabs back right where it was possible for Newton or Melrose to slip through.

The 4 to 0 victory by the Newton team last Friday saw sophomore Ernie McLeod caging three tallies. Tom Griffin turned in two assists and Johnny Waters one assist. McLeod's three points brought him from obscurity to a triple tie for seventh place in the standing of high scorers. He wound up the season with four goals and one assist for five points. Waters and Griffin lead the Newton scorers with six points. Waters made four goals and three assists. Both Newton players are tied with two Stoneham players for third place. Gerry Desrosiers of Cambridge leads the scorers with ten points and Lax of Arlington is in second with seven points. The Newton team had the distinction of leading the league in the fewest number of minutes penalty with but eighteen minutes total. Capt. Teddy Johnson spent eight minutes in the penalty box to top the Newton players.

The final league standing:
	Games			Goals
	W	T	L	For	Agst	Pts
Camb. Latin	6	0	1	17	4	12
NEWTON	5	1	1	18	8	11
Melrose	4	2	1	17	8	10

Walter Billings, Newton Upper Falls athletic contribution to Bowdoin's four goals in beating Colby College, 4 to 1 Saturday at Waterville. The victory gave Bowdoin the lead in the State series. George Hildreth of Auburndale is the regular centre on the Polar Bear six.

Brae Burn Wins, 2 to 1

The Brae Burn club hockey team defeated the Harvard Jayvees last Saturday at the West Newton club's rink, 2 to 1. Jack and Capt. Jim Hutchinson accounted for the club team's goals. Bob Waldinger of Newton Centre, a former Country Day athlete, performed exceptionally in the net for the club team.

Green Takes Second

Milton Green who transferred this year from Cornell to Harvard and thus will not be eligible to compete in college athletics until next season ran unattached in the B. A. A. meet last Saturday night. He entered the 45-yard hurdles and looked impressive winning his trial and semi-final heat. In the finals he got a bad start and was behind Fritz Pollard, son of the former Brown Negro star of twenty years ago by fully three feet at the first hurdle. Green was even going behind the final barrier but Pollard nipped him off on the sprint to the tape.

NASH is shooting ahead faster and faster—every day a greater favorite—as an aftermath of the Automobile Shows in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Detroit, Chicago, and other cities. One record after another. Success is pyramiding!

Biggest November since 1929! Biggest December since 1926! Biggest January since 1929! In three months alone, shipments of 1934 Nash cars have passed by 20% the total year's production of Nash 1933 models!

Thousands are saying of the 1934 Nash . . . "That's the car I want to own!" And they're saying it with orders!

They want a Nash for the smartness of Nash "Speed-street" style. For the skill of Nash engineering. For the snap and dash of Nash Twin Ignition valve-in-head performance. For the luxury of Nash coachwork. For the comfort of Nash riding quality—with or without individually-sprung front wheels (optional at slight extra cost).

You'll know quick enough why Nash is clicking if you'll just take a trial drive in a 1934 Nash. You'll know it every time you sprint around cars in traffic. You'll know it every time you climb a hill. You'll know it every time you round a curve. You'll know it every time you apply the brakes. Good? It's great! The proof is in a ride!

Rotary Club

"Meeting Changing Conditions" was the subject of a very informal and personal talk by B. C. Larrabee, Vice President of the Sheldon School, on Monday at the Newton Rotary Club.

The speaker aptly illustrated his talk, which was rich in practical examples, by frequent reference to Rotary's motto: "He profits most who serves best." He placed as an ideal of service that service that is always above self. Mr. Larrabee gave four stimulating questions to the Rotarians as a code on self human engineering, or the science and art of self development, control, and use of personal capacities.

1. How do you handle yourself under all conditions?
2. How do you handle people? Co-workers?
3. How do you handle ideas?
4. How do you handle things?

These questions were all illustrated by stories of life's experiences by the speaker.

The club had as guests: Harding Greene, James Sumner, Calvin Flint, Cambridge; Walter Barnes, Boston, and David Sutton, Waban.

The club enjoyed table favors in honor of Abraham Lincoln and as a gift from the president, Harry Hanson.

Terraplane and Hudson crankshafts each have eight compensating counterweights forged integrally with the shaft.

Mrs. Foster Cousins and Mrs. Thomas Peterson are in charge of properties.

DRAMATEURS TO PRESENT PLAY

The Dramateurs present on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, February 21 and 22, Boyd Smith's stirring drama "The Patriarch," a story of the Allegheny Mountain folk of West Virginia.

This strong and moving portrayal of a primitive but sturdy and righteous people is a product of a young dramatist out of the well known Prof. Baker's workshop at Yale University, and was used as the dedicatory play for their new play house. It was afterward presented professionally and very successfully in New York and elsewhere.

A very strong cast has been selected, consisting of Willis C. Pattison, Bessie Warren Skelton, Allan Bliss, Irving Whittemore, Martha Olcott and Arthur Shute, and one of the more worth while events in the history of the Dramateurs is expected. The play is being directed by William C. Grabe, who is experienced in both the amateur and professional theatre. It will be presented at the New Church Auditorium on Highland avenue, Newtonville.

FRATERNITY LODGE CHORUS DANCE

A George Washington birthday dance has been arranged by the dance committee of Fraternity Lodge Chorus of Newton, to be held on Wednesday evening, February 21st, at Temple Hall, Masonic building, Newtonville.

Music will be furnished by a well known college band whose members tour Europe during vacation season. Playing at the leading casinos in France, Switzerland and Italy.

The committee is sparing no expense to give the residents of Newton and vicinity, the snappiest dance program they have had in years and also plan "surprise" numbers which promise to be features in the evening's entertainment.

The dance (which is informal) will begin at 8 p. m.

Faneuil Fruit Exchange Opens At Newtonville

The Faneuil Fruit Exchange announces that it will soon open a branch store at 320 Walnut street, Newtonville. The owners of this business began in a comparatively small way by conducting a wholesale and commission fruit and produce business at Faneuil Hall Market, Boston. Selling merchandise of excellent quality, and giving unusual service to its patrons, which include Boston and suburban hotels, hospitals, colleges and clubs, expansion was found necessary to give housewives in Boston and vicinity facilities to purchase best quality fruit and vegetables at moderate, Boston prices. Branch stores were therefore established at 259-267 Massachusetts avenue, Boston (reputed to be the world's largest fruit store); 1940 Beacon street, Brookline and 367 Huntington avenue, Boston.

The enthusiastic response from retail buyers in Boston and its suburbs has prompted the Faneuil Fruit Exchange to open the new store at Newtonville.

RADIO ROBINS CONCERT

The Radio Robins and the Little Players Club, made up of Newton Centre children, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Wood Russell, gave their second winter performance in the auditorium of the Mason School recently, before a very large and pleased audience. The program consisted of choruses by the singing club, which were well done, several vocal solos, including "Sing a Little Low Down Tune," with accompanying dance in Chinese costume, by Marian Cappadona; "Goodbye," by Gloria Fiorin; "Sweetheart," by Marguerite Burke, and the solo part in "Funiculi, Funicula," by David Goodnough. There was a Dutch dance in appropriate garb by Sheila Richardson which won much applause, and two readings by Ruth Nordstrom, which showed marked gain over her earlier work, and were likewise very well received by the audience.

Mr. Hastings Russell of Brookline delighted all by his clever ventriloquist performance and his "specialty acts," and the evening closed with two little plays by the Little Players, an outgrowth of the Radio Robins, who gave first "The Happy Beggar," with Mary Healey as the fretful king, Alice Healey as the nurse, David Kenney as valet, Johnnie Cappadona as the court physician, Gloria Fiorin as the Wise Man, and small David Goodnough as the "Happy Beggar." All took their parts so admirably that it would be hard to single out any one as the star. The second play was "Nick Bluster," with Anita Florin as the Queen of Spring, charmingly costumed; Robert Gaertner as the North Wind, John Cappadona as Jack Frost, and the little spring attendants, Mist, Dew, Shower, Sunshine, and South Breeze. These were played beautifully by wee maidens, Hilda Farnum, Louise DeVos, Martha Hodges, Marian Cappadona, and Mary Mandile. The youngest actor is but five and the oldest ten, but the talent shown is quite remarkable, and gives much promise for the future.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE, NEWTON

With a pre-holiday show on Wednesday evening next which will consist of five high class acts of vaudeville, orchestra and the regular double feature picture program and a style show on Saturday evening by Scott Furriers of Boston the patrons of the Paramount will have plenty of entertainment.

At the Saturday Night Style show a beautiful fur coat will be given some lucky lady in the audience. There will be several artists models displaying gowns, furs, coats, etc., together with a very entertaining program besides the regular two features.

"Design for Living," Paramount's film of Noel Coward's successful stage play coming Sunday to the Newton Paramount Theatre is the third production in which Ernst Lubitsch has directed Miriam Hopkins.

Miss Hopkins plays the feminine member of Coward's unusual human triangle, Fredric March and Gary Cooper co-starring with her.

"The Smiling Lieutenant" and "Trouble in Paradise." On the same program will be Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell in "Havana Widows." For the last half of the week, Judith Allen and Richard Arlen will be featured in "Hell and Highwater," a waterfront story of New York, and Irene Dunn and Clive Brook in "If I Were Free."

The regular monthly meeting of Newton Unit, No. 48, American Legion Auxiliary, will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb. 21, 1934, in Memorial Building, Newton Centre.

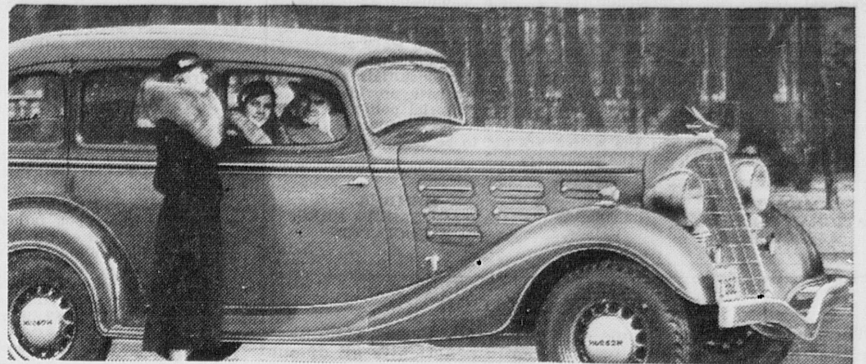

Mrs. Elizabeth Giffin, Chairman of Americanism for the Department of Massachusetts, will give a talk on Americanism. A short program will be given by the Juniors of Newton Unit No. 48, to which parents and friends are invited. This program will start at 8:00 p. m.

The next meeting for the Juniors will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. All Juniors are especially requested to be present at that time to rehearse patriotic songs.

NEWTON MAN GOING TO ARMY SCHOOL

First Lieutenant Lawrence M. Kirk of the 101st Infantry, Mass. National Guard, who resides on Sargent street, Newton, will attend the U. S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia starting February 26. The course of instruction will take about three months. Lieut. Kirk is one of three officers from New England included in the 24 who will take the course of instruction.

Norumbega Council Boy Scouts of America again invite the public to an exposition of their accomplishments. As in previous years, twenty-eight troops of nine hundred Scouts will turn the Newton Armory into a Scout-craft show of real merit. How a Boy Scout becomes a Tenderfoot, a First or Second class Scout, how he passes merit badge tests—all these things will be shown in detail in booths about the hall. Totem poles and flags, campfires, and log cabins, signal towers and exhibits have been started by individual troops for their exhibits. All decorations and displays are of the Scouts' own choosing. No rules of the General Committee govern the Scouts' individual exhibits. The Committee simply assign each troop its own chalked-off space on the Armory floor, and the troops build from the floor up.

Little Fellows on Stage

This year six Cub Packs of one hundred and twenty-five youngsters will hold forth on the stage. These boys, age nine, ten, and eleven, will surprise the public with remarkable handcraft work that they show. This year the Cub Pack making the best showing or demonstration at the show will receive a most suitable reward comparable with the award for the best Scout exhibit.

Inside information has it that Newton Troops must be on the job this year as the Wellesley troops are planning unique and original displays that will overshadow anything previously done.

Community Chest Benefits

This exhibit is run on a non profit-making basis, and only a small admission charge is made. Any and all profits made in excess of actual expenses will be turned over to the Newton Community Chest. Committees in charge of the exposition consist of: C. Hassler Capron, Lowell D. MacNutt, Ernest J. Fisher, Liscom Bruce, Scout Executive, and Douglas B. Francis.

Don't forget the exposition February 23rd and 24th at the Newton Armory!

THE NORFOLK QUESTION

The question of conditions at the Norfolk Prison Colony is one that has occupied first page space in practically all of our metropolitan papers. Almost every story has been one which tells of deplorable conditions, impractical theories, and unworkable methods of handling criminals at that institution. It has been largely destructive criticism. This evening citizens of Newton will have an opportunity of hearing the other side of the story at a meeting in Newtonville. Superintendent Gill, who withdrew as active head of the Norfolk Colony recently, is facing possible permanent removal by Governor Ely. Mr. Gill is regarded as one of the leading penologists of the country. We shall be extremely interested in his side of the story of conditions there as told by his representative. For several months Superintendent Gill has kept silent in face of severe criticism. And rightly so. His attitude in the matter has won him the confidence of many and his story, we believe, will be based upon facts and not upon hearsay, rumor, and political bias.

DO YOUR PART

If you have any articles of outgrown or discarded clothing, as well as household furnishings, be sure and have them ready for the Boy Scouts who have organized to collect these articles for the needy persons of the city. President Roosevelt has requested the Boy Scout organization of the country to take charge of this collection of articles in the various communities. Mayor Weeks has issued an appeal to all the citizens of Newton. The extreme cold of the winter and the hardships being experienced by many of our people make it a solemn duty for us to co-operate in every way. It matters little if the articles you have need repair or not, as various agencies are taking care of the repair and reconditioning that will be necessary. Your contribution will bring comfort to some needy person.

NEWTON WILL PREPARE

Two weeks ago the tragedy at the Needham Trust Company aroused public sentiment to a point where it is quite probable that steps will be taken to protect the public from the raids of gangsters and bandits which have become more and more frequent throughout the State. While no one can predict at just what point these enemies of the public will attack next we feel reasonably assured that the recent conference of Newton police, aldermen and bank men will result in speedy preparations so that Newton will be safeguarded from such possible depredations.

Under The Gilded Dome

Wednesday afternoon on a roll call vote of 109 to 86 the House of Representatives substituted for an adverse report of the Committee on Transportation a bill to require subway and elevated trains to carry one brake man or employee to each two cars instead of one for each four cars as at present. Should the measure become law it would mean the employment of a considerable number of additional employees by the Boston Elevated with a probable increase in the deficit now being assessed upon the cities and towns in the Metropolitan area. Among the arguments cited by those who deem the additional employees unnecessary was that the Boston Elevated has a low accident rate per car miles and that the additional men were not necessary as a safety measure. Newton's three Representatives, Baker, Brimblecom and Lutiwer were recorded against the bill.

On Monday the House killed a bill permitting standees to ride in buses. The bill would have taken regulation of this matter out of the hands of municipalities and placed it in the Department of Public Utilities Commission. The bill was reported by the Committee on Transportation and was defeated by a voice vote.

A bill setting the date of the primary elections next September on a Thursday, the 20th was given three readings in the House this week and is now on the Senate calendar. The bill was reported changing the customary date from a Tuesday to Monday, Sept. 17, because of a Jewish religious observance on the 17th and was changed to Thursday the 20th on amendment offered by Rep. Cole of Taunton.

A sub-committee of three members of the Metropolitan Affairs committee was appointed this week to sit with three chiefs of police in an effort to draft a bill co-ordinating the police of the Metropolitan area with respect to radio, telegraphing, and training. The committee voted to reject the recommendation of the Crime Commission for the co-ordination of the police departments under a single head.

The new Point of Pines Bridge over the Saugus river at Revere will be named the Gen. Clarence R. Edwards Memorial Bridge under a bill reported this week by the Metropolitan Affairs committee.

The House on Tuesday passed to be engrossed the bill providing for the insurance of savings banks deposits. The bill providing for the insurance of co-operative bank funds has been given three readings in the Senate this week and will be taken up by the House within a few days.

Many hearings are being held in the various committee rooms under the gilded dome these days with considerable interest being manifested in a number of the more important proposals. The Committee on Constitutional Law concluded hearings on the ratification of the Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution and it is believed that it will report against such ratification in view of the fact that the matter was overwhelmingly defeated at a referendum ten years ago. It is possible that this committee may ask for a Supreme court ruling whether or not the matter is properly before the legislature at this time in view of that previous referendum. Another possibility is that the Legislature may make an effort to refer the matter to the voters again at the election next fall.

Many speakers appeared before the Committee on Motor Vehicles and Highways on Tuesday when that committee was hearing proposals to change the date of registration of motor vehicles from January first to April first.

The Committee on Ways and Means conducted hearings this week relative to the restoration of part of the salary reductions made a year ago. This salary bill, the state budget, and the proposed retail sales tax are three of the major subjects which will be brought up on the floor of the House within the next two or three weeks.

Twenty-one members of the CWA have been attending a class in First Aid, conducted by Dr. Theodore E. Brown, and under the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross. The class will meet for ten lessons—four last week, four this week, two next week—and to be concluded by an examination. Instruction has been given at City Hall and Dr. Brown has reported that the men have shown great interest in the class.

GOLDEN RULE COTTAGE REOPENS

The Golden Rule Cottage, under the direction of the Welfare Department of the First M. E. Church will reopen as an exchange center on Monday, February 19.

The cottage is located at 39 Summer st., corner of Chestnut st., Newton Upper Falls, and is conducted in the interest of the unemployed and needy people of Upper Falls.

Mrs. Ella Elkins will be the supervisor in charge during the hours of 1 to 5 p. m. daily and Saturday evenings.

Contributions of clothing and supplies will be appreciated and will be distributed to help the unemployed in the vicinity.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

The game of life would have greater appeal to some people if they could be certain of forever holding all the face cards and trumps.

Oddments

Cold weather tip to fathers if we have any more of those 'way below zero days. The scene was the breakfast nook in the home of a Newton native. Dad was extremely solicitous about his young son. Thought it too cold for the boy to go outdoors. Mother agreed. Came time for Dad to leave for the office. "Don't you think of going to school today," he admonished his son. "No, sir," the youngster replied. Thereupon father took the boy's woolen knitted cap from the clothes tree and, pulling it down on his own bald head, walked out with, "Goodby, folks, I guess this will keep me warm today." Son stood gazing after his Dad but didn't leave the house.

When from my seat in a friend's automobile I saw a man on an ice covered pond, fishing through the ice as I thought, it was merely another mistake of mine. He was getting a sample of the drinking water. One of those busy chemists who have to keep going the year round in order to protect you and me from germs. This is another of those vigilant and unceasing enterprises conducted by the State which is carried on every month in the year. At least once a month and sometimes two or three times are samples taken from every one of the 240 water supply systems carried to the State House laboratory and analyzed. There may be half-a-dozen sources in one system so that 240 doesn't represent the entire number of bodies of water and springs that have to be sampled. In fact, the total of an average year is 10,000 samples, all of which are analyzed and reported upon in detail. These State chemists don't wait for complaints to come in. They keep ahead of them, Massachusetts is said to have the best system of any State and judging from reports of unbiased parties it apparently has.

Whether you and I received valentines last Wednesday hasn't really anything to do with what I've got to say on the subject. Of course I hope that if you were expecting any you got them and that they came from one or more—I don't know how large your heart may be—you hoped would remember you. Not until the privilege was recently given me of admiring a collection of out-and-out old-time valentines had I realized what they made of the custom years and years ago.

Through the thoughtfulness of one of Newton's best known residents, Miss Mary E. P. Sloan, I had the pleasure of gazing upon several of these dainty missives from among her keepsakes. All of them have been carefully preserved. I know you'd be astonished if you were to observe how firm they are and how clear the printing and shiny the gold. They must have been executed by those who knew the art and intended they should be treasured for generations.

The oldest of the collection is 165 years. Gold and white lace paper furnish the frame for a set of verses printed on pink silk ribbon. The printed poem is clear and legible, and the lines themselves not cheap or resembling doggerel. Rather, they are serious. With the caption "Unchangeable," a verse will give you some idea:

My love is not that silvery mist
From Summer blooms by sunbeams kissed Too fugitive to last—
A fadeless flower it still retains
The brightness of its earlier stains.

The 165-year-old valentine was received by Miss Sloan's grandmother, Jane Baxter Austin, in Scotland. The next oldest, 125 years, was sent to Miss Sloan's aunt. It is made up of both gold and white lace paper and real lace, with turtle doves and cherubs and other symbols that we find on the valentines of today.

Perhaps the most precious of all was the largest—a valentine 100 years old with its pink, red and white roses of satin, its satin lilies of the valley and artificial (silk) maiden hair fern. There are many other touches of skill and daintiness that I cannot adequately describe and at the same time do them justice. And the verses. The poet heads them, "Charming" and says—

Lady—I've looked upon thy face,
And beauty, kindness, virtue, grace
Have all continued to make thee fair;
O, may thy future be as bright
As are those eyes whose gentle light
Thy features now so softly wear.

Matter of Vision

Some day when I have more time for trivial things—say next Summer's vacation—I am going to try and find out if the weather has any influence on one's risibilities. Is it true that we laugh more readily in the intense cold because we are stimulated by the sharpness of the wind? Possibly the let's-explore-your-mind expert will get around to this subject. At any rate it seems that in mid-winter I find myself bursting with merriment at the jape of a friend who previously never displayed any sign of acute wit.

For instance—take this case. Would you have laughed as I did? The office manager had been finding fault all day. No subordinate was spared and under their breaths they muttered unkind words. Still, they had to take it on the chin. All save the superintendent of buildings, who wasn't an employee of the firm of course, but fair game for the office manager's wrath at any time. The latter couldn't find anything else to grumble about so he decided to complain that the windows hadn't been washed. He sent

GOOD MENTAL HYGIENE HELPS SOCIAL LIVING

Following is the last in a series of real cases which show how the Department of Guidance, through careful study and counseling, has been able to help youth make adequate adjustments to life situations at home and in school.

This is the story of Tom, whose attitudes of insecurity changed to hopeful confidence when his personality needs were met.

"Something must be the matter with me. I can't seem to get anything just right," confided ten-year-old Tom. "The kids don't want to play with me much. You see, I don't like baseball and I don't think the boys care for me, anyhow. They think I'm queer because I'd rather be working on electric trains and aeroplanes than anything else. Dad and Mother don't think I'm much good and scold because I don't want to do things that my three big brothers do. I'm awful slow in school. Never seem to get my work done, especially Arithmetic."

His parents, honestly troubled because he was less aggressive than his lively brothers, had tried to insist upon his taking part in sports and had discouraged his tinkering with machinery and toys. Boys either mildly teased him for his absorption in mechanical things or ignored him. His teachers felt that he was very slow and lacked concentration, with a tendency to be retiring and to keep himself in the background.

A study of Tom revealed him to be above average in general intelligence. He was slow in all performance, even speech. Motor co-ordination was poor. Emotionally he proved to be gregarious and sensitive. A twitching in his face was noticeable. His frown and a slowness in reading suggested possible eye trouble. When talking about motors, planes and trains he showed absorbed interest.

Analysis of the source of his Arithmetic trouble brought to light a weakness in certain addition facts. He had hit upon an ingenious method of putting unknown combinations into those which he already knew. This roundabout way brought desired results, but with great loss of time.

The earnest examination revealed the need of glasses, which Tom wore ever since. His parents were helped to realize how a sense of inferiority was being built up by overstress on what couldn't be done. Tom was not urged to play ball and other games for which his poor motor co-ordination and poor sight made him inadequate. He was encouraged in his putting with mechanical things. A workshop in the cellar now gave him the opportunity to win coveted recognition when his brothers and friends brought their treasured possessions to be repaired.

Always ready to follow suggestions and to accept help, he eagerly welcomed those number games and drills which would give him skill in such combinations as he lacked. The home also met this suggestion co-operatively. At the end of a month, mother reported that Tom felt as if he now had a hold on his problems and had greater confidence. His teacher said that he was doing much better in Arithmetic and was less embarrassed and inferior. With the new feeling of security he was less retiring and "different" in school.

In due time Tom was led to join church school activities and Boy Scouts. He began to be somewhat of a leader on hiking trips because of his skill, especially with tools. Gradually and normally, his craving for recognition and group security was being met by satisfactory adjustments.

Two years later, at junior high school, the same Tom said, enthusiastically, "I'm having a corking time now. My class is studying electricity and the boys all think I know something. They keep coming to me to ask me things. Mathematics is going fine. The teachers send home pretty good reports and Dad and Mother are glad."

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The beautiful little model of Napoleon's royal coach which was displayed for several weeks in the window of McCammon's shoe store at Newton Corner was made by Charles F. Quinn of 139 Bridge st., Nonantum. Mr. Quinn evidenced unusual skill in making the reproduction of this article which has attracted thousands of Americans have admired at Versailles.

The boys and girls of Newton can't complain that they have not had enough coasting and skating this winter. The young people of the city are particularly fortunate as regards skating. Few towns or cities possess such an ideal skating place as Bullock's Pond, which is kept cleared of snow during the winter by the Playground Department, and where unusual facilities are provided to care for the comfort of the thousands who enjoy this pleasure resort.

We have criticized Governor Ely for displaying (what many consider) too much leniency in pardoning persons convicted of serious crimes, and for having commuted some sentences. In fairness to the Governor, he should be commended for having refused commutation in the cases of three murderers who will be executed next week. In the case of one of these criminals, great pressure was brought to bear on the Governor, and extreme measures were taken to save his life. The man, who committed a cold blooded murder in the commission of an armed robbery, from the penalty prescribed by the law of Massachusetts, the stand taken by Governor Ely will tend to deter criminals of the killer type from being utterly ruthless in the performance of robberies.

The asphyxiation of two aged persons at Newton Centre several days ago by gas fumes from a leak in a service pipe near a house caused a revival of a rumor current about a year ago that the pressure had been increased in the gas mains in Newton. To refute this rumor, one of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company gave the following information: "The pressure carried in the ordinary distribution mains in the Newton District varies from 4 inches water column to 8 inches water column. This method of measuring pressure has been commonly used by the gas industry for many, many years."

for the superintendent. The fact that this busy or otherwise occupied individual did not report for several hours merely increased the office manager's indignation.

"See here," demanded the irate one. "We want those windows washed and—quick, too!"

Right back at him came the superintendent in a louder voice. "What do you want 'em washed for this time of year?" he bellowed. "There's nothing outside to look at but rotten weather."

And the windows hadn't been washed up to the hour of penning these lines.

One and one-half inches of water is the equivalent of one ounce of pressure, so the maximum pressure carried on the ordinary distribution mains is about 3 to 5 ounces per square inch. This is the normal pressure we have been carrying in the Newton mains for some years past, and is, of course, a very low pressure. Ordinarily, water main pressures run from 60 pounds to 80 pounds per square inch."

"In addition to the low pressure mains there are transmission mains which carry gas to supply all districts. These are commonly known as the intermediate pressure mains. They supply the low pressure mains through district governors, and it is very seldom these particular mains are used to supply customers directly. When this is done a service governor is used to reduce the pressure inside the house. The maximum pressure carried on these intermediate pressure mains is about 3½ pounds per square inch. This also is a low pressure when the strength of the cast iron mains, which are known as class 150 pipe, is considered. These mains are made of cast iron pipe tested at the foundry to 300 pounds pressure per square inch."

One familiar sound we have heard during the cold spell of the past week is the creaking of the snow, as the few horse-drawn vehicles now in use travel over the streets. In our boyhood years we knew it was down around zero outside, whenever we heard the snow creak as wagons rolled over it, or some pedestrian crunched along.

Autoists who speed on streets with icy surfaces are flirting with death. It would not be so serious if only their own lives were endangered, but they also menace the lives of others.

The revelations of the huge payments of money (obtained by taxing the people) to airplane companies in recent years for the carrying of mail exposes another method of imposing upon the American public. Many months ago we stated in this column that the postal service in this country has suffered in efficiency because of the huge overpayments to favored steamship and airplane companies. If money had not been mis-spent this way, it is quite probable that the postal service would not have been curtailed in late years to the drastic extent it has been.

The criticism by Charles Lindbergh of President Roosevelt's action in cancelling the approval of many millions of American citizens. Despite the fact that all admit Lindbergh's wonderful courage and skill as an aviator, and his other fine qualities, it has been quite evident to perceiving folks that this young man has been glorified by persistent and clever publicity since his flight from New York to Paris several years ago, and the suspicion has been abroad that the airplane interests were responsible for much of this publicity. The fact brought out recently concerning the virtual gift of $250,000 in stock certificates to the famous aviator does not tend to make his criticism of the President have the desired effect.

Kiwanis Club

On Monday evening, February 12, at the Presidential Club in Wayland, a large proportion of the membership of the Newton Kiwanis Club attended an enthusiastic gathering of leading citizens of Weston, Wayland, and Sudbury who are contemplating organizing a local Kiwanis Club. With these men, and in addition to the Newton Club, were many members of other nearby Kiwanis Clubs. This new club, if formed, will be sponsored by Newton, under whose leadership it will carry on through the early months of its existence.

Past President Charlie Mahoney was in charge of the meeting which, in itself, lent considerable color to the occasion. In succession, he introduced Jim Gallagher, Spin Wonderley, present Lieutenant Governor of the Fifth District, George White, and Walter Harmon, Kiwanis Field Secretary, each of whom discussed instructive and interesting phases of Kiwanis organization.

Before adjourning the meeting, the local men voted to hold another preliminary meeting next Monday evening to carry on the work so well begun. The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held Tuesday at the Charles River Country Club. An extremely interesting and instructive talk was given to the club members by T. B. Dillon, a member of the Massachusetts General Court from Cambridge. Mr. Dillon ably discussed the recent "Sterilization" Bill in the General Court.

W. Newton Woman Fatally Burned

Mrs. Georgia A. Weeks, colored, of 25 Curve st., West Newton, was burned so severely Saturday night at her home, that she died at the Newton Hospital on Sunday night. About 7 Saturday evening Mrs. Weeks smelled smoke at her home. Tracing the odor, she opened a closet door on the second floor and flames burst out. She tried to extinguish the blaze and her clothing caught fire. Other members of her family went to her aid and beat out the flames in her clothes. She was rushed to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. Engine 2 responded to an alarm and the fire was confined to the room where it started.

Mrs. Weeks, who was 63 years old, was the widow of James J. Weeks and a native of West Newton. She was the daughter of the late Charles Sims and Roxanne (Bowman) Sims. Mrs. Weeks' husband died two years ago. Her funeral service was held yesterday afternoon at Myrtle Baptist Church; Rev. Mr. Ford officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 18.

The Golden Text is: "Rejoice the soul of thy servant: for unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul" (Psalms 86:4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of the Lord charged you, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul" (Joshua 22:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Question—What are the demands of the Science of Soul? Answer—The first demand of this Science is, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me.' This is the Spirit. Therefore the command means this: 'Thou shalt have no intelligence, no life, no substance, no truth, no love, but that which is spiritual' (p. 467).

CHRISTINE BUFFUM

The community is conscious of a distinct loss in the death of Christine Buffum for many years a teacher in the Underwood School. Gentle of soul but brave of spirit; modest of manner but unfaltering in her devotion to duty; one who loved life for its work and for its play; who saw big things big and little things small; who thought of others first and of self last; friend alike of the children whom she taught, of the teachers with whom she worked, of the ever-widening circle of those whose lives had touched hers—there are many who, heavy-hearted, mourn her passing. Yet, to all who loved life, there must come to all who truly knew Christine Buffum a deep and abiding joy that she lived among us—till from our hearts we say as said Richard and Watson Gilder of that other heroic spirit, Alice Freeman Palmer:

"When fell, today, the word that she had gone, Not this my thought: Here a bright journey ends, Here rests a soul untrusting; here ends that earnest strength, that generous life—For all her life was giving, rather this I said, after the first swift, sorrowing pang; Radiant with love and love's unending power, Hence on a new quest, starts an eager spirit No dread, no doubt, unhesitating forth With asking eyes, so fares she forth with smiling Godward face; Nor should we grieve, but give eternal thanks—Save that we mortal are, and needs must mourn."

ALICE M. CORSON, Underwood School.

committee, of which Mrs. C. H. Lippincott was chairman.
At 2 p. m. Professor Miller, of Tufts dience the recent monetary legislation, and explaining the condition of naval affairs and disarmament, and the most recent developments in Cuba.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Nearly one-hundred and fifty Club members and friends attended the evening entertainment of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held at Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, on Friday, February 9th. The supper, served at 6.30 p. m., was a jolly affair for all. Following this a delightful entertainment was offered, the program including trumpet solos by Miss Jane Hayden, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas
Hayden; two readings by Mrs. Ernest
A. Dockstader; vocal solos by Mrs.
Ernest Butler, accompanied by Mrs.
G. Howard Frost at the piano; saxophone solos by Miss Carolyn Hayden, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Hayden at the piano; two dance solos by Miss Dorothy Wales; and an accompanied funny one-act play, entitled "Hanging Out the Wash," acted by
Mrs. Edgar P. Hay and Mrs. John S.
Franklin, both of whom were highly amusing in their characters of two gossiping colored washerwomen.

Bridge and contract, also billiards, pool, and bowling were enjoyed at the close of the entertainment. Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Club and Mrs. John S. Franklin were responsible for the success of the evening meeting and they were ably assisted by a committee composed of the following Club members: Mrs. Joseph
A. Otis, Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones, Mrs.
Sidney B. Sargent, Mrs. George H.
Jackson, Mrs. Willard C. Church, Mrs.
Fred M. Barnard, Mrs. D. Earle
Brackett, Mrs. J. M. Chipman, and Mrs. Harry S. Wells.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Drama committee, of which Mrs. Winthrop A. Stiles is chairman, was in charge of Home Talent Day which was held Tuesday afternoon at the Auburndale Woman's Club.
"Heard in Camera," a one-act play, by Estel Dane, was the first of the two plays to be given by members of the Club. The scene of the drama was laid in the American Concession, Shanghai, China, and the stage settings were most appropriate. The cast included Mrs. Edward B. Gray,
Mrs. James Feerick, Mrs. W. A. Stiles,
Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. Joseph
McCarron, Mrs. Stuart Southgate, and Mrs. Rufus Lovering.

"A Nephew in the House" another one-act play, by Beulah King, closed the afternoon's program. Mrs. E. L.
Johnson, Mrs. Lowell MacNutt, Mrs.
Walter Amesbury, Mrs. Edwin Nash, and Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger comprised the cast.

Both plays were produced under the direction of Mrs. Herman O. Krueger, vice chairman of the Drama committee, and she was assisted by Mrs. A.
D. Becker and Mrs. Bernard Maloney who were in charge of costumes and properties, and by Mrs. Thomas J.
Brown who applied the makeup.

In the audience were a group of guests from the Stone Institute.
A Food Sale, sponsored by Mrs. G.
W. St. Amant, assisted by her Hospitality committee, was held in the Lounge at the same time.

During the business meeting, preceding the program, conducted by the president, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, some of the Legislative Bills which are being discussed by the State Federation, were presented by the Club's Legislative chairman, Mrs. Arthur W.
Desoe.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

An announcement of a birthday party is always alluring, but when coupled with a turkey supper it is doubly so. About eighty members and friends of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club sat down to such a supper on Monday evening, February 6th. The efficient committee, headed by Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, served a home-cooked meal, even the rolls being home-made by two of the Club members. Fruit cup, turkey, mashed potatoes, new string beans, onions, cranberry sauce, celery, pickles, and coffee, with the dessert which makes a party—ice cream and home-made assorted cakes—were served by the committee, assisted by the Hospitality committee. Last, but by no means least, a two-tiered cake, beautiful in yellow and white, the Club colors, with its fifteen lighted candles, was placed before the president, Mrs. Walter Evans. Mrs. John H. Kimball, second vice-president of the State Federation, assisted in blowing out the candles. Mrs. Seldon E. James, the Twelfth District director, assisted the president in cutting the cake, and all were served a portion. At the head table were seated with the Club president, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs.
James, Mrs. Charles C. Willson, president of the Newton Federation; four of the past presidents of the Club,
Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Mrs. Thomas E.
Lees, Miss Ethel Sablin, and Mrs.
Thomas L. Aiken; and two vice-presidents of the Club, Mrs. Albert Proctor and Miss Grace Hunt. Mrs. Donald Fincham and Mrs. Harold Sprague were hostesses at this table. Two members acted as hostesses at each table and served their guests.

"All-together singing" was indulged in during courses, Mrs. Albert Proctor playing the accompaniment. During the evening an apron which had been traveling among the Club members to have patches sewed on over cash contributions, was drawn for Mrs. Mowbray Truax, by Mrs. Charles Willson. Later it was announced by Mrs. Aiken, who had charge of the apron, that $16.25 was collected under the patches for the Club treasury.

A short business meeting followed, with only necessary business transacted. The entertainment was provided

Fiftieth Read Fund Series of Lectures Began Last Friday

"It is a profound relief to get away from present problems and to turn back to a study of the culture of ancient times," with these words Edward Howard Griggs opened the fiftieth series of the Read Fund Lectures, at the Underwood School in Newton Friday at 8 P. M. Mr. Griggs chose for his topic, The Gift of Athens to the World. These lectures, free to all residents of Newton, were established under a trust fund left to the city by the will of Charles A. Read, long a resident of this city.

The old Greek world has a great charm for scholars and the ancient Greeks often seem like children in their carefree acceptance of life. Mr. Griggs said "that while we often think of their world as a very small one, this is not the case." At the height of their expansion Greek cities were found not only on the mainland but had spread to the islands of the Aegean, and the coast of Asia Minor. The Greeks were never a nation but always remained a group of city states. The very character of the mainland welded the character of the people. It was here in this bright and sunny land that they developed their beautiful religion, in which every form of nature had a god.

Fully one half of the culture came from Athens, the nature of the people of Sparta being against anything that did not have to do with war. Athens assumed leadership of Greece for these reasons, first Attica was one state, the people had a remarkable genius, and last but not least they had incomparable leaders. It took a leader such as Solon to forge Athens into a true democracy, and under Cleisthenes this became the purest democracy ever seen. This democracy was to be tried by fire in the form of invasion by the Persians under King Darius. Met on the plains of Marathon, they were beaten back by the Greeks under Miltiades. A second invasion was defeated in the naval battle of Salamis, in this battle the Greeks had two hundred ships while the Persians had about five or six times as many. A third attempt by the Persians failed when they were defeated by the combined efforts of the men of Athens and Sparta.

Now arose the golden age of Pericles, wisest of all Greek statesmen. Under his rule Athens became the leader of all Greece. His great ambition was to beautify Athens. The fortifying of the port of Piræus, made the Acropolis useless as a fort, so he set to work to beautify it. It now stands as Greek art at its highest standard. The Elgin marbles in the British Museum are superb in the expression of the various gods and goddesses. Never has the world seen a more beautiful or more dignified building than the Erechthium, with its porch of the maidens. The greatest of all the sculptors Phidias was the craftsman who wrought such

English Novelist And Critic Speaks In West Newton

Last Lecture of Series Will Be Given March 4th

Speaking in the Unitarian Parish House in West Newton on Sunday evening, Patrick Braybrooke, the English novelist and literary critic, gave a very frank appraisal of changes in the fields of literature and social life of the people of England which have resulted from the World War. The following are some of his most striking and interesting statements:

"Following the war, the pursuit of literature ceased to be an art and became a profession." This has resulted in an immense flood of novels and poetry, little of which seems inspired. In the field of poetry, especially, none of the poetry produced since the war is equal to the work of the great masters of the Victorian period.

English people as a whole are not book lovers, nor are they so eager for culture as the people of America. The English culture which is taken for granted does not really exist to the extent which it appears in the life of this country. Those who read do so, for most part, to fill up the vacancy of their lives.

Mr. Braybrooke thinks that the realistic novelists have, as a whole, been sincere, the romanticists have done their work fairly well but the "sex field writers" have not done their work as well as Upton Sinclair and Sinclair Lewis, because the Americans are more direct. Sex novels in England have been largely done by women and are mediocre. He sees no one to take the places of Barry, Shaw and Galsworthy. He thinks that J. B. Priestly is the outstanding English novelist among the younger writers.

The speaker said that he did not agree with those who thought the influence of Hollywood upon English people is unfortunate. The ideas of those who attend the cinema are broadened as regards the other peoples of the world, and these films of American life tend to create a friendly attitude toward Americans.

Among play writers, he singled out Noel Coward as the one who gives greatest promise. Coward's "Vortex," performed recently in West End London opened up a new era in dramatic creation.

The last lecture of the series will be given on Sunday evening, March 4th by Laurence Binyon, exchange professor in literature at Harvard this year, who will read from his own poetry and that of his friends.

Themes in marble. His winged victory, since lost, was one of the wonders of the world. In this golden age, when men loved the beautiful, here stood one of the first art galleries known.

It was during this period that Greek culture reached its highest point. The plays of such great dramatists as Sophocles, Euripides, and Aristophanes, were performed before the citizens of Athens, in the theatre of Dionysius. The great philosophy of this period is present in the modern world, having come down through the centuries. In the writings of Homer, heroic episodes of the Trojan war are related. The pure simplicity of Greek life, their political institutions, represent a world of the highest culture.

The war between Sparta and Athens marks the beginning of the end of Athens as a leader in Greece. In the second year of this war, the great Pericles died. The loss of a capable leader, a foolish attempt to rescue Syracuse which ended as a total loss was the downfall of Athens. Never again was she to rise as a political leader.

Athens still remained as the school of Hellas and the rest of the world. In the words of Mr. Griggs, "Her attainment in art is the despair of subsequent ages." The subject of Mr. Griggs lecture to be given next Friday, Feb. 23, is Naples and the Art of Greater Hellas.

Two Newton Men Victims of Storm

Over Exertion Causes Deaths From Heart Failure

The severe snowstorm on Tuesday caused the deaths of two residents of this city. Thomas Thompson, 57, of 24 Wildwood ave., West Newton, was stricken with heart failure while walking on Warren st., Newton Centre, on Tuesday afternoon. He was on his way home from his place of employment, Burnham Brothers' mill. He was carried into the home of A. E. Greenidge at 145 Warren st., and was pronounced dead by a physician who was summoned.

Thomas A. Mellor, 66, of 27 Ellsworth rd., West Newton, collapsed while shoveling snow off a walk at his home. He was dead when a physician arrived.

Snow Storm Slows All Street Traffic

The snow storm of Monday night and Tuesday left the streets of Newton in bad condition both for vehicular and pedestrian traffic. The wet nature of the snow and the drifting caused by the high wind made it unusually difficult to plow the streets. Progress in clearing the streets was further impeded on Tuesday by the inability of the Street Department to obtain a sufficiency of large trucks. About 65 trucks were hired, in addition to those of the Street Department but many of the hired trucks were small in size. To offset this condition the Street Department hired over 300 men and boys on Tuesday to shovel snow. These worked in addition to 350 employees of the Department. The innovation of the hiring of boys caused a large number of youngsters to join the ranks of the snow shovelers without having been authorized to take up this task by any official of the Street Department. They refused to quit work on Wednesday when ordered to do so, and on Thursday morning policemen had to be called to clear the streets of the youthful applicants for snow shoveling jobs.

The speaker said that Mr. Gill has been the subject of repeated investigations for political purposes, this being the fourth since the Colony was founded in 1927. The first three investigations proved to have been instigated on "accusations which consisted of hot air." He maintained that "the present ordeal was promoted by State Auditor Francis X. Hurley for the purpose of political reprisals as an aid in launching his campaign for the governorship."

Burned When Her Home Gets Ablaze

Mrs. Charles F. Helmrich of 1913 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale, was burned on her right hand and arm at 10:49 a. m. Saturday when she endeavored to save her fur coat and other clothing as flames raged in her home. The fire is supposed to have started from hot ashes which were placed in a wooden box on a rear porch of the second floor apartment where Mrs. Helmrich resided. The blaze worked up the rear of the house and into the interior. When Mrs. Helmrich discovered the fire she rushed to a closet to save the clothing and a burst of flames burned her. She telephoned to fire alarm headquarters and then fled from the house. Mrs. Katherine Bartlett and her child, who were in their home on the first floor, also had to leave the building. Mrs. Helmrich was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

Petition Gov. Ely That Supt. Gill Be Retained

Clafin Club Asks That Prison Administration Be Divorced From Politics

Following an address by Professor James H. Sheldon of Boston University last Friday evening during which he declared that the present attempt to oust Superintendent Howard B. Gill of the Norfolk Prison Colony is nothing but a bold move to secure political spoils, a full meeting of the Clafin Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church adopted a resolution on the subject. This resolution was then signed by over 200 of those present and sent to Governor Ely.

Professor Sheldon began his address by explaining that the Norfolk Prison Colony is one of the outstanding attempts in this country to deal with "curable criminals" in a scientific manner. Supt. Gill who has had charge of project from its very beginning is considered to be one of the leading penologists of the day. He has surrounded himself with a professional staff of social workers and psychiatrists which has demonstrated the correctness of its methods by the superior results with those who have been discharged. Whereas those discharged from Charlestown show 80 per cent of repeaters, Norfolk shows but 35 per cent of those who return to their old life after release. These results have been obtained in spite of a mixture of cases which do not properly belong in the Colony, but which have been sent there because of crowded conditions in Charlestown.

The speaker said that Mr. Gill has been the subject of repeated investigations for political purposes, this being the fourth since the Colony was founded in 1927. The first three investigations proved to have been instigated on "accusations which consisted of hot air." He maintained that "the present ordeal was promoted by State Auditor Francis X. Hurley for the purpose of political reprisals as an aid in launching his campaign for the governorship."

Professor Sheldon went over the accusations brought against Superintendent Gill in detail and explained in each case how facts had been distorted by Mr. Hurley and the Boston press with two notable exceptions, in order to fabricate a case against Mr. Gill.

The resolution adopted expressed confidence in Mr. Gill's ability and integrity and emphasized the need for freeing the administration of our prisons from political influence. The meeting was presided over by Dean Carl E. Ell of Northeastern University, the president of the club.

Turn Down Petition For Bus Service

School Committee Acts on Two Requests—Refuses Both

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night a report was received from the sub-committee which had been appointed to consider the petition entered from residents of Newton Corner relative to a school bus for pupils from that section who attend Newton High School. This petition asked that a school bus run from Hunnewell Hill, via Tremont street, towards the Farlow Hill section and thence to Cabot street and the High School. Although the petition carried a large number of names, investigation showed that only a small percentage of the pupils for whom the bus route was asked, patronize the Middlesex & Boston. In the opinion of the sub-committee the proposed special school bus would not receive sufficient revenue to justify its operation. The committee, therefore, voted to refuse the petition.

Another petition refused was that from the Boston Women's Lacrosse Association for the use of the high school gymnasium. The committee took the stand, as it has in similar petitions, that the Newton schools, erected and maintained by taxpayers of this city, should not be used by outside organizations.

Waban Woman Badly Injured In Car Crash

Mrs. Annie B. Kerr, 78, of 21 Coyne rd., Waban, was seriously injured on Sunday morning about 10 o'clock when the car in which she was riding was in a collision with a car driven by Walter Sherbrooke of 17 Morton rd., Newton Centre. Mrs. Kerr was a passenger in a car driven by her son, Alfred G. Kerr of 21 Coyne rd. As the Kerr car made a left turn from Short st. onto Beacon st., the crash occurred. Mrs. Kerr received a severe gash on the head, concussion of the brain and shock. She was taken to her home. The other occupants of the Kerr car, including Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kerr, Louise Lyons and John Winslip, of 15 Coyne rd., received lesser injuries.

Memorial Service For Fr. Farrell

A solemn requiem mass was celebrated yesterday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton as a tribute to Rev. William J. Farrell. The service was under the auspices of Newton Post, American Legion, and Daley Post, V. F. W. of this city. Father Farrell was formerly chaplain of Newton Post, Company C, 101st Infantry, the Newton military company, attended the service in a body. Following the mass, members of the organizations participating, proceeded to Calvary Cemetery, Waltham and placed a wreath on the grave of Fr. Farrell.

Opposition Made To Petition For Refueling Station

Garbage Collector Asks Private Gasoline Tanks—Later Withdraws Petition

The Board of Aldermen held a regular meeting on Monday night which for brevity almost established a record. The meeting started at 8 o'clock; hearings occupied twenty minutes, and then a recess was taken from 8:20 until 8:40. The meeting was then resumed to adjourn at 8:55. The actual time consumed by the meeting was 35 minutes. The absent members were Aldermen Cronin, Murray and Howlett. The latter is critically ill at his home on Newtonville ave.

Despite the brevity of the meeting some important business was transacted. A committee was appointed to study the redistricting of the city by wards; several sizable appropriations were made; the petition of S. Hardy Mitchell for an automobile laundry was refused, and a hearing was held on the granting of a permit for a large gasoline tank at 443 Parker st., Newton Centre.

The first matter on the docket was a hearing on the petition of John A. Janse for a permit to install an underground tank at 443 Parker st., Newton Centre, and to store therein 1000 gallons of gasoline. Mr. Janse, who has had the contract for the collection of garbage in this city for several years, formerly resided at the Parker st. address and now resides at 26 Greenwood st., in the Oak Hill section. Mr. Janse told the aldermen that his reason for asking for the gasoline tank is because under the NRA code he cannot obtain any discount on the large amount of gasoline he has to purchase at filling stations. He said that by having the tank installed he can save the 3½ cents tax per gallon on gasoline. He also stated that if it is believed that the location specified for the tank is detrimental to the neighborhood, he is willing to have it located on some other part of his property. Because of the opposition, Mr. Janse withdrew his petition on Tuesday.

Wesley F. Pease of 436 Parker st. said his home is directly opposite the locus of the proposed tank. He stated that some time ago he had built a foundation for a new residence across the street from the site where Janse desires to place the gasoline tank and that as soon as financial conditions improved, he intends to build a house there. But, if the tank permit is given, and garbage trucks are backing in and out all day, he can't build his new house. Mr. Pease contended that the proposed gasoline tank is not really for private use. He said it is to fuel seven or eight garbage trucks which are used to collect the garbage of this city; and that when Mr. Janse took the garbage contract he virtually sold these trucks to the city, and thus the gasoline is for city purposes.

Thomas McHugh of 439 Parker st. said the tank will be located in a thickly settled neighborhood and will be only 35 feet from his home. He objected to the nuisance which will be created by garbage trucks backing in to the tank to be fueled. John Howley of 9 Howley ave. explained that this lane runs from 437 Parker st., and that he objects to the petition both for himself and for his mother who resides at 437 Parker st. He said he had built a new home and doesn't want to sacrifice it. He also said that the big trucks which would come to the place for gasoline will be a menace to his three little children. Wendell Mick of Dedham st. said his family owns 22 acres of land on Parker st., lying south of the Janse property. He said that he does not object if the proposed tank is placed in a proper location, but advocated restriction being placed on the permit so that the tank must be removed if it creates a nuisance. City Clerk Grant stated (Continued on Page 8)

Aldermen Start Action to Change Ward Boundaries

Committee Appointed to Make Study of New Lines

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night President Collins appointed the following committee to make a study of laying out new Ward lines in Newton: Bowen, chairman; Gallagher, Collins, Chandler, Cronin, Cordingley and Jamieson. Mr. Collins remarked that Mayor Weeks, in his first inaugural address suggested that the Wards in Newton be rearranged because of the fact that Wards 5 and 6 (the South side) had grown in population in recent years and had a disproportionate representation. But, when the Mayor made this recommendation, in 1929, special Legislation would have been necessary, so it was decided to wait until 1934 when such changes may be regularly made. The Mayor again referred to this matter in his inaugural address this year and the special committee of the Aldermen on the Mayor's address, recommended that this matter be acted upon.

When Newton was organized as a city in 1873, Newton Corner was the most thickly populated section of the city and this village was given two of the seven Wards; Ward 1 and Ward 7. Ward 2 included most of Nonantum and Newtonville; Ward 3, West Newton; Ward 4, Auburndale and Lower Falls; Ward 5, Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls. Waban at that time didn't exist as a village. It was farming country and the poor farm was located there. Ward 6 included Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill. During the past thirty years there has been a gradual development throughout the South Side of the city and during the past 10 years the growth of population there has been very rapid.

Despite the fact that the Newton Corner section has had four aldermen and two members on the School Committee during the past 40 years, this section certainly did not take advantage of its numerical strength in the City Government and did not attempt to obtain more than its fair share of public improvements. In the matter of school buildings the people of Wards 1 and 7 have been far less insistent than residents in the newer sections of the city.

Preferential Vote Plan Is Discussed By Women Voters

The first meeting of the newly formed Newton Branch of the Boston League of Women Voters was held last Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Scott, 119 Lake ave., Newton Highlands. Mrs. Walter Hartstone, Chairman of the Newton branch, presided over the meeting which had an attendance of over fifty women. Mayor Sinclair Weeks, of Newton, and Miss Loraine Leeson of Boston spoke on the subject "Preferential Voting." Mrs. Robert L. DeNormandie, President of the Boston League of Women Voters, told of the plans for the forthcoming National Convention of the League to be held in Boston in April, and Mrs. Hartstone introduced Mrs. G. Elliott May of Chestnut Hill, Newton, the chairman of the general arrangements for the convention. A committee of three was appointed with Miss Margaret McGill of Newtonville the chairman to confer with the aldermen of Newton to find out what they are considering doing on the subject of preferential voting.

The next meeting of the group will be held on Wednesday, March 14th, at 2:30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, 11 Washington st., Newton. The subject of the discussion will be the Charter of Newton.

Size of a Bank No Longer Important

Do you realize that size need no longer mean anything to you in your choice of a bank in which to put your money—that this bank can give you the same security as the biggest and strongest city banks?

Do you realize that under the new banking laws your funds up to $2500.00, either commercial or savings, in the Newton National Bank are insured 100% against loss?

Indeed, without this new and added protection, never even in the dark days of the nation's banking crisis was the strength and stability of this bank questioned. It was one of the first banks to reopen after the bank holiday. Its record all through the difficult years has been without blemish. A true reflection of its sound—conservative—efficient—management.

The Newton National Bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System and likewise of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, thru which it operates under the Federal Deposit Guarantee.

I think that Newton folks will enjoy doing business with us—that they will feel more at home here than in the hustle and bustle of a larger bank, where everything is so cold and impersonal.

Come in soon and start an account—even if it is a small one.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas Weston,

President.

WINTER SPORTS AT HIGH SCHOOL NEAR END—OTHER NOTES

The winter sport season at the Newton High School is nearing an end. Track is the only sport activity. Coach Enoch will take his boys to Andover this Saturday—a dual meet with Brookline is slated for next week. On the Wealthy Towners new track on March 10th the season will end with the State meet. At the Garden on Wednesday two Newton relay teams took part in the relay carnival at the Garden. In the mile relay the Newton four placed fifth for a solitary point. The local runners were third in their heat with Brockton, Medford and Malden. Warren Whittens was lead-off man and Capt. Louis Miller was anchor. Bob Kiley and Ed Charlesworth were the other two runners. In the medley relay Newton failed to place in the points. The quartet ran second to Mechanic Arts in a heat which also included Everett. Al Freeman ran the first 440-yard leg. Joe Griffin and Bob Quigley ran two laps. Tom Fitzgerald wound up with a half-mile leg. The basketball team wound up its season last week. Coach Simmons boys had a hard-luck season. In the Suburban league Newton was in the cellar with Rindge Tech on top—injuries and ineligibility handicapped the Newton coach in the development of a smooth-working quintet. Captain Charlie Flagg and Claude Frazier in the forward berths were outstanding. Some of the hockey players are still playing in All-Scholastic games. Captain Teddy Johnson is a reserve defense player for the All-Greater Boston six. Last Saturday they defeated the All-Bay State sextet 8 to 4. Tomorrow a second in the series will be played. Total goals will count. Yesterday the Greater Boston six took on the Catholic School team of Montreal. Winners of the schoolboy league in the Canadian city.

Here and There
Newton athletes are keeping in the limelight of collegiate hockey. Yale took Princeton into camp twice in the past week. Dartmouth won its second game over Harvard. The collegiate championship will be decided soon. With Yale meeting Harvard and Dartmouth facing Princeton. The Green Indian from Hanover is the favorite. Frank Spain was again outstanding in helping trim Harvard. At the Garden last Friday the Green won, 3 to 2. Spain's solo dash opened the scoring. Later he passed to Gulbord again to Fitzpatrick in plays which gave the Green its score. Captain Joe Gilligan and Warren Colby, both Newton youths, were prominent in Yale's two wins over the Tiger. In the first game which Yale won 7 to 2 Colby scored the scoring and Gilligan followed with another tally. The Blue then swept into a 6 to 0 lead before the end of the period. In the second game Yale was a 3 to 1 winner. Gilligan scored the Blue's third tally. Northeastern and Bowdoin met at the Arena this week with the Polar Bear winning from the Huskies, 3 to 2. The Huskies scored twice with Capt. Herb Gallagher of Newton casing the second tally. Then Walter Billings from Upper Falls went wild. In the second period he tallied two goals to tie the score. In the third session he passed the disc to a teammate and the winning marker was hung up. George Hildreth of Auburndale is another local youth on the Polar Bear six. Newton athletes are also opening on the track. Carl Pescosolido won his trial heat, took second in the semi-final and third in the final of the dash at the University games. Pescosolido's points were helpful in aiding Harvard to a win in Class A. At the same meet Gordon Wilkes ran lead-off for the Tech freshman relay in the mile. The Engineer yearlings placed fourth. Dick Jarrell ran the second leg on the Tech mile varsity which tied Harvard for fourth place in the division of points for the Class A relay. Frank Tuscher ran the second leg for Northeastern in the mile relay. The Huskies placed second in the heat against Holy Cross which set up a new record. And took third in the final division in the Tech handicap track meet last Saturday. Stan Johnson was high scorer. The Tech sophomore and former Newton star, won the low hurdles and broad jump and took second in the high hurdles. Dick Jarrell ran the 880 from scratch and took fourth place for the juniors. Palmer York is running well for the Andover Academy team. In a dual meet with the Harvard freshman York won both the dash and hurdles. The freshman won the meet. Douglas Sloane, took third in the dash and 300 for the Crimson yearlings. Sloane was captain of the Newton team of which York was also outstanding. Gordon Linberg is captain of the Tufts wrestling team. In a meet with Yale recently he wrestled the Yale unlimited class wrestler and lost the referee's decision after two overtime periods. Virginia Rice, former Newton Centre girl and now a ranking U. S. women tennis player, has been competing in a friendly tourney at Kingston, Jamaica. She won a close match and then lost to Dorothy Rounds of England. Watertown High tripped the Newton Trade School basketball team last Friday at Newtonville, 26 to 24. Malkaisian scored 13 points for Newton. Larkin was high scorer for Watertown with 12 points. The Hunnewell Club has almost won its first Newton league bowling match. The Maugus Club of Wellesley has an outside chance to snatch away the laurels. There are but two matches to go with Hunnewell four points out in front. In Wednesday night's matches the Hunnewell team set a new season's single string record of 610 to smash the former mark of 597 by Maugus. Dennison led the Hunnewell bowlers with 127,122,112—361. He was closely followed by Ford with 144,121,91—356. Loring was next highest with 131,107,112—350. Catherine Ross of Newtonville, a junior at Cushing Academy placed fourth in the downhill ski race for girls at the winter sports activities at the academy last Saturday.

Rotary Club

"The service of the United States Coast Guard extends from Maine to Alaska," said Lieutenant Commander A. M. Martinson, Executive Officer of the United States Coast Guard Cutter "Cuyaga" at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday. The extensive service in war and peace time given by the Coast Guard was interestingly described by Commander Martinson. Organized in 1790 as the Revenue Cutter Service and later combined with the Life Saving Service, the United States Coast Guard at all times renders service to coastwise and maritime shipping. Frequently disabled ships are aided in reaching harbor, through this well organized service. The Coast Guard maintains contact with ships at all times. It patrols the path of icebergs and bears the brunt of derelicts. Recently this service has been engaged in clearing the water passage-ways of the ice floes. The feature of the program was the motion picture showing the work of the Coast Guards in action. Members were urged to attend the Boy Scout Exposition at the State Armory, West Newton, on February 23 and 24 by Hassler Capron. The Club had as guests, C. J. A. Wilson, Chairman of Ship 13 of the Seascouts of Newton, Chief Electrician Mate of the United States Coast Guard, Gallagher, William Benner, Somerville, Neil Ford, Boston Rotary, John McGrath, Maine, and Richard and Robert Young, Newton.

FIRE AT CHESTNUT HILL REAL ESTATE OFFICE

Shortly before noon Tuesday fire started in the cellar of the two-story brick building at 23 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, near Lake St. The first floor of the structure is occupied by Merrill Nutting as a real estate office and the second floor by Mark Noble as an insurance office, and by William McDonough, a plumber. Because of the deep snow, the fire trucks were delayed in reaching the scene. The blaze spread through the building and did damage estimated at about $5000. Engine 1 in trying to pass a truck on Eldredge st., Newton, became stalled in a snow drift.

The chorus is open to the public without any charge and all who would enjoy inspiring musical evenings, in learning new songs, in meeting new friends, in finding new interests in life, are cordially invited to attend. You do not need to have a trained voice or even be able to read a note of music; and talented singers are especially desired. Anyone who feels the urge to sing is welcome. ART LECTURE. "How They Lived in Colonial America" is the interesting title of the next lecture in the development of information as to Art in America, which series is being broadcast over WBZ on Saturday evenings, at 8 o'clock. This, the fourth lecture, will be given tomorrow evening, the 24th. Harold Stark prepares these presentations which are given in dialogue style, a questioner bringing out many of the hearers' own queries, which makes it more attractive. Mr. Stark is also the author of a Guide, published by the University of Chicago Press, which gives considerable information and background of this series, and which may be consulted at public libraries or purchased at book stores, or direct from the University Press for one dollar.

State Federation

RADIO. With the coming Conference on the Fine Arts scheduled for next week, it is timely to hear from this department, under the title "The Fine Arts Our Contribution to the Game of Life," through the director of the Seventh district, Mrs. Rodney Page, during the half-hour broadcast tomorrow, of the State Federation, over WBZ. On the 24th also, during this period 11:15 to 11:45 o'clock, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, first vice-president of the State Federation, will speak. Charles Repper, pianist, will give the musical interludes.

FINE ARTS CONFERENCE. Clubwomen are reminded of the interesting Conference, in which Literature, Music, and Art combine, for Monday, the 26th, at the Gardner Museum, the program at 2:15 p. m., following a tour of the building from one to two o'clock, with guides to explain exhibits of interest. The complete details were announced in this Column last week, as the number of persons who could take advantage of this exceptional opportunity was limited to two hundred. If there are any tickets available they may be obtained from Mrs. Herbert Stephens, 347 Mystic st., Arlington (tel. Arlington 0120-R).

MID-WINTER MEETING. More than 1500 clubwomen of Massachusetts heard the interesting arguments upon various bills now before the State Legislature, and under consideration by Congress, on Wednesday, the 14th, in an all-day session at the Hotel Bradford, Boston. Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, State president, presided, turning the meeting over to the Legislative chairman, Mrs. Russell A. Cone, who introduced the speakers. The facts of this meeting—which contained many features and addresses that held attention—of chief importance to clubwomen of Newton are the results of the vote of the delegates after hearing the speakers for and against these measures. Your editor, therefore, while regretting that she can not give you report of all matters, gives these facts. It was amazing that a margin of only three votes endorsed the ratification of the Child Labor Amendment by Massachusetts, the vote being 215

Intriguing Topic For Lecture at Auburndale

"How to be Interesting Though Decent"

"How to be Interesting though Decent" is the topic chosen by Lloyd C. Douglas for his lecture before the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, the 27th. Dr. Douglas is known by his literary works, such as "Magnificent Obsession" and "Forgive Us Our Trespases," as well as by his contributions to current magazines.

Mrs. Adolph Stuetzel and Mrs. William H. Medlicott have had charge of the arrangement of the afternoon's program, and Mrs. George W. St. Amant and her Hospitality committee will serve tea.

During the business meeting preceding the program, conducted by the president, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, a report of the Mid-Winter meeting of the State Federation held February 14th, at the Hotel Bradford will be given by the Federation secretary, Mrs. George A. Follett.

in favor and 212 against. Such an even division of opinion as to its merit was certainly surprising. Following the arguments of Herbert C. Parsons for it and of Alexander Lincoln against it, there was animated—put it mildly—discussion from the floor, with questions that were sometimes pointed, sometimes delightfully humorous, in their manner of wording.

Mr. Parsons described the hearings on this bill during the past week before the legislative committee as "lucid," "to the amusement of his hearers." His argument was that the amendment should be ratified so that when the present N. R. A. codes expire the protection they now offer to children may be continued. He pleaded "that Massachusetts should be the 21st State to vote for ratification, in order that gains that we have made nationally and as a civilized people under the N. R. A. should be continued permanently."

Mr. Lincoln, in his arguments against the proposition, reminded of the defeat of the amendment ten years ago, and mentioned a large group of prominent citizens who were then, and still are, opposed to it. His objection was that the proposed amendment delegates too broad powers to congress. A clubwoman asked him if its terms might prevent her from making little Mary wash the dishes and from making young Johnnie bring up the coal, and he replied that this might be the case if the amendment finally became law.

Hon. Frederick W. Cook, Secretary of State, spoke in favor of the Radio measure, which limits the language that may be used by political speakers over the radio, and 544 delegates endorsed it and only 16 opposed.

The vote on the Hairdressers' Bill, which regulates this industry, was 373 in favor and 95 against. Arthur F. Sullivan, who spoke in favor of it, explained that it would provide for the appointment by the Governor of a board of Registration in hairdressing, consisting of three members, and similar to boards regulating doctors, nurses and osteopaths. The board would register every hairdresser and beauty parlor operator, he said, and would have the power to investigate the health and other qualifications of such operators, and to supervise the curriculum in all schools of beauty culture. They would also have the right to investigate every case in which a patron of a beauty shop had been injured or subjected to indignities and moral hazards. He urged the Federation members to favor the bill, declaring that they should be more interested than any other organization in seeing it passed.

Daniel Bloomfield, of the Retail Trade Board, who was unable at the last minute to be present, sent his arguments against the bill, which were read by the vice-chairman of legislation, Mrs. Arthur C. Sennett. Mr. Bloomfield stated that the bill was aimed to protect organized hairdressers now in business against newcomers to the field, and that it was really not a public health measure, in that it provides for no examination of hairdressers who have been in business over a year and a half. The curriculum it provides for schools of beauty culture is an unreasonable one, he stated, with too long hours for students.

CHANGING THE WARD LINES

A special committee of the Board of Aldermen has been named to consider necessary changes in the Ward and Precinct lines in Newton. It is an extremely important task, involving as it does a consideration of the future growth of the city along with the problem of providing for fair representation of the various sections of the city. Some years ago it was a comparatively simple matter to divide the city into sections by villages. As far as possible this basic principle should be retained. We would suggest the advisability of holding hearings in the various sections of the city. There are many residents who may have views on the subject that should give the committee valuable help.

PREFERENTIAL VOTING

There has been considerable discussion in the last few years whether or not Newton should discard the present method of voting—namely the preferential form by which voters are permitted to express their choice of candidates. In recent elections the number of blanks for second, third and other choices has been large, showing that Newton voters do not exercise the full privilege of their franchise. This fact does not mean that the system is at fault and we would hesitate to abandon it until we are certain that the plan to replace the preferential voting method is practical and best for the voters.

Under The Gilded Dome

The House of Representatives this week defeated the proposal to ratify the Child Labor amendment to the Federal Constitution. By an overwhelming voice vote the lower branch on Monday accepted the adverse report of the committee on Constitutional Law to which three measures regarding the amendment had been referred. An attempt was made on Tuesday to have the vote reconsidered but this, too, failed.

The blizzard of Tuesday prevented many members of the legislature from getting to the State House and but little routine business was transacted.

A lengthy session was held on Wednesday with several controversial matters under consideration.

On a roll call vote of 99 to 92 the House passed to be engrossed the bill requiring the Boston El to have one guard for every two cars in a rapid transit train. The bill was substituted last week for the adverse report of the committee on Transportation. Its advocates considered it in the light of a safety measure as well as providing some additional employment. Its opponents stated that it would mean an addition to the deficit to be borne by the cities and towns served by the Boston El and that the expense was not justified as the accident rate has been reduced under the present system of one man to every four cars and further protection will be given through the proposed installation of other safety devices.

The House substituted for an adverse committee report a resolve providing that the State Bank Commissioner and the State Insurance Commissioner be directed to request banks and insurance companies to reduce rates of interest on mortgages on dwellings to 5 per cent. The vote was on a roll call of 128 to 61. The measure was regarded by the Committee on Banks and Banking as an ineffectual gesture. After this vote the lower branch then voted by a roll call of 166 to 69 to refuse to substitute a measure limiting the rate of interest that may be charged on mortgages by banking institutions. Newton's three Representatives, Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler were recorded against both bills.

The House accepted three adverse committee reports seeking to license or tax chain stores. The bill providing for the establishment of a fund for insurance shares in co-operative banks was passed to a third reading. Governor Eli this week signed a similar bill affecting savings banks which was passed by both branches of the Legislature last week.

ONE THING... ...AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Pushing and pulling storm doors may be good muscular exercise, but there are few things in daily life so utterly monotonous.

Oddments

Acknowledgment of a mistake is said to be evidence of noble qualities. Well, I'm not claiming the possession of anything more than a sense of fairness when I tell you that I saw a courteous act on the part of an Elevated conductor the other day. I have seen others, many of them, and also watched conductors when they were inexcusably gruff, rough and discourteous. One of the very men whose attitude, as I have observed it in the past, might be improved, has evidently changed. When a man rushed past the coin-box and took a seat this conductor did not bawl at him. No, he politely waited for the man to get settled and then walked down the car, whispered to him that he had failed to drop his dime and waited. The man apologized and paid. Now I got a peculiar reaction. Instead of giving the conductor credit I said to myself, "That man was not the type of a conductor could well at and get away with it." Maybe I was wrong.

Have you ever encountered an individual who takes a pleasure, genuine and distinctive, in impressing other people with his importance. Such a man I count among my friends and like him. Not for that, of course, but for his good points. I was a caller at his home, to which he was confined with a slight indisposition that required medical care. It made him impossible to speak at a certain meeting so his wife had to call up and say that her husband would be unable to appear. Before going to the telephone she asked him, "Shall I say you're ill with a heavy cold?" The man thought a moment. Then he said, "Call up the doctor and get the Latin name for it and then tell them." They won't know what it means but it will sound more impressive and make my excuse stronger.

Something that I am not infrequently required to do calls for the exercise of patience in large quantities. If you've ever waited your turn in a doctor's office or a barber shop I need waste no words in what the dramatists call exposition. You get the situation for yourself and may imagine the settings without help from me.

If I was obliged to state my preference I am sure I could, even in the presence of a physician, say the barber shop was my choice. That, however, doesn't cause surprise because it is far more pleasant to receive the tender ministrations of a hair-cutter than those of the other higher-priced head specialist—the man who helps you in your battle with sinusitis.

There is an air of repression in the doctor's outer chamber. The patients are not even interested in each other's identity. There is no one to call you by your first name as you are almost certain to find at the barber's. The doctor's patrons study each other, wondering, no doubt, what form of medical treatment the other is to receive. They ask themselves what has happened to the nice old lady in the large armchair or the young man who is eager to get away.

Many signs of impatience indicate desire to hurry things. One picks up a magazine, tosses it back on the table and picks up another until the supply is exhausted. Nothing seems to engrossing to anybody. Frequently they glance out of the window and then glare at one another. The atmosphere is heavy if not depressing.

But in the barber shop! At once a sense of relaxation seizes you. Some

HEARING TESTS IN THE NEWTON SCHOOLS THE AUDIOMETER

Newton has used the No. 4-A audiometer for testing the hearing of the pupils in the public schools since 1928. This audiometer is recognized as the most accurate and satisfactory method of group testing. It operates like a phonograph. Connected with the audiometer itself are five trays, each containing eight telephone headsets, so that forty pupils may be tested at the same time. The records used with the audiometer are made especially for this instrument. Four series of numbers are repeated, the first two by a man's voice and the last two by a woman's voice. The intensity of sound decreases from a maximum to a minimum in each series. The pupil, listening through his headset, writes the numbers that he hears on a spaced paper especially designed for the test. Each ear is tested separately. The numbers that the pupil is able to record correctly determine his hearing loss. Because a pupil may be nervous about taking the test or may not adjust himself readily to a new situation, a retest is given the following day to those failing on the first test.

ALL CHILDREN ARE TESTED ANNUALLY

Hearing tests are given annually to all pupils in the elementary and junior high schools above the second grade and in the senior high, to all new pupils, to those absent because of illness that might affect the ears, and to all old cases and cases reported by the teachers as seeming to have defective hearing. These tests are given by the teacher in each school, who is in charge of the hearing tests for the building. Only in exceptional cases are notices sent to the parents on the results of these tests. A list of those defective on these preliminary tests is sent to the supervisor and in May and June, when winter colds and any temporary effects therefrom may have had time to subside, a third and fourth test are given by the supervisor. It is on the result of these tests that notices are sent to the parents in cases where hearing is defective.

It is a recognized fact that ear trouble is curable only in its early stages. For this reason, the parents of those pupils showing a hearing loss are urged to have their child examined at an ear clinic or by an ear specialist to determine the cause of the trouble and have it removed, if possible. Since the work was established on its present basis in 1930, 349 cases have been examined, 97 corrected and 75 improved. Contagious diseases, frequent colds and mastoid are the chief causes of the hearing loss. Precautions against these will help to prevent deafness. Removal of wax or foreign bodies from the ear and tonsil-adenoid operations were responsible for the greater part of the correction and improvement.

In June 1933 we had 264 pupils with defective hearing, about 3.7% of the number tested, which is considerably below the figures for the average city, and lower than the figures for the years 1930 and 1931, in spite of the increase in school population.

Next week we will describe the many ways in which these test results are followed up.

men remove their coats and collars as well as their outer clothing. They grab newspapers, if not in a talkative mood, and absorb the latest horse and scandal with avidity. Frequently they indulge in conversation. Indeed, it is far more agreeable all round.

One busy Saturday recently a customer felt so thoroughly at ease that he fell sound asleep and missed his turn—two or three turns for that matter. The barber said there was no use to wake him. Might make him sore. The man's drowsiness infected the customer who was waiting alongside. The latter was soon off in a doze and appeared to be enjoying rosy and peaceful dreams. No, neither man had been drinking. They were superlatively comfortable, and that was their right and privilege. (See N R A code of barber's prices.)

It occurred to me that if the doctors would only observe the same courtesy the barbers achieve in keeping waiting customers happy it would stimulate business among the medicals. The problem would have to be worked out on a mental basis, no doubt, for a doctor's patient would be a hard subject to convince that he was going to get relief and really have a better time than that the barber could give him.

Newton in Pictures

Something put me in a patriotic mood for the moment—possibly I was stirred by thoughts of Washington's Birthday. At any rate I felt to wondering if Newton was receiving the attention to which it is entitled from makers and designers of picture postcards. Naturally, I began to look about me. The result was disappointing. Now, there may be those who will say that my investigation was incomplete, that I didn't try very hard or if I had I would have found souvenirs of Newton that would satisfy the most one-hundred percenter in our midst. I hope they do for I'd like to learn that Newton has not been ignored.

It occurred to me that a picture of our brand new city hall—the swankiest in the State if I know an out-of-town looking for a challenge—would be something to send your cousins out west. But the postcard souvenirs they offered me were those of school buildings. All right if you happen to have attended sessions within its walls or the youngsters in the family are there enrolled. But to most people just one more school building.

At another place they trotted out some ancient prints which would be of use if you were collecting pictures of the days gone by. Most of these were in colors and photographed in the summer. Things were blooming and there must have been plenty of vivid colors on the artist's palette.

Too tropical to mail around in this kind of weather.

Of course I don't ask for anything so pronouncedly up-to-date that it shows the stores and similar establishments indicative of Newton's recently voted "wet" attitude. That wouldn't be particularly interesting unless you were seeking to entice a bibulous relative (there's frequently one in every large family circle) to pay you a visit. Indeed, no, there are plenty of temperance topics for the camera and all are worthy of reproduction in black or white or colors. They would make beautiful pictures of Newton's progress and people would be glad to receive them.

If the Newton directory is printed at regular intervals in order it may be kept up-to-date, why not Newton souvenir postcards?

Liquor Licenses Net Newton $30,347

The City of Newton obtained revenue of $30,347 from liquor licenses in 1933. Sixty-four licenses were issued for the sale of 3.2% beer. These licenses brought a total of $10,854 in fees. Rebates on such of these licenses as were surrendered when the sale of higher content beverages was authorized last December totaled $3325. In December 55 licenses were issued for the sale of wines and beers of more than 3.2% alcoholic content. These licenses brought $16,145. For temporary licenses $3350 were received by the city.

that a letter of protest against the petition had been received from Louis Smith of Brookline st.

No person appeared to favor or oppose the petition of Daniel Barnicle for two additional 1000-gallon gasoline tanks at 446 Lexington st., and two additional pumps at his station at that locus. Mr. Silverman of 17 Garner st., Newton Centre, asked the Aldermen to vote an appropriation for the improvement of this new street, which runs from Irving st., on the former Rodden estate. The Mayor had already recommended $2240 for this improvement (under the Betterment Law), and the Aldermen later in the meeting voted to make this appropriation.

Residents of Cobb place, Dwhinda rd., and Pontiac rd., a new section between Waban and Newton Upper Falls, appeared to favor and oppose the construction of drains and sewers in these streets. Alfred Locasio, who is building a new home on Pontiac rd., favored the improvements. He said there is water in the basement of the house. Mr. Brett of 32 Dwhinda rd. inquired if one sewer could not care for the houses on Dwhinda rd. and Pontiac rd., as these two streets run parallel, and only a short distance separates them. City Engineer Joseph E. Davison, of Winthrop, will conduct a lesson in Parliamentary Law.
